Vote On Inflation In House Assured For Tuesday

REPUBLICAN OPPOSITION IS OVERCOME

TO ADOPT NEW RULE

No Amendments to Inflation Section of Bill Will Be Permitted by Rule

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(UP)—A determined house Democratic leadership today battered down Republican opposition to ensure a vote tomorrow on President Roosevelt's inflation program.

In a brief, tumultuous session, administration spokesmen failed to secure unanimous consent for immediate action on the provisions of the expansion-farm relief measure.

However, Majority Leader Byrns immediately summoned the rules committee to report a special resolution to force a vote tomorrow.

The committee, composed of party stalwarts, will bring in a special rule allowing no amendments to the inflation section of the bill, but providing for consideration with several hours debate.

The remainder of the unprecedented measure, the sections dealing with agricultural relief, will be sent to conference for adjustment of house and senate differences. This will be provided for in the same special rule.

KIDNAPER PLEADS GUILTY IN DENVER

DENVER, May 1—(UP)—Chancing a life term in the penitentiary, Arthur Youngberg, towering young railroad fireman, today pleaded guilty to charges of kidnaping Charles Boettcher II and holding him for $60,000 ransom.

Youngberg threw himself on the mercy of the federal district court. Sentence was deferred pending trial of three accomplices, who pleaded not guilty.

Trial of the trio was set for May 23. They were Carl Pearce, Mrs. Ruth Kohler and Mrs. Verne Sankey. The latter is the wife of the asserted leader of the kidnap band, who fled with another confederate, Gordon Alcorn, after assertedly collecting the huge ransom from the kidnaped man's multimillionaire father.

MORGAN TO APPEAR AT MARKET HEARING

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(UP)—J. P. Morgan, Otto H. Kahn and Clarence Dillon will be subpoened the latter part of this month to testify at resumed hearings of the senate stock market inquiry, it was announced today by Ferdinande Pecora, committee counsel.

The hearings will begin May 23.

Pecora promised today there would be a thorough investigation of private banking in this country.

"My plan is to subpoena all 20 members of the Morgan firm," Pecora said, explaining it might not be necessary to question all of them.

PRESIDENT OF PERU IS SHOT DOWN SUNDAY

Country Under Martial Law After Assassination; Slayer is Killed

LIMA, Peru, May 1.—(UP)—All Peru was under rigid martial law today as police sought possible accomplices of Abelardo Hurtado De Mendoza, who assassinated President Luis M. Sanchez Cerros.

Hurtado De Mendoza was killed by a volley of bullets fired by members of President Cerros' guard, after the murder of the president yesterday. One soldier was killed and three other soldiers and two civilians were wounded in a flurry of gunplay.

General Oscar P. Benavides, elected president at a hastily convened session of congress a few hours after Cerros was killed, began his administration by refusing to accept resignations of members of the Cerros cabinet. He suspended horse racing, closed theaters, ordered all sports events postponed and prohibited public assemblages.

Reports here indicated that all of the country was calm.

Hurtado De Mendoza's act was believed to have been on his own inspiration in revenge for Cerros' rigid suppression of the A. P. R. A., (American Popular Revolutionary Alliance) a political party of which he was an ardent member. He was arrested recently on a charge of distributing subversive propaganda.

Many Peruvians hoped General Benavides, who will serve out Cerros term expiring in 1936, would bring an amicable end to the nation's quarrel with Colombia over the Amazon river port of Leticia.

Cerros was engaged in furthering the undeclared war when he was killed. The Santa Beatriz race track was crowded with citizens and soldiers celebrating a fiesta when he arrived to review 20,000 recruits conscripted to be used against Colombia. While the green soldiers were marching by, Hurtado De Mendoza approached

1,000,000 WATCH MAY DAY PARADE

MOSCOW, May 1. — (UP) — The greatest military show in soviet history ushered in the May Day celebration in Moscow today, followed by a massed parade through Red square of an estimated 1,000,000 men, women and children.

Josef V. Stalin, wearing an olive military great coat and high black boots, appeared on the terrace of Lenin's tomb, accompanied by a score of other soviet leaders. Thousands of troops in the square took an oath of allegiance. Radio carried the ceremony to all parts of the union.

MANCHU, SOVIET RAIL DISPUTE NEARS CRISIS

Service Blocked at Border Towns When Russians Spurn Arbitration

HARBIN, Manchuria, May 1.—(UP)—The Manchu-Soviet rail dispute moved rapidly forward to what was considered a grave crisis today when Manchoukuo directors of the jointly controlled Chinese Eastern railway ordered service blocked at border towns.

The action followed a directors' meeting at which Soviet directors were understood to have flatly rejected a proposal to arbitrate the ownership of rolling stock claimed by Russia. Manchoukuo directors replied by ordering the blockade set up at Manchuli, northwestern frontier town, and Pogranichnaya, gateway to Siberia on the southeast.

Reports here said Japanese-Manchu and Soviet troops were being concentrated on either side of the border.

Although competent sources in Tokio did not believe that Manchoukuo immediately would seize the road by dissolving the joint directorate, the situation was admittedly acute, apparently having reached an impasse.

Li Shao-Keng, Chinese Eastern president, submitted the compromise offer. He proposed that a special commission be appointed to decide ownership of 33 locomotives which Manchoukuo had ordered Soviet directors return within a month. The latter had refused, declaring the equipment was the property of the Soviet owned Transsiberian line, which joins the Chinese Eastern at Manchuli and Pogranichnaya.

The effect of Manchoukuo's blockade will be to halt international rail travel through Manchuria and force the Trans-Siberian railroad to route service over the long, circuitous northern line, skirting Manchuria on the north.

In Tokio, a government spokesman reiterated Japan would remain aloof from the dispute. He pointed out that the issue was one for Manchoukuo and Russia to settle between themselves. Only if there should be open warfare would Japan step in to the assistance of the so-called independent state, hesaid.

DESTITUTE INDIANS TO BE GIVEN WORK

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(UP)—Dollar a day jobs for 14,400 destitute Indians will be provided at 72 reforestation camps on Indian reservations, Director Robert Fechner of the civilian conservation corps announced.

The camps will be established in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

"While these camps are designed primarily to alleviate the Indian relief problem," Fechner said, "other men will be given work on the Indian reservations if a surplus of jobs develops."

KIDNAPED GIRL IS FOUND STRANGLED

KANSAS CITY, Kan., May 1.—(UP)—A 10 day search for six year old Nadine Vogel Love ended yesterday when the child's body was found lying face down in a patch of wild violets on a knoll nine miles southwest of here.

Knotted tightly around the child's neck was her jumping rope. Her head was fearfully battered. Preliminary examination indicated she had been attacked.

CHICAGO LOOP IS ROCKED IN NIGHT BOMBING

May Day Demonstrations Result in Five Buildings Being Damaged

CHICAGO, May 1.—(UP).— All public buildings in Chicago were ordered placed under police guard today a few hours after five terrific May day explosions rocked the Loop, injuring two persons and alarming citizens over a 20 mile radius.

Police Commissioner Allman, notified that the blasts were directed at large downtown corporations, ordered precautions at all buildings to guard against other May day violence.

The explosions, all caused by dynamite bombs, came at minute intervals shortly after midnight. The detonations in the loop were deafening. Scores of calls poured into police and fire stations and for the first few minutes frenzied excitement prevailed as dozens of patrols rushed to the five scenes.

The buildings bombed were:

The Illinois Bell Telephone company main office, The Hibbard-Spencer-Bartlett Hardware company, The Willett Bus and Teaming company, The Sprague-Warner Wholesale Grocery company, and The Marshall Field Company uniform division.

Hans Nelson, watchman at the Willett company, world's largest cartage firm, was cut as debris was hurled with terrific force. Arthur Mason, watchman in the Marshall Field plant, was knocked unconscious.

Equipment in the telephone company office was badly damaged at the immediate scene of the blast. A loading platform was demolished and debris was six feet deep.

LINDBERGH LOOKS OVER NEW PLANES

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—(UP)—Technical advancements in aviation engrossed the attention of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today as he conferred with engineers of Douglas Aircraft and the Northrop Aviation companies.

Col. Lindbergh and his wife arrived here Friday after a leisurely flight over the route of Transcontinental and Western Air Express, of which he is technical advisor.

Both the Northrop and Douglas factories are now turning out new high-speed, all-metal monoplanes for TWA. The Northrop Delta plane is a modification of a ship recently built for Lincoln Ellsworth and Bernt Balchen for an antarctic flight next winter. Douglas is producing a bi-motored 10-passenger ship.

APPEAL COURT RULES OPTION LAW REPEALED

Decision Says Wylie Law Not Revived by Repeal of Wright Act

FRESNO, Calif., May 1.—(UP)—California today was without a local option dry law, under the terms of a decision announced by the fourth district court of appeals.

The court held that the Wylie act, which enabled towns and counties to determine for themselves if liquor could be possessed or sold, was repealed by adoption of the Wright act, state enforcement code. Repeal of the Wright act last fall did not revive the Wylie act, the court held.

The decision was announced in a test case brought by O. B. Bryson of Visalia, who was arrested some time ago on a charge of violating the Wylie act. He sought release on a writ of habeas corpus, contending that the Wylie act was voided by the Wright act.

The appeal, hurried to the appellate court by Tulare county authorities, will have the effect of making unnecessary elections to repeal the Wylie act where it was adopted years ago, it was believed locally.

Not to Appeal

The Tulare district attorney indicated he would not appeal the case to the supreme court. In arguing his case, he asked for an early opinion to decide if his county would be required to hold a Wylie act repeal election.

The decision said, in part:

"This act (the Wright act) not only took away from the people of any community the right to decide by election whether or not liquors...could be sold therein, but went further than the provisions of the Wylie act in those places where the same had been put into effect....

"It could hardly be argued that while the Wright act was in effect those provisions of the Wylie law also were in effect...it seems

CELEBRATE DEWEY'S VICTORY IN MANILA

SAN PEDRO, May 1.—(UP)—Celebrating the 35th anniversary of Dewey's victory at Manila, ships and aircraft of the United States fleet today began a series of tactical exercises at sea.

The water and air armada, approximately 300 planes and 100 ships, was to test the latest developments of naval warfare, especially in defense maneuvers. The exercises probably were the fleet's last combined drill on the Pacific at present strength, since many of the ships are to be placed in reserve as an economy measure.

The scouting force, under the command of Vice Admiral Frank H. Clark, was to spend four days of drill with the new heavy cruiser squadron, commanded by Vice Admiral William H. Standley.

Guard Chief Closes All Civil Courts

Nearly Dozen Farmers Will Be Tried for Attempt to Lynch Judge

LE MARS, Ia., May 1.—(UP)—Trial by courtmartial was ordered today for Iowa farmers who attempted to hang a district judge and precipitated the most violent crisis in Iowa's history.

Col. Glenn Haynes, commanding National Guardsmen enforcing martial law in Plymouth and Crawford counties, orderd all civil courts closed during the emergency, and forbade police or sheriff's officers to make arrests.

With nearly a dozen farmers under arrest, accused of dragging Judge Charles C. Bradley from his courtroom last Thursday and making two attempts to hang him as a protest against mortgage foreclosures, military authorities said the trials might begin today. Judge Advocate Frank Halligan probably will preside.

Defendants will be permitted to retain civil counsel, Col. Haynes said, as detachments of troops searched the rain washed, tornado swept countryside for nearly 50 other men accused of participation in the insurrection.

Martial Law

Since the attack on Judge Bradley occurred before martial law was declared, the question was raised whether the suspects could be tried by courtmartial.

Col. Haynes asserted, however, that he was empowered to pursue whatever course he saw fit. He also said that he felt the public had "exaggerated ideas of the severity of such trials."

"A courtmartial tries to get at the root of the case with less delay than in a civil trial," Col Haynes said. "An innocent man has nothing to fear."

When the courtmartials are held additional troops will be needed to reinforce the 250 men already in

FRUSTRATE ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE PRISON

SAN JOSE, May 1.—(UP)—Attempt of four suspected killers to burn their way out of the county jail was frustrated today when a deputy sheriff found a hole in the ceiling over a cell.

The men had used candles to burn through the wooden ceiling. Discovery of several pieces of sharp metal and a 15-foot rope, secreted in their cell, indicated they hoped to cut through the roof and lower themselves to the ground. The rope was fashioned from strips torn from mattresses.

Sheriff's officers said those participating in the attempted break were Joe Manlock, paroled San Quentin lifer, and his nephew Sam Thomas, charged with the murder of Patrolman John Buck; Dick Villon, Filipino accused of killing Wong Sing, Chinese gambler; and Walter Lewis, Negro charged with killing a Negro woman in Palo Alto.

GANDHI PREPARES FOR ANOTHER FAST

POONA, India, May 1.—(UP)—Mahatma M. K. Gandhi, preparing his frail body and his serene mind for a 21-day fast in behalf of the downtrodden untouchables of India, feels "optimistic" that he will come through his fast alive, he told the United Press in an exclusive interview today.

The mahatma received the interviewer in the prison yard. He looked determined, but was cheerful and happy. He seemed healthy, but clearly his long months in prison had added no strength to his gaunt body. He was wearing a wet cloth over his scalp for relief from the intense heat.

Indian politicians had urged him to abandon his plan to fast.

RETURNS HOME

GARBO RETURNS TO HOLLYWOOD FROM SWEDEN

Glamorous Greta Sets Tradition by Answering Two Reporters' Queries

HOLLYWOOD, May 1.—(UP)—The glamorous Greta Garbo, who shrinks from the public because she believes "the creative artist should be a solitary spirit," was back in the screen colony today, prepared to resume her motion picture career.

And nothing seemed to have occurred on her seven month vacation from Hollywood or on her trip here from Sweden to interfere much with her "solitary spirit."

She landed at San Diego yesterday, answered two questions put to her by reporters and was whisked here in an expensive automobile, driven by a chauffeur in handsome livery.

"Did you have a nice trip," was the first question.

"Yes, it was a nice trip," she said as she rushed to the machine parked almost at the foot of the gangway.

"How long do you think you will remain here this time?" she was asked.

"I don't know," she said with a philosophic sigh. "One never does know about life, does one?"

And then Miss Garbo was away for the screen colony.

Reporters Barred

To prevent violation of Miss Garbo's privacy extraordinary precautions were taken at San Diego. Ship reporters were not permitted to board the motorship Annie Johnson, on which she came from Sweden, until the port physician cleared the vessel. The Annie Johnson was at the dock before it was cleared.

Myron Depew, United Press correspondent in San Diego, said that, in the memory of the oldest of San Diego ship reporters, this is the first time newsmen had not been allowed to go aboard a ship with the harbor pilot.

Miss Garbo, wearing a mannish gray suit, a gray hat and a yellow scarf, seemed pale and nervous.

"She looked as if she had been ill for several months," Dr. J. W. Tappaan, quarantine officer, said in describing her appearance.

Captain C. O. Holmberg, skipper of the Annie Johnson, explained she looked that way because she was so upset over the

PONY EXPRESS PAYS VISIT AT CAPITAL

The group of riders were guests at a horseshow here yesterday, staged by the Sacramento Riding club, Battery D, 143rd field artillery and Sacramento equestrians at the new Hagginwood hunters trail course.

The cavalcade, which left San Francisco April 23, carries letters from Mayor Rossi addressed to the mayors of all cities along the route. At the state capitol Friday they were presented with an elaborately decorated scroll by Governor Rolph to be delivered to the governor of Illinois.

U. S. DOLLAR DECLINES TO EIGHTY FIVE

Huge Blocks of Shares Are Absorbed Quickly and Gains Run to Six Points

SOME PROFIT TAKING

NEW YORK, May 1.—(UP)—Stock and commodity markets today made further response to inflation progress after Saturday's wild uprush, but ran into profit taking late in the day and lost part of early gains which had ranged to more than 6 points.

The opening was active at the rate of 14,000,000 shares for a full day. By noon the 3,000,000 mark had been passed. By 2 p. m. the 5,000,000 share mark was touched.

Prices moved up 1 to 3 points at the outset on blocks ranging to 15,000 shares. Later on trading increased and even larger blocks appeared. One of them was 20,000 General Motors at 22, a new high for the year. Tickers fell behind 16 minutes in the first hour, caught up before noon, fell back again when the rails came to the fore, and again near the close the tape was unable to keep pace with the market.

A break in the dollar furnished the stimulus in the morning. In relation to the French franc the dollar was down slightly under 85 cents. All foreign currencies were up sharply. Late in the day the dollar recovered part of the early loss and stocks made declines.

Bonds behaved true to inflation form, United States and high grade issues declining while the low priced issues advanced. Cotton

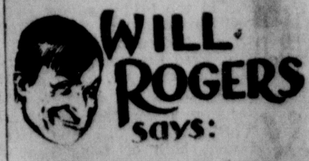
FORMER SALT LAKE JUDGE DROPS DEAD

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—(UP)—Willis Brown, former judge of the Salt Lake city juvenile court, dropped dead at his home here last night, a victim of a heart attack.

Brown, 53 years old, was founder of the Big Brother movement of the Rotary club, and a well known author.

Pulmotor squads from the fire department attempted unsuccessfully to revive him.

Brown is survived by a widow and three children.



NEW YORK, May 1.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Did you ever go to a dinner and have to stand up, and not even get any dinner? Well, I did at the Gridiron dinner to President Roosevelt. It sure was worth it. Those Washington newspaper men are the cleverest ones we have. They have the cleverest skits and take-offs on our public men. This one was a great show. It's a pity they don't arrange to do 'em before a regular audience. For Lord, those prominent men there miss many a gag. I know a regular audience would be twice as keen and appreciative. I think it's because each man in Washington is so engrossed in his own sphere that he is not so well up on all topics as the average reader. And these sketches cover everything. Ogden Mills and the President both made good speeches. I think those things do a lot of good to help keep those old big boys' feet on the ground. But say, I would stand on my head to see another one.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

FRESNO, Calif., May 1.—(UP)—California today was without a local option dry law, under the terms of a decision announced by the fourth district court of appeals.

The court held that the Wylie act, which enabled towns and counties to determine for themselves if liquor could be possessed or sold, was repealed by adoption of the Wright act, state enforcement code. Repeal of the Wright act last fall did not revive the Wylie act, the court held.

The decision was announced in a test case brought by O. B. Bryson of Visalia, who was arrested some time ago on a charge of violating the Wylie act. He sought release on a writ of habeas corpus, contending that the Wylie act was voided by the Wright act.

The appeal, hurried to the appellate court by Tulare county authorities, will have the effect of making unnecessary elections to repeal the Wylie act where it was adopted years ago, it was believed locally.

Not to Appeal

The Tulare district attorney indicated he would not appeal the case to the supreme court. In arguing his case, he asked for an early opinion to decide if his county would be required to hold a Wylie act repeal election.

The decision said, in part:

"This act (the Wright act) not only took away from the people of any community the right to decide by election whether or not liquors...could be sold therein, but went further than the provisions of the Wylie act in those places where the same had been put into effect....

"It could hardly be argued that while the Wright act was in effect those provisions of the Wylie law also were in effect...it seems

CELEBRATE DEWEY'S VICTORY IN MANILA

SAN PEDRO, May 1.—(UP)—Celebrating the 35th anniversary of Dewey's victory at Manila, ships and aircraft of the United States fleet today began a series of tactical exercises at sea.

The water and air armada, approximately 300 planes and 100 ships, was to test the latest developments of naval warfare, especially in defense maneuvers. The exercises probably were the fleet's last combined drill on the Pacific at present strength, since many of the ships are to be placed in reserve as an economy measure.

The scouting force, under the command of Vice Admiral Frank H. Clark, was to spend four days of drill with the new heavy cruiser squadron, commanded by Vice Admiral William H. Standley.

Guard Chief Closes All Civil Courts

Nearly Dozen Farmers Will Be Tried for Attempt to Lynch Judge

LE MARS, Ia., May 1.—(UP)—Trial by courtmartial was ordered today for Iowa farmers who attempted to hang a district judge and precipitated the most violent crisis in Iowa's history.

Col. Glenn Haynes, commanding National Guardsmen enforcing martial law in Plymouth and Crawford counties, orderd all civil courts closed during the emergency, and forbade police or sheriff's officers to make arrests.

With nearly a dozen farmers under arrest, accused of dragging Judge Charles C. Bradley from his courtroom last Thursday and making two attempts to hang him as a protest against mortgage foreclosures, military authorities said the trials might begin today. Judge Advocate Frank Halligan probably will preside.

Defendants will be permitted to retain civil counsel, Col. Haynes said, as detachments of troops searched the rain washed, tornado swept countryside for nearly 50 other men accused of participation in the insurrection.

Martial Law

Since the attack on Judge Bradley occurred before martial law was declared, the question was raised whether the suspects could be tried by courtmartial.

Col. Haynes asserted, however, that he was empowered to pursue whatever course he saw fit. He also said that he felt the public had "exaggerated ideas of the severity of such trials."

"A courtmartial tries to get at the root of the case with less delay than in a civil trial," Col Haynes said. "An innocent man has nothing to fear."

When the courtmartials are held additional troops will be needed to reinforce the 250 men already in

FRUSTRATE ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE PRISON

SAN JOSE, May 1.—(UP)—Attempt of four suspected killers to burn their way out of the county jail was frustrated today when a deputy sheriff found a hole in the ceiling over a cell.

The men had used candles to burn through the wooden ceiling. Discovery of several pieces of sharp metal and a 15-foot rope, secreted in their cell, indicated they hoped to cut through the roof and lower themselves to the ground. The rope was fashioned from strips torn from mattresses.

Sheriff's officers said those participating in the attempted break were Joe Manlock, paroled San Quentin lifer, and his nephew Sam Thomas, charged with the murder of Patrolman John Buck; Dick Villon, Filipino accused of killing Wong Sing, Chinese gambler; and Walter Lewis, Negro charged with killing a Negro woman in Palo Alto.

GANDHI PREPARES FOR ANOTHER FAST

POONA, India, May 1.—(UP)—Mahatma M. K. Gandhi, preparing his frail body and his serene mind for a 21-day fast in behalf of the downtrodden untouchables of India, feels "optimistic" that he will come through his fast alive, he told the United Press in an exclusive interview today.

The mahatma received the interviewer in the prison yard. He looked determined, but was cheerful and happy. He seemed healthy, but clearly his long months in prison had added no strength to his gaunt body. He was wearing a wet cloth over his scalp for relief from the intense heat.

Indian politicians had urged him to abandon his plan to fast.

RETURNS HOME

GARBO RETURNS TO HOLLYWOOD FROM SWEDEN

Glamorous Greta Sets Tradition by Answering Two Reporters' Queries

HOLLYWOOD, May 1.—(UP)—The glamorous Greta Garbo, who shrinks from the public because she believes "the creative artist should be a solitary spirit," was back in the screen colony today, prepared to resume her motion picture career.

She landed at San Diego yesterday, answered two questions put to her by reporters and was whisked here in an expensive automobile, driven by a chauffeur in handsome livery.

"Did you have a nice trip," was the first question.

"Yes, it was a nice trip," she said as she rushed to the machine parked almost at the foot of the gangway.

"How long do you think you will remain here this time?" she was asked.

"I don't know," she said with a philosophic sigh. "One never does know about life, does one?"

And then Miss Garbo was away for the screen colony.

Reporters Barred

To prevent violation of Miss Garbo's privacy extraordinary precautions were taken at San Diego. Ship reporters were not permitted to board the motorship Annie Johnson, on which she came from Sweden, until the port physician cleared the vessel. The Annie Johnson was at the dock before it was cleared.

Myron Depew, United Press correspondent in San Diego, said that, in the memory of the oldest of San Diego ship reporters, this is the first time newsmen had not been allowed to go aboard a ship with the harbor pilot.

Miss Garbo, wearing a mannish gray suit, a gray hat and a yellow scarf, seemed pale and nervous.

"She looked as if she had been ill for several months," Dr. J. W. Tappaan, quarantine officer, said in describing her appearance.

Captain C. O. Holmberg, skipper of the Annie Johnson, explained she looked that way because she was so upset over the

Huge Blocks of Shares Are Absorbed Quickly and Gains Run to Six Points

SOME PROFIT TAKING

NEW YORK, May 1.—(UP)—Stock and commodity markets today made further response to inflation progress after Saturday's wild uprush, but ran into profit taking late in the day and lost part of early gains which had ranged to more than 6 points.

The opening was active at the rate of 14,000,000 shares for a full day. By noon the 3,000,000 mark had been passed. By 2 p. m. the 5,000,000 share mark was touched.

Prices moved up 1 to 3 points at the outset on blocks ranging to 15,000 shares. Later on trading increased and even larger blocks appeared. One of them was 20,000 General Motors at 22, a new high for the year. Tickers fell 16 minutes in the first hour, and up before noon, fell back when the rails came to the and again near the close the was unable to keep pace with market.

A break in the dollar furnished the stimulus in the morning. In relation to the French franc the dollar was down slightly under 85 cents. All foreign currencies were up sharply. Late in the day the dollar recovered part of the early loss and stocks made declines.

Bonds behaved true to inflation form, United States and high grade issues declining while the low priced issues advanced. Cotton

FORMER SALT LAKE JUDGE DROPS DEAD

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—(UP)—Willis Brown, former judge of the Salt Lake city juvenile court, dropped dead at his home here last night, a victim of a heart attack.

Brown, 53 years old, was founder of the Big Brother movement of the Rotary club, and a well known author.

Pulmotor squads from the fire department attempted unsuccessfully to revive him.

Brown is survived by a widow and three children.

WILL ROGERS says:

NEW YORK, May 1.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Did you ever go to a dinner and have to stand up, and not even get any dinner? Well, I did at the Gridiron dinner to President Roosevelt. It sure was worth it. Those Washington newspaper men are the cleverest ones we have. They have the cleverest skits and take-offs on our public men. This one was a great show. It's a pity they don't arrange to do 'em before a regular audience. For Lord, those prominent men there miss many a gag. I know a regular audience would be twice as keen and appreciative. I think it's because each man in Washington is so engrossed in his own sphere that he is not so well up on all topics as the average reader. And these sketches cover everything. Ogden Mills and the President both made good speeches. I think those things do a lot of good to help keep those old big boys' feet on the ground. But say, I would stand on my head to see another one.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

Thousands Line Streets For Orange Parade Today

PLAY, DANCE TO CLOSE PIONEER EVENT TONIGHT

The spirit of the gay nineties prevailed in Orange today as the entire city joined in the first celebration of Pioneer day, suggested by Dr. A. H. Doman, pioneer physician of the city.

Crowds estimated at between 5000 and 6000 persons lined the streets, for the parade this morning, when Gibson girls and dashing young gallants of by-gone day walked or rode side by side with their staid elders, forty-niners, picturesque Spanish cavaliers and barefoot urchins.

The parade, more than a mile long, was led by John Wagner of Placentia and Miss Hazel Whitehead, of Irvine, who rode on prancing black chargers, with silver-mounted saddles and bridles. The only motor vehicles in the line of march were several of the first contraptions of the sort—whose age made their progress in complete harmony with the plodding farm teams and the sober dobbins hitched to spring wagons and sulkies.

The first mayor of Orange, Henry Loptien, 85 years of age, walked with a sprightly step along the line of march. The first hook and ladder wagon was manned by a number of the first fire department of the city. E. T. Parker, first fire chief, now of Calexico, was unable to be present but other members of the initial group, Frank C. Thompson, Albert Priess, Earl Hutchinson, Al Tomblin, Carl Helm, Percy Davis, W. E. Clement and W. G. Hagen, pulled the old vehicle clad in their old time uniforms. Members of the El Rodeo Riding club rode as a unit and Business and Professional Women's clubs members were on bicycles.

Twenty-four members of the Lembke family, labeled "Dr. Doman's babies," were in one float. The Santa Ana high school band, and the Santa Ana Spanish-American War Veterans Drum corps furnished music for the parade.

Service clubs and P.-T. A. members were in horse-drawn floats. One lone mule in the parade furnished an amusing episode. The Olive Improvement association members, in colorful costumes, had an interesting entry. Willard Newkirk Handley, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Browne, wore a suit which his grandfather had worn 55 years ago. J. Heitschusen wore his wedding coat which he wore 52 years ago.

The neigh of countless horses, bewildered at the unexpected attentions showered on them, replaced the ordinary noise of motor traffic. A real time runaway with the occupants of the buggy shaken out of the seat and the shafts of the buggy broken, was staged on West Chapman avenue by a steed driven by Edward Dews.

The celebration will close tonight with a street dance and a play at the Orange Union High school. Everything is free. Races and games were scheduled for this afternoon. Store windows are filled with interesting antique exhibits and clerks and residents alike have entered into the spirit of the occasion by dressing as they or their ancestors did some 30 or more years ago.

Lieut. Make Mills, chief of the police radical squad, was hurriedly summoned from his home. After a brief inspection he said he was convinced the attacks were May day demonstrations. The buildings at which the blasts occurred were selected, Mills believed, as representative large corporations and not for specific reasons.

Four men were arrested as suspects shortly after the explosions but police believed they were not actively linked with the attarks.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES TO ADVANCE TODAY

jumped $2 a bale at the outset and subsequently lost half the gain. Wheat moved up for a time, but lost its stride and closed at losses of 1-4 to 3-4 cent a bushel.

The bullish news of the day from the business world was the trend toward higher car loadings by leading roads. Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe loadings for the week ended April 29 exceeded the total for the corresponding week of 1932 by 6.1 per cent, the first gain over the previous year since 1929. Missouri Pacific and Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific loadings also were above the 1932 week.

During the day 349 issues made new highs for the year and only 3 made new 1933 lows.

Sales totaled 6,050,000 shares, the largest day of the year with the exception of last Thursday when sales were above 7,000,000 shares.

Of the 855 issues traded today, 576 registered gains at the close, while there were 150 losses and 129 issues unchanged.

Sales totaled 6,050,000 shares, against 3,389,470 Saturday, and 4,805,160 shares a week ago. Curb sales were 624,000 shares, against 241,000 shares last Friday.

Aggregate market value of 10 leading issues was $6,217,582,993, against $6,157,131,470 Saturday, a rise of $60,451,523.

the sector, officers said.

As the period of martial law went into its fourth day, farmers unfolded tales of terrorism in this northwestern Iowa community. They revealed that for many weeks both city dwellers and farmers have carried revolvers in constant fear of bloodshed.

Scenes at churches yesterday resembled pioneer days. Parishoners went to their country chapels with revolvers in their pockets. Steel helmeted troopers deployed over the area and machine guns were posted at strategic points. At Camp Flaugher, where the guardsmen are stationed, the scene resembled a military post in battle.

Hardware dealers in surrounding towns reported their ammunition had been exhausted.

Adding to already disrupted conditions a violent storm struck here over the weekend. No fatalities were reported but several barns and outhouses were damaged and thousands of dollars worth of cattle were killed. More than an inch of rain soaked the clay ground, making travel almost impossible. Damage was greatest at Madison, Hartington, Battle Creek, Randolph, Lee, Neligh and Norfolk, the latter city in Nebraska.

The first 10 suspects in the attack on Judge Bradley brought in by troopers were placed under guard, five in Sioux City and five in the guard house here. They were taken to Sioux City after authorities were informed of a purported plan of farmers to attack the camp and release their comrades.

REDONDO BEACH PLAYERS WIN PLAY TOURNEY

Announcing the judges' decision in the seventh annual Southern California tournament of One Act Plays which closed a "three night stand" in Ebell auditorium Saturday night, Miss Janet Scott, of Riverside, spokesman for the three adjudicators, awarded first place to Pandora Players of Redondo Beach, newcomers to the tournament, for their "Teapot on the Rocks," given Thursday night.

That the decision met with the approval of the audience, was evidenced by the applause it evoked. First award carries with it the Emma Otis silver cup and the Charles A. Riggs cash prize of $50, which were presented by M. Burr Wellington as the climax of the evening's entertainment.

Second place went to Modern Mummers of Riverside, for "The Ace is Trumped," given Friday night, who received the Santa Ana cup donated by Carl G. Strock, and the cash prize of $25. Honorable mention was given Civic Players of Laguna Beach.

The Community Players book award for best individual acting, went to Mary E. Pelham of Redondo Beach for her interpretation of "Daisy" in the winning play, "Teapot on the Rocks," and to Raymond Grimes of Laguna Beach for his "Claudio" in "Death and the Fool."

Saturday night's concluding program opened with "Bargains" by Katharine Kester, presented by San Dieguito Community Players directed by Rozilla M. King. Violet Hassels, Maude Warner, Evatt McCleneghan and Evelyn Saint comprised a cast presenting the romantic little play with directness and simplicity.

Laguna Beach Civic Players directed by Wayne Moore, chose a Symbolical tale in "Death and the Fool," in keeping with their reputation for distinctly different dramatic moods. Raymond Grimes, William Schleicher, Paul Sutton, Vera Newcombe, Stella Harris and Wayne Moore comprised the cast interpreting the unusual psychology in a setting that was striking.

Oxnard Community Players, making their bow to tournament audiences, chose "The Under Dog" for production under the direction of L. Earl Moranda. The capable cast included Robert McInnes, Mae Moranda, L. Earl Moranda, Jean Cerny and Alfred Atwood.

Musical features of the evening maintained the same high standard set by the two previous courtesy programs and was furnished by the Santa Ana String Trio, Georgia Belle Walton, Ruth Armstrong and Edward H. Burns. The customary hospitality of the after-tournament reception was staged in the peacock room of the clubhouse where refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Robinson.

Licenses To Wed Show Big Increase

President Roosevelt's "new deal," or something is making itself felt in the county marriage license bureau. According to County Clerk J. M. Backs 334 couples jumped into the sea of matrimony in April. This, Backs said, is the greatest number of marriages for the month of April since 1927 when the "three-day" license law became effective.

In April 1932 licenses issued totalled 265. In March 1933 the total number of licenses issued during the month was 262. Licenses issued in April bring the total for the year up to 1113.

perfectly plain that the legislature, in passing the Wright act with its universal application... could have intended to leave the Wylie...law in full force and effect. It is contrary to reason and good sense to suppose that such could have been the intention, when the provisions of the Wright act are so inconsistent and so conflicting with those of the earlier act... .

Not Reviewed

"We are forced to conclude that the Wright act, its provisions being in conflict with those of the Wylie law . . . and prevailing over the same, had the effect of repealing, by implication, the earlier act. If this conclusion is correct and the Wylie . . . law was repealed by adoption of the Wright act, the later repeal of the last named act cannot have the effect of reviving the act so repealed."

Local Ordinances Are Not Affected

Local attorneys held today that the appellate court decision on the Wylie act would not effect legality of dry ordinances of Orange county or Santa Ana.

They declared that the Wylie act was in two sections, one of which was an enabling act under which communities could determine whether or not liquor should be sold, and that even if the enabling act were set aside such action would not effect legal action already taken under its provisions. The other section set up penalties to be inflicted for violation.

GANGSTERS FREED AND THEN ARRESTED

CHICAGO, May 1.—(UP)—Two union officials kidnaped by gangsters in a raid on the organization's headquarters Friday, were released today and taken into custody by police for questioning concerning a bitter feud reported developing between two powerful underworld factions.

The men, Fred Sass and Morris Goldberg, officials in Teamsters' unions, described events from the time they were seized at the point of machine guns until they were released in Irving park early today.

Both said they were kept in a building not far from the union headquarters, blindfolded and trussed a greater part of the time. Goldberg said he was asked if he knew where his brother-in-law, "Klondike" O'Connell, could be located.

SEVEN LOSE LIVES IN STORM SATURDAY

YAZOO CITY, Miss., May 1.—(UP)—Red Cross workers and National Guardsmen today directed reconstruction activities in the tornado lashed sections of southeastern Arkansas and western Mississippi where seven persons were killed, about 75 injured, hundreds made homeless and property damage was estimated at more than half a million dollars.

The tornado struck late Saturday night in Arkansas near Lake Village, then struck near Greenville, Miss., and Yazoo City, Miss., early Sunday. The twister dipped down south of Jonestown, southwest of here, skipped the Yazoo river, hit the southwest edge of Yazoo City and tore a patch a quarter of a mile wide along the east bank of the river to spend its force in the hills.

idea of facing camera men and newsmen. Captain Holmberg supplied other information about her trip back to the United States.

Good Sailor

"She was upset over the idea of seeing the newspaper reporters and photographers,—he reported. "She was upset over that for the past two days. She is an awful nice girl. Yes, sir, as nice a girl as you ever went to meet. She was a good sailor, too. She was the only passenger that didn't get sick during the trip."

Captain Holmberg made a rather unusual denial of reports that Miss Garbo, when she boarded the boat at Gothemberg, Sweden, was disguised as a man.

"That's not true," said the captain. "She wore women's clothes except that she wore a man's raincoat and a man's hat."

When it got cooler as the boat proceeded up the west coast of Mexico, she replaced the shorts with dungarees.

Dungarees or shorts, she topped the outfit off with an officer's cap.

She was the only passenger given the freedom of the bridge.

At Puerto, Colombia, she went ashore and, happily, threw nickles and dimes to scrambling natives.

For those who must have romance in the Swedish star's life, it must be reported that the only passenger with whom she appeared friendly on the long trip was Ture Steen, 24, Swedish-English, of Paris, who boarded the Annie Johnson at Antwerp.

As Miss Garbo entered her automobile to drive away, she turned and waved to Steen, bound for San Francisco.

Members of the El Rodeo Riding club rode as a unit and Business and Professional Women's clubs members were on bicycles.

Twenty-four members of the Lembke family, labeled "Dr. Doman's babies," were in one float. The Santa Ana high school band, and the Santa Ana Spanish-American War Veterans Drum corps furnished music for the parade.

Service clubs and P.-T. A. members were in horse-drawn floats. One lone mule in the parade furnished an amusing episode. The Olive Improvement association members, in colorful costumes, had an interesting entry. Willard Newkirk Handley, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Browne, wore a suit which his grandfather had worn 55 years ago. J. Heitschusen wore his wedding coat which he wore 52 years ago.

The neigh of countless horses, bewildered at the unexpected attentions showered on them, replaced the ordinary noise of motor traffic. A real time runaway with the occupants of the buggy shaken out of the seat and the shafts of the buggy broken, was staged on West Chapman avenue by a steed driven by Edward Dews.

The celebration will close tonight with a street dance and a play at the Orange Union High school. Everything is free. Races and games were scheduled for this afternoon. Store windows are filled with interesting antique exhibits and clerks and residents alike have entered into the spirit of the occasion by dressing as they or their ancestors did some 30 or more years ago.

The kidneys act as blood filters for your system—sometimes they need a stimulant and then is the time for you to get a package of McCoy's Buchu Compound Pills. wholesale grocery firms, two large concrete pillars were snapped and gaps appeared in marble floors. A railroad car entrance was twisted into debris.

Lieut. Make Mills, chief of the police radical squad, was hurriedly summoned from his home. After a brief inspection he said he was convinced the attacks were May day demonstrations. The buildings at which the blasts occurred were selected, Mills believed, as representative large corporations and not for specific reasons.

Four men were arrested as suspects shortly after the explosions but police believed they were not actively linked with the attarks.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES TO ADVANCE TODAY

jumped $2 a bale at the outset and subsequently lost half the gain. Wheat moved up for a time, but lost its stride and closed at losses of 1-4 to 3-4 cent a bushel.

The bullish news of the day from the business world was the trend toward higher car loadings by leading roads. Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe loadings for the week ended April 29 exceeded the total for the corresponding week of 1932 by 6.1 per cent, the first gain over the previous year since 1929. Missouri Pacific and Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific loadings also were above the 1932 week.

During the day 349 issues made new highs for the year and only 3 made new 1933 lows.

Sales totaled 6,050,000 shares, the largest day of the year with the exception of last Thursday when sales were above 7,000,000 shares.

Of the 855 issues traded today, 576 registered gains at the close, while there were 150 losses and 129 issues unchanged.

Sales totaled 6,050,000 shares, against 3,389,470 Saturday, and 4,805,160 shares a week ago. Curb sales were 624,000 shares, against 241,000 shares last Friday.

Aggregate market value of 10 leading issues was $6,217,582,993, against $6,157,131,470 Saturday, a rise of $60,451,523.

COURTMARTIAL TRIAL ORDERED FOR FARMERS

the sector, officers said.

As the period of martial law went into its fourth day, farmers unfolded tales of terrorism in this northwestern Iowa community. They revealed that for many weeks both city dwellers and farmers have carried revolvers in constant fear of bloodshed.

Scenes at churches yesterday resembled pioneer days. Parishoners went to their country chapels with revolvers in their pockets. Steel helmeted troopers deployed over the area and machine guns were posted at strategic points. At Camp Flaugher, where the guardsmen are stationed, the scene resembled a military post in battle.

Hardware dealers in surrounding towns reported their ammunition had been exhausted.

Adding to already disrupted conditions a violent storm struck here over the weekend. No fatalities were reported but several barns and outhouses were damaged and thousands of dollars worth of cattle were killed. More than an inch of rain soaked the clay ground, making travel almost impossible. Damage was greatest at Madison, Hartington, Battle Creek, Randolph, Lee, Neligh and Norfolk, the latter city in Nebraska.

The first 10 suspects in the attack on Judge Bradley brought in by troopers were placed under guard, five in Sioux City and five in the guard house here. They were taken to Sioux City after authorities were informed of a purported plan of farmers to attack the camp and release their comrades.

REDONDO BEACH PLAYERS WIN PLAY TOURNEY

Announcing the judges' decision in the seventh annual Southern California tournament of One Act Plays which closed a "three night stand" in Ebell auditorium Saturday night, Miss Janet Scott, of Riverside, spokesman for the three adjudicators, awarded first place to Pandora Players of Redondo Beach, newcomers to the tournament, for their "Teapot on the Rocks," given Thursday night.

That the decision met with the approval of the audience, was evidenced by the applause it evoked. First award carries with it the Emma Otis silver cup and the Charles A. Riggs cash prize of $50, which were presented by M. Burr Wellington as the climax of the evening's entertainment.

Second place went to Modern Mummers of Riverside, for "The Ace is Trumped," given Friday night, who received the Santa Ana cup donated by Carl G. Strock, and the cash prize of $25. Honorable mention was given Civic Players of Laguna Beach.

The Community Players book award for best individual acting, went to Mary E. Pelham of Redondo Beach for her interpretation of "Daisy" in the winning play, "Teapot on the Rocks," and to Raymond Grimes of Laguna Beach for his "Claudio" in "Death and the Fool."

Saturday night's concluding program opened with "Bargains" by Katharine Kester, presented by San Dieguito Community Players directed by Rozilla M. King. Violet Hassels, Maude Warner, Evatt McClenaghan and Evelyn Saint comprised a cast presenting the romantic little play with directness and simplicity.

Laguna Beach Civic Players directed by Wayne Moore, chose a Symbolical tale in "Death and the Fool," in keeping with their reputation for distinctly different dramatic moods. Raymond Grimes, William Schleicher, Paul Sutton, Vera Newcombe, Stella Harris and Wayne Moore comprised the cast interpreting the unusual psychology in a setting that was striking.

Oxnard Community Players, making their bow to tournament audiences, chose "The Under Dog" for production under the direction of L. Earl Moranda. The capable cast included Robert McInnes, Mae Moranda, L. Earl Moranda, Jean Cerny and Alfred Atwood.

Musical features of the evening maintained the same high standard set by the two previous courtesy programs and was furnished by the Santa Ana String Trio, Georgia Belle Walton, Ruth Armstrong and Edward H. Burns. The customary hospitality of the after-tournament reception was staged in the peacock room of the clubhouse where refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Robinson.

Licenses To Wed Show Big Increase

President Roosevelt's "new deal," or something is making itself felt in the county marriage license bureau. According to County Clerk J. M. Backs 334 couples jumped into the sea of matrimony in April. This, Backs said, is the greatest number of marriages for the month of April since 1927 when the "three-day" license law became effective.

In April 1932 licenses issued totalled 265. In March 1933 the total number of licenses issued during the month was 262. Licenses issued in April bring the total for the year up to 1113.

APPEAL COURT RULES OPTION LAW REPEALED

perfectly plain that the legislature, in passing the Wright act with its universal application... could have intended to leave the Wylie...law in full force and effect. It is contrary to reason and good sense to suppose that such could have been the intention, when the provisions of the Wright act are so inconsistent and so conflicting with those of the earlier act... .

Not Reviewed

"We are forced to conclude that the Wright act, its provisions being in conflict with those of the Wylie law . . . and prevailing over the same, had the effect of repealing, by implication, the earlier act. If this conclusion is correct and the Wylie . . . law was repealed by adoption of the Wright act, the later repeal of the last named act cannot have the effect of reviving the act so repealed."

Local Ordinances Are Not Affected

Local attorneys held today that the appellate court decision on the Wylie act would not effect legality of dry ordinances of Orange county or Santa Ana.

They declared that the Wylie act was in two sections, one of which was an enabling act under which communities could determine whether or not liquor should be sold, and that even if the enabling act were set aside such action would not effect legal action already taken under its provisions. The other section set up penalties to be inflicted for violation.

GANGSTERS FREED AND THEN ARRESTED

CHICAGO, May 1.—(UP)—Two union officials kidnaped by gangsters in a raid on the organization's headquarters Friday, were released today and taken into custody by police for questioning concerning a bitter feud reported developing between two powerful underworld factions.

The men, Fred Sass and Morris Goldberg, officials in Teamsters' unions, described events from the time they were seized at the point of machine guns until they were released in Irving park early today.

Both said they were kept in a building not far from the union headquarters, blindfolded and trussed a greater part of the time. Goldberg said he was asked if he knew where his brother-in-law, "Klondike" O'Connell, could be located.

SEVEN LOSE LIVES IN STORM SATURDAY

YAZOO CITY, Miss., May 1.—(UP)—Red Cross workers and National Guardsmen today directed reconstruction activities in the tornado lashed sections of southeastern Arkansas and western Mississippi where seven persons were killed, about 75 injured, hundreds made homeless and property damage was estimated at more than half a million dollars.

The tornado struck late Saturday night in Arkansas near Lake Village, then struck near Greenville, Miss., and Yazoo City, Miss., early Sunday. The twister dipped down south of Jonestown, southwest of here, skipped the Yazoo river, hit the southwest edge of Yazoo City and tore a patch a quarter of a mile wide along the east bank of the river to spend its force in the hills.

Lieutenant Fortunato Bedoya stepped in the range of fire and was wounded. A dozen soldiers fired at the assassin. A member of the Presidential Lancers pierced him with his lance. A bullet struck Private Teodoro Rodriguez, killing him instantly. Corporals Juan Nunez and Juan Acuna, and two civilians, Roman Morales and Carmela Chavez, were wounded.

Cerros was taken to the Italian hospital, where he died a few minutes later. The cabinet, informed of his death, imemdiately took over executive powers, declared martial law, and summoned congress.

Within a few hours Benavides was elected president.

"I do not belong to any political party," he said. "My program will be to establish harmony among Peruvians and I will endeavor to solve our international problems with patriotism."

GARBO RETURNS TO HOLLYWOOD FROM SWEDEN

idea of facing camera men and newsmen. Captain Holmberg supplied other information about her trip back to the United States.

Good Sailor

"She was upset over the idea of seeing the newspaper reporters and photographers,—he reported. "She was upset over that for the past two days. She is an awful nice girl. Yes, sir, as nice a girl as you ever went to meet. She was a good sailor, too. She was the only passenger that didn't get sick during the trip."

Captain Holmberg made a rather unusual denial of reports that Miss Garbo, when she boarded the boat at Gothemberg, Sweden, was disguised as a man.

"That's not true," said the captain. "She wore women's clothes except that she wore a man's raincoat and a man's hat."

When it got cooler as the boat proceeded up the west coast of Mexico, she replaced the shorts with dungarees.

Dungarees or shorts, she topped the outfit off with an officer's cap.

She was the only passenger given the freedom of the bridge.

At Puerto, Colombia, she went ashore and, happily, threw nickles and dimes to scrambling natives.

For those who must have romance in the Swedish star's life, it must be reported that the only passenger with whom she appeared friendly on the long trip was Ture Steen, 24, Swedish-English, of Paris, who boarded the Annie Johnson at Antwerp.

As Miss Garbo entered her automobile to drive away, she turned and waved to Steen, bound for San Francisco.

DEATH TOLL IN ORANGE COUNTY FOR YEAR 13

C. A. McGraft, engineer for the Metropolitan Water district, residing at 335 East Ninth street, Long Beach, was fatally injured at 6:30 a. m. today ,in an automobile-truck crash at Spring street and Los Alamitos avenue, Los Alamitos.

Six other persons were injured, none fatally, in seven other automobile accidents in Orange county over the week end, according to reports gathered by police and hospitals.

McGraft died at 7:30 o'clock today at the Community Hospital in Long Beach, where he had been rushed by a sailor, who happened to pass the scene of the accident a short time later.

Car Hit Truck

According to information obtained here, McGraft, driving his machine with Alex Napier, of 918 Grand avenue, Long Beach, as a passenger, collided with a truck driven by Ed August, of 345 Downey avenue, Hyams, the truck being the property of the California Milk Transfer company of Clearwater.

The truck made a left turn in front of the McGraft machine and the car collided against it and then crashed into a telephone pole. In some miraculous manner, Napier was not injured.

A crushed chest is believed to have been the cause of McGraft's death, but witnesses said that blood was pouring from the man's eyes nose and ears when he was picked up by the sailor and rushed to the hospital.

His death is the thirteenth in county traffic crashes for the year and he is the first to be injured in this county to die in another this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mead jr., of Orange, Route No. 1 were cut and bruised when the car in which they were riding ran off the road on Newport Boulevard, north of Seventeenth street at 2 a. m. Sunday and struck a pole.

Falls Asleep

Mead, who was driving at the time, said he must have fallen asleep. They were taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital where Mead was given first aid treatment and allowed to go home. Mrs. Maria Mead, his wife, is still a patient there.

August Bendlen, jr., 10, was cut and bruised when he was thrown through the windshield of his father's car as the machine crashed with a car driven by B. H. Libey, 56, of 2400 Chestnut street, Long Beach. The accident occurred on the Coast Highway at the Arches at 10 a. m. Sunday. The boy was taken to the Newport Beach hospital for treatment.

Ruford Allen, 57, of 1119 State Highway, Sunset Beach, was seriously injured at 6:30 o'clock last night when he was run down near his home, by a car driven by Novella Seppala, 36, of 2312 Wall street, Los Angeles.

He was taken to the Orange county hospital where it was reported he suffered several fractured ribs, and cuts and bruises about the face and hands. Allen was a close friend of Robert J. Cowan, Sunset Beach man whose body was found floating in Anaheim Bay a week ago.

Motorcycle Crashes

William C. Harker, 17, of 128 South Kruger street, Anaheim, suffered cuts and bruises when the motorcycle he was riding, collided with a car driven by John A. Swartzbaugh, 43, of Orange, Route No. 2 at 1:30 a. m. yesterday. The accident occurred at North Flower street and Memory Lane. Swartzbaugh made a left turn and Harker ran into the side of the car, it was reported. Harker said he saw the signals but could not stop in time to avoid the accident.

Alfred Dominguiz, 27, Santa Ana, was given first aid treatment at the Orange county hospital yesterday afternoon for a dislocated shoulder received in an accident near the hospital, it was reported. This crash has not been reported to authorities.

No one was reported injured when cars driven by R. T. Kaldwell, Placentia, and M. H. Beard, Santa Ana, collided at Second and Main streets at 1:15 p. m. Sunday.

Both drivers escaped injury when their cars collided at Third and French streets at 12:15 p. m. Saturday. They were A. E. Bird, 69, of 214 Thirty-sixth street, Newport Beach and Frank Novarro, 22, of San Juan Capistrano.

Store Will Make Footprint Records During Baby Week

Rankin's Dry Gods store will observe Baby Week this week, starting today, it was announced today.

The observance at the local store will incorporate a novel idea regarding proper identification of babies. A free foot-printing service has been installed at the store and any baby brought to the store may have its footprints made.

Various events have proven the necessity for having proper identification of babies, according to Miss Mabel Cole, who is in charge of the infants department on the third floor, and who has had training in this particular work.

BANDITS GET $50 IN TWO STORE HOLDUPS

Three bandits held up a grocery store and three customers at Atwood last night at 9:50 p. m., escaping with $25 in cash, and a lone bandit, operating on North Main street, Santa Ana, Saturday night, looted the cash register of the Safeway Stores, at El Portal and North Main street of $25, according to police reports.

No trace of any of the bandits has been found by investigating officers.

Two youthful robbers walked into the Gatewood grocery at Van Buren street and Placentia avenue, Atwood, shortly before closing time last night. Two women and one man customer were in the place at the time.

The bandits immediately ordered all inside to hold up their hands. A third bandit remained at the steering wheel of a car, parked just outside the store.

The leader of the band, described as a small man with piercing black eyes and wearing a cap and blue suit of clothes, threatened the clerk and the three persons in the store by waving a black automatic pistol, which he held openly in his hand. His confederate then looted the cash register in the grocery. When this was accomplished, with ease and precision the same bandit then "frisked" the three customers, but took nothing from any of them.

Their work completed, they hurriedly jumped into the waiting car and disappeared in the darkness, headed towards Placentia, it was reported.

One of the bandits who entered the store wore a purple suit, the victims told officers. The man in the car wore a brown suit.

The bandit who robbed the Safeway store at El Portal and North Main street Saturday night, is believed to have been the same one, who several months ago, held up and robbed a Safeway store in Anaheim.

His method was the same, police pointed out.

A well dressed man walked up to the cash register in the store, behind which sat E. K. Capes, manager of the store. He pulled a pocketbook from his hip pocket and from it extracted a note which he handed to Capes. The note read:

"You are being held up. Give me the paper money quick. Any move is foolish. We will ..... if necessary. Stand still. Keep quiet when we leave."

After reading the note Capes looked up and saw the man quietly holding an old looking pistol, which he had partially concealed in the front of his trousers.

Capes then handed over a roll of bills, which he estimated to be about $25.

The bandit took the money and darted out of the store to a waiting automobile parked just north of the grocery store. He escaped, driving north on Santa Ana boulevard.

The method used by a bandit in Anaheim was practically the same. The note carried almost the identical language, starting off with "You are being held up."

Capes was able to get the license number of the car, but it was little aid to the police. The plates were registered for an automobile owned by May M. Heard, of 1967 East Glen Oak, Glendale, but officers learned that the plates had been stolen.

R. F. C. CHECKS ORANGE COUNTY RELIEF NEEDS

Fate of Orange county's work relief program is hanging in the balance today with word received here that a representative of the Reconstruction Finance corporation has been ordered to investigate the actual need existing in this county.

B. V. Curry, director of welfare and directly in charge of the work relief program said this morning that while the fate of the program is hanging in the balance he feels confident that the program will not be discontinued entirely.

Applying for funds for use in this county in May and June, Curry asked for $297,000. This request was reduced to $193,000 in the Sacramento office of the R.F.C. before sending it to Washington for approval. According to word received here officers of the R.F.C. in Washington have expressed the opinion that the need for help in Orange county has been overestimated.

Men now employed under the April allotment of $50,000 are due to complete their work Wednesday night. Curry had worked out a schedule of prorating work under the May and June allotment on the basis of the number of dependents each applicant had in his family. During April heads of families were given six days work each at the rate of $2.50 per day. This was done, Curry said, in order to spread the first employment as much as possible and give relief to as many families as possible.

Should the $193,000 be approved as the May and June allotment for Orange county Curry will be able to start a new crew to work Thursday morning under the new prorate schedule. Should the allotment be held to $50,000 per month it is probable that the program may continue along the lines followed during April.

C. A. McGraft, engineer for the Metropolitan Water district, residing at 335 East Ninth street, Long Beach, was fatally injured at 6:30 a. m. today in an automobile-truck crash at Spring street and Los Alamitos avenue, Los Alamitos.

Six other persons were injured, none fatally, in seven other automobile accidents in Orange county over the week end, according to reports gathered by police and hospitals.

McGraft died at 7:30 o'clock today at the Community Hospital in Long Beach, where he had been rushed by a sailor, who happened to pass the scene of the accident a short time later.

Car Hit Truck

According to information obtained here, McGraft, driving his machine with Alex Napier, of 918 Grand avenue, Long Beach, as a passenger, collided with a truck driven by Ed August, of 345 Downey avenue, Hyams, the truck being the property of the California Milk Transfer company of Clearwater.

The truck made a left turn in front of the McGraft machine and the car collided against it and then crashed into a telephone pole. In some miraculous manner, Napier was not injured.

A crushed chest is believed to have been the cause of McGraft's death, but witnesses said that blood was pouring from the man's eyes nose and ears when he was picked up by the sailor and rushed to the hospital.

His death is the thirteenth in county traffic crashes for the year and he is the first to be injured in this county to die in another this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mead jr., of Orange, Route No. 1 were cut and bruised when the car in which they were riding ran off the road on Newport Boulevard, north of Seventeenth street at 2 a. m. Sunday and struck a pole.

Falls Asleep

Mead, who was driving at the time, said he must have fallen asleep. They were taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital where Mead was given first aid treatment and allowed to go home. Mrs. Maria Mead, his wife, is still a patient there.

August Bendlen, jr., 10, was cut and bruised when he was thrown through the windshield of his father's car as the machine crashed with a car driven by B. H. Libey, 56, of 2400 Chestnut street, Long Beach. The accident occurred on the Coast Highway at the Arches at 10 a. m. Sunday. The boy was taken to the Newport Beach hospital for treatment.

Ruford Allen, 57, of 1119 State Highway, Sunset Beach, was seriously injured at 6:30 o'clock last night when he was run down near his home, by a car driven by Novella Seppala, 36, of 2312 Wall street, Los Angeles.

He was taken to the Orange county hospital where it was reported he suffered several fractured ribs, and cuts and bruises about the face and hands. Allen was a close friend of Robert J. Cowan, Sunset Beach man whose body was found floating in Anaheim Bay a week ago.

Motorcycle Crashes

William C. Harker, 17, of 128 South Kruger street, Anaheim, suffered cuts and bruises when the motorcycle he was riding, collided with a car driven by John A. Swartzbaugh, 43, of Orange, Route No. 2 at 1:30 a. m. yesterday. The accident occurred at North Flower street and Memory Lane. Swartzbaugh made a left turn and Harker ran into the side of the car, it was reported. Harker said he saw the signals but could not stop in time to avoid the accident.

Alfred Dominguiz, 27, Santa Ana, was given first aid treatment at the Orange county hospital yesterday afternoon for a dislocated shoulder received in an accident near the hospital, it was reported. This crash has not been reported to authorities.

No one was reported injured when cars driven by R. T. Kaldwell, Placentia, and M. H. Beard, Santa Ana, collided at Second and Main streets at 1:15 p. m. Sunday.

Both drivers escaped injury when their cars collided at Third and French streets at 12:15 p. m. Saturday. They were A. E. Bird, 69, of 214 Thirty-sixth street, Newport Beach and Frank Novarro, 22, of San Juan Capistrano.

BANDITS GET $50 IN TWO STORE HOLDUPS

Three bandits held up a grocery store and three customers at Atwood last night at 9:50 p. m., escaping with $25 in cash, and a lone bandit, operating on North Main street, Santa Ana, Saturday night, looted the cash register of the Safeway Stores, at El Portal and North Main street of $25, according to police reports.

No trace of any of the bandits has been found by investigating officers.

Two youthful robbers walked into the Gatewood grocery at Van Buren street and Placentia avenue, Atwood, shortly before closing time last night. Two women and one man customer were in the place at the time.

The bandits immediately ordered all inside to hold up their hands. A third bandit remained at the steering wheel of a car, parked just outside the store.

The leader of the band, described as a small man with piercing black eyes and wearing a cap and blue suit of clothes, threatened the clerk and the three persons in the store by waving a black automatic pistol, which he held openly in his hand. His confederate then looted the cash register in the grocery. When this was accomplished, with ease and precision the same bandit then "frisked" the three customers, but took nothing from any of them.

Their work completed, they hurriedly jumped into the waiting car and disappeared in the darkness, headed towards Placentia, it was reported.

One of the bandits who entered the store wore a purple suit, the victims told officers. The man in the car wore a brown suit.

The bandit who robbed the Safeway store at El Portal and North Main street Saturday night, is believed to have been the same one, who several months ago, held up and robbed a Safeway store in Anaheim.

His method was the same, police pointed out.

A well dressed man walked up to the cash register in the store, behind which sat E. K. Capes, manager of the store. He pulled a pocketbook from his hip pocket and from it extracted a note which he handed to Capes. The note read:

"You are being held up. Give me the paper money quick. Any move is foolish. We will ..... if necessary. Stand still. Keep quiet when we leave."

After reading the note Capes looked up and saw the man quietly holding an old looking pistol, which he had partially concealed in the front of his trousers.

Capes then handed over a roll of bills, which he estimated to be about $25.

The bandit took the money and darted out of the store to a waiting automobile parked just north of the grocery store. He escaped, driving north on Santa Ana boulevard.

The method used by a bandit in Anaheim was practically the same. The note carried almost the identical language, starting off with "You are being held up."

Capes was able to get the license number of the car, but it was little aid to the police. The plates were registered for an automobile owned by May M. Heard, of 1967 East Glen Oak, Glendale, but officers learned that the plates had been stolen.

Lucille Bach, 16, who had made her home with William F. Coulter, former mayor of Fullerton, and Mrs. Coulter, of North Cypress avenue, Fullerton, died Sunday at her foster parents' home. She was formerly a student Fullerton Union high school.

Funeral services are scheduled for Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the McAulay and Suters Funeral home. The Rev. E. Dow Hoffman will be in charge. Interment will be at Loma Vista.

Burglars Steal Hose and Pistol

Burglars who some time last night broke into the home of Arnold Gaunt, on Qwen street, in Cypress, stole a pistol and 50 feet of garden hose, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office.

Entrance was made while members of the family were away from home, by forcing a rear window.

R. F. C. CHECKS ORANGE COUNTY RELIEF NEEDS

Fate of Orange county's work relief program is hanging in the balance today with word received here that a representative of the Reconstruction Finance corporation has been ordered to investigate the actual need existing in this county.

B. V. Curry, director of welfare and directly in charge of the work relief program said this morning that while the fate of the program is hanging in the balance he feels confident that the program will not be discontinued entirely.

Applying for funds for use in this county in May and June, Curry asked for $297,000. This request was reduced to $193,000 in the Sacramento office of the R.F.C. before sending it to Washington for approval. According to word received here officers of the R.F.C. in Washington have expressed the opinion that the need for help in Orange county has been overestimated.

Men now employed under the April allotment of $50,000 are due to complete their work Wednesday night. Curry had worked out a schedule of prorating work under the May and June allotment on the basis of the number of dependents each applicant had in his family. During April heads of families were given six days work each at the rate of $2.50 per day. This was done, Curry said, in order to spread the first employment as much as possible and give relief to as many families as possible.

Should the $193,000 be approved as the May and June allotment for Orange county Curry will be able to start a new crew to work Thursday morning under the new prorate schedule. Should the allotment be held to $50,000 per month it is probable that the program may continue along the lines followed during April.

Mrs. Mennes Dies At Fuller Park

Mrs. Margaret Mennes, 78, of Fuller Park, died last night at her home. She had been ill for some time.

The body is at the McAulay and Suters funeral home, Fullerton. It will be sent to the old home in Wisconsin for interment.

OUTLOOK

The Government's own private business chart shows why Mr. Roosevelt championed a controlled inflation now.

During April business was in the same technical position as 1881 September. Production was momentarily behind consumption. This lifted prices a little. Seeing the increase, dealers started to lay in stocks. They were afraid prices might go higher. In the end consumption failed to absorb the stocks and the whole structure bogged down again.

The September flurry of business improvement lasted about 45 days. Mr. Roosevelt was apparently determined this should not happen again. His mere promise of possible mild inflation kept the April price movement in the right direction.

His problem now is to stimulate consumption so that the stocking-up process will not again get ahead of itself. The right kind of inflation may do that.

* * * *

The chart shows indisputably how things are going. It is so meticulously accurate that a month is required by government experts to compile it. Mr. Hoover devised it when he was Secretary of Commerce. All the highest government officials still use it.

The experts adjust it for seasonal variations on the basis of fluctuations for three years, 1923, '24 and '25. The average for those years is 100.

From it you can trace the history of the depression since December 1931 as follows:

Month	Indust. Prod.	F'tory Emp.	Freight Car L'dings	Dept. Store Sales	Exp'ts Value	Imp'ts Value	B'ld'g Contr. All types
December, 1931	74	69.4	69	81	46	48	38
January, 1932	72	68.1	64	78	39	42	31
July	58	58.3	51	67	32	27	27
September	66	60.2	54	70	33	32	30
November	65	61.2	57	65	32	32	27
December	66	60.6	58	62	32	30	27
January, 1933	65	59.4	56	60	31	28	22
February	64	59.4	54	60	29	26	19
March	60	56.6	50	56	28	26	14
APRIL	About the same as February.

All time lows registered in March were traceable to the bank closings. Business started to pick up the last week in that month and has continued a steady upward trend through April.

The outstanding significance of the table is the almost complete collapse of the building industry. The figure 14 means it is 14 per cent of what it was on an average for 1923, 24 and 25.

The table also discloses that of all factors in business, Industrial Production keeps nearest normal. Incidentally it shows also that during March our Factory Employment was at its lowest ebb (56.6 per cent) which is even below the lowest previous point in the depression last July (58.3 per cent).

PRICES

Financial experts here are not excited about the inflation program. Their guess is that prices will rise no more than 25 per cent. This should be enough to prevent further wage cuts. They do not believe the full extent of the power will ever be used.

A lot of ill-tempered rash statements are being made on both sides but as usual the outcome of the experiment probably will be about midway between what the extremists Senators Thomas and Reed have predicted.

The tears which were shed for the dollar when we went off the gold standard were shed in vain.

The Government's gold expert figured last Tuesday the dollar that day was worth $1.05. That was the natural level it had reached when permitted to shift for itself.

Screams of Congressmen for postmasters patronage have died down to a steady low moan.

The reason is that Postmaster General Farley has devised a clever little scheme to solve the situation. He hopes it will placate the Congressional wolves and maintain Mr. Roosevelt's determination not to make such minor appointments for a while yet.

The essence of the plan is Republican inefficiency. That is always good ground for Democratic patronage. Some Democrats consider the mere fact that a fellow is a Republican as sufficient proof of mental incapacity.

Farley's henchmen swear they will use only the "flagrant" cases.

Records have been dug up in the department on which about 1000 Republican postmasters can be fired. In place of these Mr. Farley is naming "Acting Postmasters." These actors are all good Democrats recommended by Congressmen. They need not take a civil service examination. The President is not required to send their nominations to the Senate and no confirmation there is necessary. Mr. Farley does the nominating and confirming.

The only trouble is that the boys do not get their pay until they have been moniated and confirmed in the regular way. Then they will get back pay for what they are doing now.

EUROPE

The Polish design for a Little Entente in Europe may become the first official step toward the international clan system which brought on the World war.

Poland's purpose to establish a united front with her Balkan sisters and France makes a formidable moral alliance a prospective grim fact.

The other grouping is also unofficial as yet but the Polish action may force steps. In this crowd are Italy, Germany and Austria.

SARTORIAL

That secret telephone conversation Mr. MacDonald had from the Berengaria with the British embassy created a stir here and abroad.

Actually the conversation was between a Mr. Wright, one of MacDonald's assistants and Sir Ronald Lindsay. It wholly concerned this point: Where do you wear top hats in New York and Washington? It seems soft hats are required of foreign dignitaries upon landing in New York, but they must have silk hats when they come to Washington.

In order to avoid a change of clothes on the train MacDonald and the rest put on an overcoat over their formal clothes in New York. Soft hats were worn there. When they got on the train they took off their overcoats and put on silk hats which made them fit for Washington.

SOSS

Anyone who thinks Mr. Roosevelt is a secondary influence in his family has another think coming. Such stories spread around the country for political purposes are contrary to the facts.

Mrs. Roosevelt went to see Mr. Roosevelt's closest associate not long ago. She asked him to use his influence to get the President to do something she desired done. Apparently she had a friend she wanted appointed to some office.

The associate said he would take the matter up with the President. Later he returned to say Mr. Roosevelt had turned him down. He suggested that Mrs. Roosevelt try the President direct. She said she already had, adding: "I guess that end it" and walked from the room.

NOTES

Sonny Whitney recently called on Budget Director Douglas with the President of Pan-American Airways trying to convince Douglas that their Carribean line was a measure of defense, especially for the Panama Canal. . . . Appropriations for their mail contracts are almost certain to be cut. . . . The Democrats also cut the Civil Service restrictions out of the Muscle Shoals Bill to afford a little more patronage for those too dumb to pass an examination. . . Jesse Jones is running the R. F. C. these days as a one-man show. . . . He sleeps from 2 a. m. to 6 a. m. . . . An early morning visitor recently watched him trying to put on his pants while answering four telephone calls.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

FINANCING

The Treasury pulled one of the boldest and smartest maneuvers on record in putting over the three-year note issue at 2 7-8 per cent. They had plenty of advice from New York that it couldn't be done—that inflation talk would scare buyers off—that the interest was much too low—that the government credit would be wrecked if the issue weren't fully subscribed—and so forth.

But the Treasury took the gamble and won. There was none of the blarney of over-subscription because applicants were told they would get what they asked for. The banks toed the mark in the pinch. They will probably pass along as much of this issue as they can to the public but not through any high pressure methods.

The victory had double importance. It proves that federal credit is perfectly O. K. and makes refunding operations look more possible than local bankers contended. Insiders credit the stroke to the President rather than to Mr. Woodin.

The maneuver also made a pronounced impression on European observers. They were watching closely and its success greatly enhanced Mr. Roosevelt's prestige and confidence in American stability in well-posted foreign quarters.

The gold clause in the issue is interpreted locally as significant of nothing more than an official sense of humor.

BUSINESS

Business men are sprouting gray hairs over the Perkins amendment to the 30-hour bill although they are reconciled to the bill itself. They claim the dictatorial powers were given the Labor Department surpass Mussolini's fondest dreams. They fear that even a large corporation would be ruined if its competitors could gain political favoritism.

There are several signs of improvement on the business horizon. A food corporation sales are running 9 per cent ahead of a year ago. Aviation corporation showed a monthly profit in March for the first time in its history.

New York department store sales have had a natural drop from their Easter peak but the decline has not been nearly as sharp as the stores had feared.

STORES

Montgomery Ward is in a favored position if prices go up. This firm started building inventories a year ago and is well fixed for inflationary developments.

RAILS

Baltimore and Ohio is pushing merger plans along the lines of the original eastern four-road consolidation. It already owns 50 per cent of Reading which in turn owns 53 per cent of Centrol of New Jersey. The traffic departments of the two latter are being fused and equipment will be pooled in the near future. This is comparable to the Van Sweringen action in making J. J. Bernet President of Nickle Plate as well as of Chesapeake and Ohio.

It is notable that both of the roads working in this direction would have been completely submerged by the Prince plan and that their present activities must have the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACCOUNTING

James W. Gerard's protests as a stockholder against Allied Chemical's accounting methods links up with the Stock Exchange's silent campaign toward the same objective. There is an estimated asset inflation of at least $23,0000,000 in the balance sheet because of arbitrary security valuations. The corporation refuses to tell anybody the details of its holdings and claims that its cash position is so strong it makes no difference. The Exchange would not be averse to a stockholder's action to compel more complete publicity.

As predicted here months ago Owen Young's political connection did him no good in his efforts to keep both his General Electric and R. C. A. jobs. He will choose R. C. A. at the showdown and Charles Francis Adams—late of the Hoover Cabinet—will probably be his G. E. successor.

TELEGRAPH

Newcomb Carlton's transfer from presidency to the chairmanship of Western Union—as forecast here months ago—will really be a demotion upstairs. He will have little voice in the company's affairs from now on. The change means that the projected merger in operating facilities with Postal Telegraph is much closer to consummation.

HARRIMAN

New York lawyers did a fancy job for their clients on the Harriman tangle. They sold the Treasury Department the idea that prejudging the financial responsibility of the Clearing House for the Harriman's deposits before the messy case is settled in court might have a dangerous flareback. The Treasury Department decided on ungraceful retreat and certain local banks are gloating.

ROOSEVELT

A highly placed Wall Streeter had the following comment to offer after the gold embargo and inflation bill were launched:

"I sure would like to have that man Roosevelt for a partner. He's the smartest trader I ever saw."

STOCKS

Despite appearances to the contrary John J. Public is not in the stock market to any extent. Reliable analysis of transactions confirms that most of the recent large volume originated with the professionals. Insiders figure that it will take another month of continued stability of prices before the very skeptical public will be ready to take another fling.

STEEL

A New York expert states that the steel industry is definitely out of the doldrums. The first really good buying in three years is coming in on a moderate but satisfactory scale. Nothing is said in public because leading steel men do not want people to get exaggerated ideas.

SLIP

Last week the German Government's Statistical Bureau released figures showing a considerable export surplus for March. Four days later the German trade associations published their own satistics which proved an export deficit.

Economists consider the discrepancy a political one. The Nazis had fired Dr. Wagemann as director of the Government Statistical Bureau and replaced him by a Nazi Commissar, who cooperates 100 per cent with the Ministry of Propaganda. Unfortunately the Nazis had not yet "coordinated" the trade associations—hence the slip-up. A high Nazi official got hell.

HEIL!

Eighteen hundred enthusiastic Germans celebrated Hitler's birthday in New York last Saturday. The sensation was the eulogy of "our glorious leader" by the Consul General Keip. Goebbels himself could not have done better. Among the other speakers was Colonel Edwin C. Emerson, Hitler's liaison officer in the U. S.

Black-haired Italian Fascists presented the New York Nazis with a huge portrait of Mussolini. Eighty-two members of the crew of the Albert Ballin attended in a body—in the uniforms of the Hitler naval storm troops. The organizers of the meeting avoided getting any publicity by sending out personal invitations.

SIDELIGHTS

France has a neat system for discouraging gold drains. . . . She pays out in gold bullion, not in species. . . . You can only get gold if you can afford heavy bars. . . . That keeps out the pikers. . . . Tell it not that brokers are ungrateful for past business. . . . Two formerly prosperous customers of a certain house are now its employes. . . . One is a quotation clerk and the other an order clerk with commensurate salaries.

PASTOR TELLS YOUTH'S VIEW OF RELIGION

"When young people express themselves with regard to religion they place emphasis upon practical matters that are vital to our every day living. They do not look to a realm beyond the skies to have life's wrongs righted but take up the challenge to correct the wrongs and break the evils right here on earth."

This was the statement made by Harry Evan Owings at the First Baptist church last night in a message "As Youth Sees Religion." He continued: "Not so long ago at a significant Young People's Conference five points were offered as youth's expression of the 'irreducible minimum' of the Christian religion. The five points had to do with personal religion, family life, the church, organized industry, and racial relations, and were thus worded:

"Family life based on Jesus' idea of marriage.

"A church losing itself in unselfish service.

"Organized industry transformed by the spirit of friendly cooperation into a vital section of the Kingdom of God.

"T racial attitude which does not stop short of the practice of universal good will.

"Most commendable objectives, we must all admit, and a stupendous task to which we are all called. We note even on the most casual reading what a bearing all of the matters have upon the happiness and the peace of our world. We can pretty well agree, furthermore, that a Christianity that is real cannot omit dealing with any one of them because they are in most complete accord with the emphasis of Jesus Christ.

"Pray God that young people will indeed continue to follow a gleam such as this and like that youthful knight in the days of old 'follow the Christ, live pure, speak truth, right wrong' according to these challenging goals. For as we come nearer to their realization we make wider here on earth the boundaries of the Kingdom of God."

Christian Science

Job's questions "Is not destruction to the wicked? and a strange punishment to the workers of iniquity?" constituted the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Everlasting Punishment" yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist.

One of the Bible selections in the lesson-sermon included Ezekiel's words: "The word of the Lord came unto me again, saying, What mean ye, that ye use this proverb concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge? as I live, saith the Lord God, ye shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Israel. Behold, all souls are mine....The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "It is error to suffer for aught but your own sins. Christ, or Truth, will destroy all other supposed suffering, and real suffering for your own sins will cease in proportion as the sin ceases."

NEW TYPE BRAKE SERVICE OFFERED

S. F. Zornes and Robert (Bob) McKean today announced the opening of a frictionized brake service for motorists at First and Cypress streets.

Old linings are rejuvenated and a general car repair service is offered. Through a new method to be used old brake linings can be made new again at the new plant.

Zornes has been a resident here for the past five years and has been in the brake service business for the past 16 years. McKean is also well known in Santa Ana. The firm also handles general auto repairing.

Honor Pastor At Birthday Party

PLACENTIA, May 1.—A large number of friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Fuller, of Placentia, planned a surprise in observance the Rev. Mr. Fuller's birthday recently. Joining with them were a large group of the radio friends of Long Beach, who gathered at an early hour at a Long Beach radio studio to greet Mr. and Mrs. Fuller.

Following the Bible class broadcast, an invitation was extended by Dr. A. J. Forsythe, of Long Beach, for the friends to come to his home, where refreshments and a large birthday cake awaited the guest of honor. The cake was the gift of Miss Gladys Welch, of Orange. Asked to cut the cake, the honoree found upon investigation that it was a receptacle for the many birthday greetings. The presentation speech was made by Grover C. Murdick.

Ice cream and home made cake were served. Music was furnished by the Diffenderfer sisters.

A REORGANIZATION of the major Protestant church denominations was advocated by Perry Frederick Schrock in his sermon at the First Congregational Church yesterday morning. He proposed that present denominational lines be obliterated and that there be formed two great church organizations—one a conservative church and the other a liberal church.

"We have been 'Re-thinking missions" for the past few months," said Mr. Schrock. "The Layman's report has brought to our attention such questions as the motive and purpose of missions, the type and quality of work carried on in mission fields, the personnel of the missions and certain questions as to administration. Instead of the many administrative agencies on the foreign field this report recommended just one adminstrative board for all the churches at work on mission fields.

Re-Thinking Inevitable

"A re-thinking of the church is inevitable," continued Mr. Schrock. "Foreign mission work is but the church in action. A stream can rise no higher than its source. The motive and quality of work and personnel of missions will simply reflect the church back of the missions. How can our 57, and more, varieties of churches unite in a single administrative agency?"

"Perhaps a study of our own local church situation will help us see the necessity for a thorough re-thinking of the church. Santa Ana, with a population of 30,000 people has at least 46 church organizations. Many of our churches draw people from a radius of 10 miles.

"Within this circle, with a 10 mile radius, is a population estimated at 90,000. Here we find 84 more churches, in addition to Santa Ana's 46—130 churches in all. That would be a church for every 692 people. The committee on Social and Religious Surveys, of which John R. Mott was chairman, made a survey on Stanislaus and Orange counties, California, and published it in 1922 under the title, 'Irrigation and Religion.' This survey claimed that a little less than 25 per cent of the people of Orange county were affiliated with any church organization.

"Population has increased since then but the ratio will probably remain about the same. However, in this greater Santa Ana area one would expect to find a higher percentage of church people than in the county as a whole. Let us be generous and call it 40 per cent. That would then mean that we would have 130 churches serving 36,000 people, or a church for each 276 people. But when we remember that in all of our larger communities there are a number of churches with memberships running from 500 to 1800 we can see that there must be many of these 130 churches that are very small in membership.

Can Group Churches

"A study of the 46 churches within the city limits of Santa Ana reveals that they can be grouped. The seven Methodist churches, with the Evangelical and United Brethren, form one group. The three Presbyterian churches another. The churches of Congregational form of government make another group. The six Spiritual churches would naturally be in the same group. There are other possible groups which we have not time to discuss.

"The Santa Ana situation suggests certain lines of re-thinking. There is the matter of 'overhead.' This duplication of organization is expensive. It is also inefficient. It takes so much steam to blow the whistle that there is none left to make the boat go. The result is a flat contradiction of the spirit of Christ whose name we all bear. There is also the question of liberty of thought and conscience. Church union that denies that liberty would be no blessing. This liberty is of greater importance than mere uniformity.

Advocates Church Union

"What might be done about it? The ideal program would be the doing away with the present denominational lines and the forming of two great churches—one liberal and the other conservative with each church granting the other the right to its point of view. But that is an ideal that we will not attain in my life time. The next plan would be church union within natural groups. It ought to be possible to unite all churches who have the Methodist form of government and likewise the Presbyterian and Congregational groups. Perhaps that might lead to the liberal and conservative alignment later on.

"Finally we need a re-thinking as to the fundamentals of religion. When we find them we will discover that they are not the things which divide but rather those things upon which we really agree."

Men Deny Guilt On Check Charge

Two men, arrested on petty theft charges, which involves the asserted cashing of two $15 fictitious checks, pleaded not guilty before Justice Kenneth Morrison Friday and their trials were set for May 2 and 9 a. m.

The men are Bryan Burnett and James Patton, both of Santa Ana.

The complaining witness in the case is J. D. Jeans of Costa Mesa. The arrest was made by E. E. Perry, deputy sheriff, who took the men directly into court. Both were released on their own recognizance.

Brotherhood In Program Tuesday

GARDEN GROVE, May 1.—Glen Lukens, of Fullerton Junior college, will speak on metal craft and pottery making and John W. Crill will discuss the water conservation problem at the meeting of the Men's brotherhood of the Alamitos Friends church in the church Tuesday evening. A musical program will be furnished by local talent. The usual pot luck dinner will be served at 7 o'clock.

The experts adjust it for seasonal variations on the basis of fluctuations for three years, 1923, '24 and '25. The average for those years is 100.

From it you can trace the history of the depression since December 1931 as follows:

Month	Indust. Prod.	F'tory Emp.	Freight Car L'dings	Dept. Store Sales	Exp'ts Value	Imp'ts Value	B'ld'g Contr. All types
December, 1931	74	69.4	69	81	46	48	38
January, 1932	72	68.1	64	78	39	42	31
July	58	58.3	51	67	32	27	27
September	66	60.3	54	70	33	32	30
November	65	61.2	57	65	32	32	27
December	66	60.6	58	62	32	30	27
January, 1933	65	59.4	56	60	31	28	22
February	64	59.4	54	60	29	26	19
March	60	56.6	50	56	28	26	14
APRIL	About the same as February.

All time lows registered in March were traceable to the bank closings. Business started to pick up the last week in that month and has continued a steady upward trend through April.

The outstanding significance of the table is the almost complete collapse of the building industry. The figure 14 means it is 14 per cent of what it was on an average for 1923, 24 and 25.

The table also discloses that of all factors in business, Industrial Production keeps nearest normal. Incidentally it shows also that during March our Factory Employment was at its lowest ebb (56.6 per cent) which is even below the lowest previous point in the depression last July (58.3 per cent).

PRICES

Financial experts here are not excited about the inflation program. Their guess is that prices will rise no more than 25 per cent. This should be enough to prevent further wage cuts. They do not believe the full extent of the power will ever be used.

A lot of ill-tempered rash statements are being made on both sides but as usual the outcome of the experiment probably will be about midway between what the extremists Senators Thomas and Reed have predicted.

The tears which were shed for the dollar when we went off the gold standard were shed in vain.

The Government's gold expert figured last Tuesday the dollar that day was worth $1.05. That was the natural level it had reached when permitted to shift for itself.

JOBS

Screams of Congressmen for postmasters patronage have died down to a steady low moan.

The reason is that Postmaster General Farley has devised a clever little scheme to solve the situation. He hopes it will placate the Congressional wolves and maintain Mr. Roosevelt's determination not to make such minor appointments for a while yet.

The essence of the plan is Republican inefficiency. That is always good ground for Democratic patronage. Some Democrats consider the mere fact that a fellow is a Republican as sufficient proof of mental incapacity.

Farley's henchmen swear they will use only the "flagrant" cases.

Records have been dug up in the department on which about 1000 Republican postmasters can be fired. In place of these Mr. Farley is naming "Acting Postmasters." These actors are all good Democrats recommended by Congressmen. They need not take a civil service examination. The President is not required to send their nominations to the Senate and no confirmation there is necessary. Mr. Farley does the nominating and confirming.

The only trouble is that the boys do not get their pay until they have been moniated and confirmed in the regular way. Then they will get back pay for what they are doing now.

EUROPE

The Polish design for a Little Entente in Europe may become the first official step toward the international clan system which brought on the World war.

Poland's purpose to establish a united front with her Balkan sisters and France makes a formidable moral alliance a prospective grim fact.

The other grouping is also unofficial as yet but the Polish action may force steps. In this crowd are Italy, Germany and Austria.

SARTORIAL

That secret telephone conversation Mr. MacDonald had from the Berengaria with the British embassy created a stir here and abroad.

Actually the conversation was between a Mr. Wright, one of MacDonald's assistants and Sir Ronald Lindsay. It wholly concerned this point: Where do you wear top hats in New York and Washington? It seems soft hats are required of foreign dignitaries upon landing in New York, but they must have silk hats when they come to Washington.

In order to avoid a change of clothes on the train MacDonald and the rest put on an overcoat over their formal clothes in New York. Soft hats were worn there. When they got on the train they took off their overcoats and put on silk hats which made them fit for Washington.

BOSS

Anyone who thinks Mr. Roosevelt is a secondary influence in his family has another think coming. Such stories spread around the country for political purposes are contrary to the facts.

Mrs. Roosevelt went to see Mr. Roosevelt's closest associate not long ago. She asked him to use his influence to get the President to do something she desired done. Apparently she had a friend she wanted appointed to some office.

The associate said he would take the matter up with the President. Later he returned to say Mr. Roosevelt had turned him down. He suggested that Mrs. Roosevelt try the President direct. She said she already had, adding: "I guess that end it" and walked from the room.

NOTES

Sonny Whitney recently called on Budget Director Douglas with the President of Pan-American Airways trying to convince Douglas that their Carribean line was a measure of defense, especially for the Panama Canal. . . . Appropriations for their mail contracts are almost certain to be cut. . . . The Democrats also cut the Civil Service restrictions out of the Muscle Shoals Bill to afford a little more patronage for those too dumb to pass an examination. . . . Jesse Jones is running the R. F. C. these days as a one-man show. . . . He sleeps from 2 a. m. to 6 a. m. . . . An early morning visitor recently watched him trying to put on his pants while answering four telephone calls.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

FINANCING

The Treasury pulled one of the boldest and smartest maneuvers on record in putting over the three-year note issue at 2 7-8 per cent. They had plenty of advice from New York that it couldn't be done—that inflation talk would scare buyers off—that the interest was much too low—that the government credit would be wrecked if the issue weren't fully subscribed—and so forth.

But the Treasury took the gamble and won. There was none of the blarney of over-subscription because applicants were told they would get what they asked for. The banks toed the mark in the pinch. They will probably pass along as much of this issue as they can to the public but not through any high pressure methods.

The victory had double importance. It proves that federal credit is perfectly O. K. and makes refunding operations look more possible than local bankers contended. Insiders credit the stroke to the President rather than to Mr. Woodin.

The maneuver also made a pronounced impression on European observers. They were watching closely and its success greatly enhanced Mr. Roosevelt's prestige and confidence in American stability in well-posted foreign quarters.

The gold clause in the issue is interpreted locally as significant of nothing more than an official sense of humor.

BUSINESS

Business men are sprouting gray hairs over the Perkins amendment to the 30-hour bill although they are reconciled to the bill itself. They claim the dictatorial powers were given the Labor Department surpass Mussolini's fondest dreams. They fear that even a large corporation would be ruined if its competitors could gain political favoritism.

There are several signs of improvement on the business horizon. A food corporation sales are running 9 per cent ahead of a year ago. Aviation corporation showed a monthly profit in March for the first time in its history.

New York department store sales have had a natural drop from their Easter peak but the decline has not been nearly as sharp as the stores had feared.

STORES

Montgomery Ward is in a favored position if prices go up. This firm started building inventories a year ago and is well fixed for inflationary developments.

RAILS

Baltimore and Ohio is pushing merger plans along the lines of the original eastern four-road consolidation. It already owns 50 per cent of Reading which in turn owns 53 per cent of Control of New Jersey. The traffic departments of the two latter are being fused and equipment will be pooled in the near future. This is comparable to the Van Swerlingen action in making J. J. Bernet President of Nickle Plate as well as of Chesapeake and Ohio.

It is notable that both of the roads working in this direction would have been completely submerged by the Prince plan and that their present activities must have the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACCOUNTING

James W. Gerard's protests as a stockholder against Allied Chemical's accounting methods links up with the Stock Exchange's silent campaign toward the same objective. There is an estimated asset inflation of at least $23,0000,000 in the balance sheet because of arbitrary security valuations. The corporation refuses to tell anybody the details of its holdings and claims that its cash position is so strong it makes no difference. The Exchange would not be averse to a stockholder's action to compel more complete publicity.

YOUNG

As predicted here months ago Owen Young's political connection did him no good in his efforts to keep both his General Electric and R. C. A. jobs. He will choose R. C. A. at the showdown and Charles Francis Adams—late of the Hoover Cabinet—will probably be his G. E. successor.

TELEGRAPH

Newcomb Carlton's transfer from presidency to the chairmanship of Western Union—as forecast here months ago—will really be a demotion upstairs. He will have little voice in the company's affairs from now on. The change means that the projected merger in operating facilities with Postal Telegraph is much closer to consummation.

HARRIMAN

New York lawyers did a fancy job for their clients on the Harriman tangle. They sold the Treasury Department the idea that prejudging the financial responsibility of the Clearing House for the Harriman's deposits before the messy case is settled in court might have a dangerous flareback. The Treasury Department decided on ungraceful retreat and certain local banks are gloating.

ROOSEVELT

A highly placed Wall Streeter had the following comment to offer after the gold embargo and inflation bill were launched:

"I sure would like to have that man Roosevelt for a partner. He's the smartest trader I ever saw."

STOCKS

Despite appearances to the contrary John J. Public is not in the stock market to any extent. Reliable analysis of transactions confirms that most of the recent large volume originated with the professionals. Insiders figure that it will take another month of continued stability of prices before the very skeptical public will be ready to take another fling.

STEEL

A New York expert states that the steel industry is definitely out of the doldrums. The first really good buying in three years is coming in on a moderate but satisfactory scale. Nothing is said in public because leading steel men do not want people to get exaggerated ideas.

SLIP

Last week the German Government's Statistical Bureau released figures showing a considerable export surplus for March. Four days later the German trade associations published their own satistics which proved an export deficit.

Economists consider the discrepancy a political one. The Nazis had fired Dr. Wagemann as director of the Government Statistical Bureau and replaced him by a Nazi Commissar, who cooperates 100 per cent with the Ministry of Propaganda. Unfortunately the Nazis had not yet "coordinated" the trade associations—hence the slip-up. A high Nazi official got hell.

HEIL!

Eighteen hundred enthusiastic Germans celebrated Hitler's birthday in New York last Saturday. The sensation was the eulogy of "our glorious leader" by the Consul General Keip. Goebbels himself could not have done better. Among the other speakers was Colonel Edwin C. Emerson, Hitler's liaison officer in the U. S.

Black-haired Italian Fascists presented the New York Nazis with a huge portrait of Mussolini. Eighty-two members of the crew of the Albert Ballin attended in a body—in the uniforms of the Hitler naval storm troops. The organizers of the meeting avoided getting any publicity by sending out personal invitations.

SIDELIGHTS

France has a neat system for discouraging gold drains. . . . She pays out in gold bullion, not in species. . . . You can only get gold if you can afford heavy bars. . . . That keeps out the pikers. . . . Tell it not that brokers are ungrateful for past business. . . . Two formerly prosperous customers of a certain house are now its employes. . . . One is a quotation clerk and the other an order clerk with commensurate salaries.

Church

PASTOR TELLS YOUTH'S VIEW OF RELIGION

"When young people express themselves with regard to religion they place emphasis upon practical matters that are vital to our every day living. They do not look to a realm beyond the skies to have life's wrongs righted but take up the challenge to correct the wrongs and break the evils right here on earth."

This was the statement made by Harry Evan Owings at the First Baptist church last night in a message "As Youth Sees Religion." He continued: "Not so long ago at a significant Young People's Conference five points were offered as youth's expression of the 'irreducible minimum' of the Christian religion. The five points had to do with personal religion, family life, the church, organized industry, and racial relations, and were thus worded:

"Family life based on Jesus' idea of marriage.

"A church losing itself in unselfish service.

"Organized industry transformed by the spirit of friendly cooperation into a vital section of the Kingdom of God.

"T racial attitude which does not stop short of the practice of universal good will.

"Most commendable objectives, we must all admit, and a stupendous task to which we are all called. We note even on the most casual reading what a bearing all of the matters have upon the happiness and the peace of our world. We can pretty well agree, furthermore, that a Christianity that is real cannot omit dealing with any one of them because they are in most complete accord with the emphasis of Jesus Christ.

"Pray God that young people will indeed continue to follow a gleam such as this and like that youthful knight in the days of old 'follow the Christ, live pure, speak truth, right wrong' according to these challenging goals. For as we come nearer to their realization we make wider here on earth the boundaries of the Kingdom of God."

Christian Science

Job's questions "is not destruction to the wicked? and a strange punishment to the workers of iniquity?" constituted the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Everlasting Punishment" yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist.

One of the Bible selections in the lesson-sermon included Ezekiel's words: "The word of the Lord came unto me again, saying, What mean ye, that ye use this proverb concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge? as I live, saith the Lord God, ye shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Israel. Behold, all souls are mine....The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "It is error to suffer for aught but your own sins. Christ, or Truth, will destroy all other supposed suffering, and real suffering for your own sins will cease in proportion as the sin ceases."

NEW TYPE BRAKE SERVICE OFFERED

S. F. Zornes and Robert (Bob) McKean today announced the opening of a frictionized brake service for motorists at First and Cypress streets.

Old linings are rejuvenated and a general car repair service is offered. Through a new method to be used old brake linings can be made new again at the new plant.

Zornes has been a resident here for the past five years and has been in the brake service business for the past 16 years. McKean is also well known in Santa Ana. The firm also handles general auto repairing.

Honor Pastor At Birthday Party

PLACENTIA, May 1.—A large number of friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Fuller, of Placentia, planned a surprise in observance the Rev. Mr. Fuller's birthday recently. Joining with them were a large group of the radio friends of Long Beach, who gathered at an early hour at a Long Beach radio studio to greet Mr. and Mrs. Fuller.

Following the Bible class broadcast, an invitation was extended by Dr. A. J. Forsythe, of Long Beach, for the friends to come to his home, where refreshments and a large birthday cake awaited the guest of honor. The cake was the gift of Miss Gladys Welch, of Orange. Asked to cut the cake, the honoree found upon investigation that it was a receptacle for the many birthday greetings. The presentation speech was made by Grover C. Murdick.

Ice cream and home made cake were served. Music was furnished by the Diffenderfer sisters.

A REORGANIZATION of the major Protestant church denominations was advocated by Perry Frederick Schrock in his sermon at the First Congregational Church yesterday morning. He proposed that present denominational lines be obliterated and that there be formed two great church organizations—one a conservative church and the other a liberal church.

"We have been 'Re-thinking missions" for the past few months," said Mr. Schrock. "The Layman's report has brought to our attention such questions as the motive and purpose of missions, the type and quality of work carried on in mission fields, the personnel of the missions and certain questions as to administration. Instead of the many administrative agencies on the foreign field this report recommended just one adminstrative board for all the churches at work on mission fields.

Re-Thinking Inevitable

"A re-thinking of the church is inevitable," continued Mr. Schrock. "Foreign mission work is but the church in action. A stream can rise no higher than its source. The motive and quality of work and personnel of missions will simply reflect the church back of the missions. How can our 57, and more, varieties of churches unite in a single administrative agency?"

"Perhaps a study of our own local church situation will help us see the necessity for a thorough re-thinking of the church. Santa Ana, with a population of 30,000 people has at least 46 church organizations. Many of our churches draw people from a radius of 10 miles.

"Within this circle, with a 10 mile radius, is a population estimated at 90,000. Here we find 84 more churches, in addition to Santa Ana's 46—130 churches in all. That would be a church for every 692 people. The committee on Social and Religious Surveys, of which John R. Mott was chairman, made a survey on Stanislaus and Orange counties, California, and published it in 1922 under the title, 'Irrigation and Religion.' This survey claimed that a little less than 25 per cent of the people of Orange county were affiliated with any church organization.

"Population has increased since then but the ratio will probably remain about the same. However, in this greater Santa Ana area one would expect to find a higher percentage of church people than in the county as a whole. Let us be generous and call it 40 per cent. That would then mean that we would have 130 churches serving 36,000 people, or a church for each 276 people. But when we remember that in all of our larger communities there are a number of churches with memberships running from 500 to 1800 we can see that there must be many of these 130 churches that are very small in membership.

Can Group Churches

"A study of the 46 churches within the city limits of Santa Ana reveals that they can be grouped. The seven Methodist churches, with the Evangelical and United Brethren, form one group. The three Presbyterian churches another. The churches of Congregational form of government make another group. The six Spiritual churches would naturally be in the same group. There are other possible groups which we have not time to discuss.

"The Santa Ana situation suggests certain lines of re-thinking. There is the matter of 'overhead.' This duplication of organization is expensive. It is also inefficient. It takes so much steam to blow the whistle that there is none left to make the boat go. The result is a flat contradiction of the spirit of Christ whose name we all bear. There is also the question of liberty of thought and conscience. Church union that denies that liberty would be no blessing. This liberty is of greater importance than mere uniformity.

Advocates Church Union

"What might be done about it? The ideal program would be the doing away with the present denominational lines and the forming of two great churches—one liberal and the other conservative with each church granting the other the right to its point of view. But that is an ideal that we will not attain in my life time. The next plan would be church union within natural groups. It ought to be possible to unite all churches who have the Methodist form of government and likewise the Presbyterian and Congregational groups. Perhaps that might lead to the liberal and conservative alignment later on.

"Finally we need a re-thinking as to the fundamentals of religion. When we find them we will discover that they are not the things which divide but rather those things upon which we really agree."

Men Deny Guilt On Check Charge

Two men, arrested on petty theft charges, which involves the asserted cashing of two $15 fictitious checks, pleaded not guilty before Justice Kenneth Morrison Friday and their trials were set for May 2 and 9 a. m.

The men are Bryan Burnett and James Patton, both of Santa Ana.

The complaining witness in the case is J. D. Jeans of Costa Mesa. The arrest was made by E. E. Perry, deputy sheriff, who took the men directly into court. Both were released on their own recognizance.

CANYON LABOR CAMP IS OPEN ONE MORE WEEK

ORANGE, May 1.—The state labor camp with Santa Ana campus, under the supervision of Joe Scherman, of the state divison of forestry, which was to have been closed yesterday, will be continued for another week, according to word received by Scherman. On leaving each man will be handed five dollars to assist him in returning to his home or to a location where he may obtain employment.

According to a dispatch from the state division of forestry at Sacramento, the state division of forestry at Sacramento, the state is enthusiastic over the success of the labor camp experiment and the method is considered an ideal one of helping men tide over the depression.

The peak attendance of all of the camps was reached on April 1 when there were 7,184 men working, this number having decreased to 6,148 by April 15, the decrease being proportionate in the camp above Orange. The average gain in weight of men in camp has been about 12 pounds per man, according to state authorities. The labor camps have rehabilitated many human wrecks, the state officials assert, and many men who were broken down physicall yand mentally have thrived under the healthy, although payless, out of door work. They will be adequately clothed on leaving camp.

HOOKS and SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Bert Baroni, Pacific coast turfman, is invading the Blue Grass this year with a couple of winners. . . . One is Bamboula, son of North Star III, and is a Derby candidate. . . . Waylayer is the name of the other. . . . Three years ago Baroni scored an old-fashioned hog killing in Kentucky. . . . Bert had three horses in three races. . . . He parlayed them higher than a cat's back . . . and when Riff Raff popped down in front he had more winnings than he could count . . . all three winners. . . . That year he won more than 15 purses in Kentucky.

HORSE GOSSIP

W. R. Coe is trying again to win a Kentucky Derby . . . he has four colts entered . . . and all of them are sons of Pompey . . . Ladysman is one . . .the others are pomposity, Pompoleon and Pomponius.

Ladysman, Pompoleon and Pomponius have won races this year. . . . Ladysman's victory over the six-furlong route was impressive. . . . Pompey is a son of Sun Briar . . . the best son Sun Briar ever produced, by the way. Boilermaker, which happens to be Col E. R. Bradley's best bet for the Derby, is a big lad . . . he looks like a brewery steed. . . . Bradley will not suffer his horses to be photographed while they are in training . . . it's a superstition.

MAN O' WAR'S GET

Man o' War has three sons in this year's Derby . . . they are War Stripes, War Glory and Pre-War . . . the last named is a Dixiana farm colt . . . War Glory and War Stripes are Glen Riddle Farm horses . . . War Glory and Pre-War are practically cinches to start.

Sir Gallahad III, sire of Gallant Fox of fragrant memory, has one son in the Derby . . . the name is Fingal . . . an unusual name for a Bradley horse . . . the kunnel's horses are named beginning with "B" . . . and Fingal is a likely starter in the Derby.

Willis Sharpe Kilmer entered seven horses in the Derby . . . . that's trying . . . their names are dark and light . . . four are sons of the redoubtable Traumer . . . Dark Conquest, Dark Fey, Dark Law and Dark Winter . . . three are sons of Sun Briar . . . Sun Apollo, Sun Alley and Sun Envoy. . . . Traunmer was a son of Dark Ronald, which accounts for the names.

JEBY AND JONES

Following that affair at Cleveland when Ben Jeby and Gorilla Jones were heaved from the ring after a dull quadrille, loud protestations have been rending the air.

Hymie Caplin, manager of Jeby, points to his lad's record . . . . with prideful gestures . . . and to the record of Jones with deprecatory gestures.

JONES, THE MYSTIC

There was the rumor that gangsters, warned the Gorilla not to b etoo Gorilla-ish against Jeby . . . to which the Gorilla replies, "No, I wasn't afraid, but I think it is a good idea to be afraid of gangsters in certain spots, don't you?"

Caplin begs to be heard . . . . "Gangsters? Why, that's not even logical. The fact is that Gorilla Jones is overrated . . . and he has been tossed out of the ring before . . . Jeby was trying . . . but what could he do toward making a fight with a fellow who clinched and wrestled and tied him up every time he wanted to mix it . . . and my boy wants to mix it all the time . . . he's as busy as a beet in there.'

LOATHES BOOS

To which William Layden (that's Gorilla) makes reply that he will fight Jeby again in Cleveland for nothing . . . "not even expenses."

But William Layden Jones does not care for boos . . . "After the first round, when I was feeling my way out, they started booing . . . while I ain't easily rattled as a general thing, I got so excited I was like a man in a daze . . . boos will ruin a good fight . . . I'd rather lose a fight and get a few cheers than win before a booing crowd."

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Seats for the Young Corbett-McLarnin championship bout are priced at $1 to $7.50 . . . and Pacific Coast Promoter Jack Doyle expects 50,000 souls . . . that is an average gate of $3 per soul . . . or $150,000 for all the souls in attendance . . . but at the Young Corbett-Fields championship bout, a great many small souls crashed the gate . . . arrangements are being made to control the smaller souls . . . if the bout should draw $150,000, Young Corbett will take down $47,500 for his end, as he receives a guarantee of $35,000 plus 25 per cent of everything above $100,000 . . . a nice slice of the swag, my friends.

Santa Ana Golfers Defeat Redlands

Santa Ana Country club today was virtually assured advancement in the playoff series for the Southern California Inter-club golf championship.

Routing Redlands, 18 1-2 to 2 1-2, here Sunday, the Santa Anans almost cinched victory on the first day of their home-and-home match with the inland team.

SEAVER WINS TITLE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—(UP)—Charley Seaver, young Stanford university golfing star, blazed a trail of birdies and eagles to successfully defend his crown as Northern California amateur champion yesterday and defeat James Ritchie, Stockton dry goods salesman, in the finals, 7 and 6.

City League Race Begins May 16, Plan

City league baseball in Santa Ana will begin the week of May 15, President Kenneth Morrison announced definitely today. Opening games have been scheduled tentatively for Tuesday, May 16.

An eight-team race will be conducted as usual this summer, with admission to teams being based on a first come-first served plan. Lloyd Banks, city auditor, with offices in the Santora building, is secretary-treasurer of the league and will accept applications for membership until Friday night. Entry fees of $15 must be filed with all applications, he explained.

GOTHAM HEARS HITLER ORDERS JACOBS OUSTER

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 1.—(INS)—In line with the Hitler program but not with what the Hitler organization had to say about it last week, the word came to town that Max Schmeling will be ordered to dismiss Joe Jacobs, his Jewish manager, after June 8, the date of the Baer fight at the Yankee stadium.

The alternative, it was said, would give Schmeling the doubtful privilege of remaining out of Germany, where he owns valuable property and estates. In line with nothing in particular, it can be added that this might not have to be an order—after June 8.

The morning-after might even be close enough. They'll be counting the house the morning-after and, unless the figures revealed happen to be most attractive, the fighter is liable to deliver himself of a few,, well chosen remarks. Contrary to general opinion, Schmeling is not particularly interested in Jacobs' feud which caused him to break with Madison Square Garden and go it alone. He is interested mainly in two things, American money and the world's heavyweight championship. And this time he may get neither.

He also says that he isn't interested in German politics but that will run very rapidly for the Sweeney person if the Hitler government begins suggesting steps that might be taken and vaguely speaking of property that might be confiscated. The assurance last week that Schmeling's alliances outside of Germany were not concerned in the Nazi decree, barring all Jews from German boxing, is not necessarily conclusive, they tell me. In fact, the understanding is that the Hitler government is only waiting for Schmeling's return home, so that it can tell him of this matter, privately and in all detail.

By that time the idea may find him not altogether unreceptive. The last time he was here, he lost the heavyweight championship under Jacob's direction. This time, the title stays lost and all he may get is a beating. The Schmeling-Baer gate may or may not do $150,000 but by the time one promoter, Jack Dempsey; one inside man, Tim Mara; one ball park, the Yankee stadium; one fighter, Baer; one manager, Jacobs, and one charity, the Cancer hospital, are taken care of, there won't be too much for Schmeling.

DONS PLAY VIKINGS IN PREP FOR CITRUS

Rain forced a postponement of the Santa Ana-Pomona game last Saturday, as well as the Riverside-Fullerton and San Bernardino-Citrus engagements.

Earl Homan, p; Bill McDaniel, c; Fred Bell, 1b; Hideo Higashi, or Art Wilde, 2b; Henry Thiery, ss; Joe Koraj or Verl Moyer, 3b; Leo Morse, lf; Wendall Kanawyer, cf; and Harold Welty, rf, complete a tentative lineup which Coach Clyde Cook plans to start against Long Beach.

Pittsburgh Youth Football Casualty

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 1.—(UP)—The first death resulting from a footall injury in 1933 was recorded here when William Hall of Auburn, W. Va., a member of the Pittsburgh university grid squad, died yesterday. Physicians blamed tetanus resulting from an injury suffered a week ago in spring practice.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS By Laufer

Trout anglers of California look on the first of May as one of the red letter days of their calendars.

In most years, the fishing when the trout season opens is confined to bait angling because most of the streams are too high and too muddy for fly fishing. The past winter has been one of less than normal rainfall and as a result trout streams of the coastal areas have been low and clear for some weeks and should provide better sport than for many seasons.

Wardens of the Division of Fish and Game have been actively patrolling trout waters during the past few weeks to check those fishermen who get over zealous. Doing this work, they have been in a position to judge the fish life in the streams, and, according to their reports, anglers should find plenty of sport.

Heavy planting with sized fish by the Division of Fish and Game should result in excellent sport in such streams as the Santa Ana river, Deep creek, City creek, Lytle creek and the middle fork of Lytle creek. Water is clear and high in Lake Arrowhead. The trout are running larger than last year and hundreds of three and four-pound fish have been seen along the shores.

In the San Jacinto mountains, all trout waters have been heavily stocked from state hatcheries and will provide good fishing. Favorite streams in this section are the North Fork, Dark canyon, Fuller creek, Stone creek and Strawberry creek. In San Diego county, trout fishing should be very good, although the fish in that area will be small. Of course the black bass fishing of that area is providing exceptionally good sport.

Streams on the east side of the San Joaquin valley are attracting many Orange county anglers. The Kern river is high but at this time is very clear. This also applies to the Kaweah and Tule rivers. Most of the country back of Fresno is still inaccessible because of the heavy snows. Shaver Lake, of course, is open and trout and black bass fishing should be very good. The San Joaquin river, near Friant, should provide fair sport for trout and bass at the opening of the season.

VINES OFF FOR EAST: BELIEVES CUP WIN NEAR

PASADENA, May 1.—(UP)—Ellsworth Vines, National singles and doubles tennis champion, was to leave for the East today for another full season of international play.

Vines said he would concentrate his efforts on helping regain the Davis Cup from France.

The tall, 21-year-old Pasadena youth who won 13 singles and 11 doubles championships last spring, said he believed the United States could defeat France, despite playing conditions peculiar to France and the strength of the defending team.

Vines will defend his world's singles title at Wimbledon about a month before the final round of the Davis Cup play which the United States is expected to enter.

STANFORD TO SEND FULL TEAM TO IC4A

PALO ALTO, May 1.—(UP)—Stanford university will send a representative track team to Boston for the I. C. 4 A championships, May 26-27, it was announced today.

The board of athletic control voted to send a rounded squad east instead of a skeleton delegation as intended prior to Stanford's recent triumph over Southern

CORBETT-M'LARNIN TICKETS GO ON SALE

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—(UP)—Tickets for the May 29 welterweight championship fight between Young Corbett and Jimmy McLarnin went on public sale today.

Promoter Jack Doyle said the bout probably would draw as well as the Mickey Walker-Ace Hudkins fight which set a new record high at $155,000. Top prices for the coming contest are $7.50, compared with $16.50 for the Walker-Hudkins contest.

Dr. Ross Is New Leader Of Golf Club

A new official family, headed by Dr. Garland C. Ross, had charge of the Santa Ana Country club today, following the annual election of officers of the golfing organization.

Dr. Ross succeeds W. D. Young, as president. Dean Collver is the new vice-president, Harvey A. Gardner, secretary, and J. E. Liebig, treasurer. Incoming directors are J. S. Fluor, C. P. Boyer and G. B. Shattuck. Holdover directors are J. B. Tucker, Dr. A. H. Domann, H. L. Miller and W. K. Hillyard.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pearce, for seven years in charge of the Elks club at Anaheim, have been appointed managers of the country club, succeeding T. F. McGilvray, whose resignation as of May 1 was recently accepted. The clubhouse cafe will be closed for a week while alterations are being made, it was announced.

THURSDAY NEW BOXING NIGHT AT DELHI CLUB

Beginning this week and continuing indefinitely, Thursday will be "Fight Night" at the Orange County Athletic club.

The Delhi arena will be closed tomorrow, inaugurating its new policy later in the week with an attractive card which features in the main event Frank ("Iron Man") Burke, hard-hitting light heavyweight who has won five straight here by knockouts.

Burke will go against Don McLean of San Gabriel, a big fellow who fought a draw at Burbank last Tuesday with Len Morgan who recently outpointed Burke. Matchmaker Kid Mexico says McLean will beat Burke in a close fight.

Raoul Solis, young Delhi featherweight who has been given two "home town" decisions in succession to retain his state championship belt, will meet Hugh Lacy in a rematch in Thursday's semi-final. Lacy was one of the victims of Referee Kim Pratt's mistakes.

MISS MARBLE BEATS S. A. GIRL AT OJAI

Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana tennis queen, was home today from Ojai where, in the thirty-eighth renewal of the historic annual Ojai Valley tournament, she finished as runner-up in the women's singles.

Alice Marble, San Francisco, No. 7 in National rankings, defeated Miss Cruickshank in the finals, 1-6, 6-4, 6-2. Miss Cruickshank had a two-love lead in the second set but Miss Marble came from behind to take the set, and thus encouraged, stroked to victory in the deciding set.

CLOSEST RACE IN HISTORY OF GAME EXPECTED

With brilliant prospects for the most interesting pennant fight in the brief history of the amazing summer sport, eight clubs will plunge headlong into the race tomorrow night.

Unprejudiced observers believe at least six of the flock stand an even chance of winning the championship—now held by Anaheim. Pre-season dope points to an absolutely wide-open struggle, and there is a possibility that first place will not be determined until the last night of the so-called "first half," which this year won't be the first half at all but a three-round schedule of 21 games, as against 14 in the "second half."

The season will be the longest in history, closing Tuesday, August 28, the annual playoffs following.

Favorites Meet First Night

Four white hot favorites collide in the season inaugural. Huntington Beach and Olive, which have been made first and second favorites, respectively, meet at Huntington Beach; and Santa Ana and Anaheim, the two teams that have long dominated the league, collide on Anaheim's city park diamond. Other games: Fullerton at Westminster; Torrance at Whittier.

The teams are to play five-times-around, reversing the field of play every time. This calls for a complete schedule of 35 contests.

Realizing the economic situation, the league had adopted a uniform admission rate of 15 cents, a reduction of 40 per cent over last year's tariff.

Four New Managers

The confederacy is again manned by George Peterkin, of Costa Mesa, president, and Lee McClelland, of Olive, secretary-treasurer.

Four new managers make their bow tomorrow night. "Eeny" Wilcox, youthful-veteran catcher, is now in charge of the Santa Ana Stars, Steven ("String") McDonnell, towering pitcher, is piloting Whittier's Poets. Herb Salveson, onetime Santa Ana boss, is running the rejuvenated Fullerton organization. Joe Rodgers, hustling veteran of "regular" baseball wars, is operating at Huntington Beach, and has assembled the club they say is the one to beat.

WESTMINSTER CLUB SIGNS 14 PLAYERS

WESTMINSTER, May 1.—With a last practice game scheduled here tonight with Highland, prior to the opening of the league ball season tomorrow with Fullerton, a tentative line-up of the Westminster team was announced by Manager Francis Penhall.

Fourteen players have been signed. They are catchers Clarence Hapes and Joe Hossack; pitchers Earl Morrill and Elwyn Errington; infielders Miller Dungan; Ray Smith, Allen Kidder and Cecil Sauers; outfielders Leonard Natland, Marvin Johnston, Leavitt Daley, Ray Burns, Bill Gardner and Boyd Davis. Chester Campbell is coach.

LADYSMAN AND CHARLEY O ARE DERBY CHOICES

BY KENNETH D. FRY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, May 1.—(UP)—Derby week in old Kentucky opens with the east pinning its hopes on the winter book favorite, W. R. Coe's Ladysman, and the west riding along with Charley O, the Hourless colt; Head Play, Mrs. Willie Crump's chestnut colt, and Broker's Tip, owned by Col. E. R. Bradley, who is seeking his fourth Derby purse.

The $50,000 added classic of the bluegrass country, ancient and colorful spectacle which will be reenacted at the historic Downs oval Saturday, is likely to bring a record field parading past the stands on the way to the barrier.

Despite the standout quality of Ladysman and the fine mile-and-a-quarter workout he turned in Saturday, there lingers a streak of doubt in the minds of horsemen whether a Pompey colt can stand the wear and tear of the route of round in competition with the best three-year-olds of the nation.

If Ladysman goes on parade Saturday he will be the first winter book favorite to run in the Kentucky Derby in three years. Equipoise and Top Flight received heavy play through the winter and spring months but they never faced the barrier in the Kentucky fixture. "Sonny" Workman will pilot Ladysman, and it will be his third assignment to hide the winter favorite.

On the face of late performances the race appears to be a four-horse affair, with Ladysman and Mr. Khayyam carrying eastern hopes and Head Play and Charley O loaded down with the bankrolls of the west. But it would be the kind of a field in which anything can happen, especially if traditional Derby weather brings torrents of rain and a gooey track.

SAINTS PICKED FOR SECOND IN LEAGUE FINALS

Conceded only an outside chance for the championship, but rated a good bet for second place, Coach "Chuck" Webber's Santa Ana high school squad goes to Glendale tomorrow for the tenth annual Coast Preparatory league track and field meet, postponed from Saturday. The affair will begin at 2 o'clock.

All dopesheets give Glendale's Dynamiters a mortgage on the title, won by Long Beach last year, and most of them figure the Saints to be runner-up. A well balanced team, strong in every event, gives Glendale a chance to break the scoring record of 54 points established in 1925 by San Diego. The Santa Ana troupe figures to make from 25 to 35.

Only one conference record will be in danger, that for the mile. San Diego's Evan Dowers ran 4:39 in 1930, and his standard may be bettered tomorrow by any of three milers—Johnson of Glendale, Roulac of Pasadena and Seja of Long Beach. Seja finished second last year.

HOLD JAYSEE MEET TRIALS WEDNESDAY

Preliminaries for the second annual Orange Empire conference track meet at San Bernardino Friday night will be conducted in the inland city Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Santa Ana, defending champion, does not anticipate victory this season, must be satisfied with a third or fourth. Riverside, Chaffey, San Bernardino, and possibly Fullerton are conceded places ahead of Coach Bill Cook's crippled squad.

Captain Jim Danerl, Santa Ana's iron-man, promises to be one of the outstanding figures of both the preliminaries and finals. He will concentrate on the javelin, discus and shot put.

SEES VAULT OF 15 FEET

A. C. Gilbert, Yale track coach, predicts that a height of 15 feet will be reached in the pole vault soon.

SANTA ANITA EVENS HANCOCK OIL SERIES

That year he won more than 15 purses in Kentucky.

Ladysman, Pompoleon and Pomponius have won races this year. . . . Ladysman's victory over the six-furlong route was impressive. . . . Pompey is a son of Sun Briar . . . the best son Sun Briar ever produced, by the way. Boilermaker, which happens to be Col E. R. Caplin begs to be heard . . . . "Gangsters? Why, that's not even logical. The fact is that Gorilla Jones is overrated . . . and he has been tossed out of the ring before . . . Jeby was trying . . . but what could he do toward making a fight with a fellow who clinched and wrestled and tied him up every time he wanted to mix it . . . and my boy wants to mix it all the time . . . he's as busy as a beet in there.'

LOATHES BOOS

To which William Layden (that's Gorilla) makes reply that he will fight Jeby again in Cleveland for nothing . . . "not even expenses."

But William Layden Jones does not care for boos . . . I'd rather lose a fight and get a few cheers than win before a booing crowd."

VICTORY KEEPS TEAM IN TITLE PLAYOFF ROUND

Santa Ana Country club today was virtually assured advancement in the playoff series for the Southern California Inter-club golf championship.

Routing Redlands, 18 1-2 to 2 1-2, here Sunday, the Santa Anans almost cinched victory on the first day of their home-and-home match with the inland team.

Santa Ana plays over the difficult Redlands course next Sunday, but requires only 3 points out of 21 to successfully hurdle its first opponent.

The Newport boulevard club's shooters were in top form, and every combination of seven made a clean sweep of points except Warren Fletcher and George Baker who dropped 2 1-2 points although they had a best ball of 73. L. F. Smith, one of their opponents, "went crazy" and grossed a par 72.

Ed Holmes, five-times champion of the Santa Ana layout, also shot a 72, and with B. V. Curry blanked the crack inland No. 1 tandem of Phillip Finley and C. Little.

The summary:

B. V. Curry and Ed Holmes (SA) 3 points; P. Finley and C. Little (R) 0;

City League Race Begins May 16, Plan

City league baseball in Santa Ana will begin the week of May 15, President Kenneth Morrison announced definitely today. Opening games have been scheduled tentatively for Tuesday, May 16.

An eight-team race will be conducted as usual this summer, with admission to teams being based on a first come-first served plan. Lloyd Banks, city auditor, with offices in the Santora building, is secretary-treasurer of the league and will accept applications for membership until Friday night. Entry fees of $15 must be filed with all applications, he explained.

GOTHAM HEARS HITLER ORDERS JACOBS OUSTER

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 1.—(INS)—In line with the Hitler program but not with what the Hitler organization had to say about it last week, the word came to town that Max Schmeling will be ordered to dismiss Joe Jacobs, his Jewish manager, after June 8, the date of the Baer fight at the Yankee stadium.

The alternative, it was said, would give Schmeling the doubtful privilege of remaining out of Germany, where he owns valuable property and estates. In line with nothing in particular, it can be added that this might not have to be an order—after June 8.

The morning-after might even be close enough. They'll be counting the house the morning-after and, unless the figures revealed happen to be most attractive, the fighter is liable to deliver himself of a few,, well chosen remarks. Contrary to general opinion, Schmeling is not particularly interested in Jacobs' feud which caused him to break with Madison Square Garden and go it alone. He is interested mainly in two things, American money and the world's heavyweight championship. And this time he may get neither.

He also says that he isn't interested in German politics but that will run very rapidly for the Sweeney person if the Hitler government begins suggesting steps that might be taken and vaguely speaking of property that might be confiscated. The assurance last week that Schmeling's alliances outside of Germany were not concerned in the Nazi decree, barring all Jews from German boxing, is not necessariiy conclusive, they tell me. In fact, the understanding is that the Hitler government is only waiting for Schmeling's return home, so that it can tell him of this matter, privately and in all detail.

By that time the idea may find him not altogether unreceptive. The last time he was here, he lost the heavyweight championship under Jacob's direction. This time, the title stays lost and all he may get is a beating. The Schmeling-Baer gate may or may not do $150,000 but by the time one promoter, Jack Dempsey; one inside man, Tim Mara; one ball park, the Yankee stadium; one fighter, Baer; one manager, Jacobs, and one charity, the Cancer hospital, are taken care of, there won't be too much for Schmeling.

DONS PLAY VIKINGS IN PREP FOR CITRUS

Rain forced a postponement of the Santa Ana-Pomona game last Saturday, as well as the Riverside-Fullerton and San Bernardino-Citrus engagements.

Earl Homan, p; Bill McDaniel, c; Fred Bell, 1b; Hideo Higashi, or Art Wilde, 2b; Henry Thiery, ss; Joe Koral or Verl Moyer, 3b; Leo Morse, lf; Wendall Kanawyer, cf; and Harold Welty, rf, complete a tentative lineup which Coach Clyde Cook plans to start against Long Beach.

Pittsburgh Youth Football Casualty

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 1.—(UP)—The first death resulting from a footall injury in 1933 was recorded here when William Hall of Auburn, W. Va., a member of the Pittsburgh university grid squad, died yesterday. Physicians blamed tetanus resulting from an injury suffered a week ago in spring practice.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS By Laufer

Trout anglers of California look on the first of May as one of the red letter days of their calendars.

In most years, the fishing when the trout season opens is confined to bait angling because most of the streams are too high and too muddy for fly fishing. The past winter has been one of less than normal rainfall and as a result trout streams of the coastal areas have been low and clear for some weeks and should provide better sport than for many seasons.

Wardens of the Division of Fish and Game have been actively patrolling trout waters during the past few weeks to check those fishermen who get over zealous. Doing this work, they have been in a position to judge the fish life in the streams, and, according to their reports, anglers should find plenty of sport.

Heavy planting with sized fish by the Division of Fish and Game should result in excellent sport in such streams as the Santa Ana river, Deep creek, City creek, Lytle creek and the middle fork of Lytle creek. Water is clear and high in Lake Arrowhead. The trout are running larger than last year and hundreds of three and four-pound fish have been seen along the shores.

In the San Jacinto mountains, all trout waters have been heavily stocked from state hatcheries and will provide good fishing. Favorite streams in this section are the North Fork, Dark canyon, Fuller creek, Stone creek and Strawberry creek. In San Diego county, trout fishing should be very good, although the fish in that area will be small. Of course the black bass fishing of that area is providing exceptionally good sport.

Streams on the east side of the San Joaquin valley are attracting many Orange county anglers. The Kern river is high but at this time is very clear. This also applies to the Kaweah and Tule rivers. Most of the country back of Fresno is still inaccessible because of the heavy snows. Shaver Lake, of course, is open and trout and black bass fishing should be very good. The San Joaquin river, near Friant, should provide fair sport for trout and bass at the opening of the season.

VINES OFF FOR EAST: BELIEVES CUP WIN NEAR

PASADENA, May 1.—(UP)—Ellsworth Vines, National singles and doubles tennis champion, was to leave for the East today for another full season of international play.

Vines said he would concentrate his efforts on helping regain the Davis Cup from France.

The tall, 21-year-old Pasadena youth who won 13 singles and 11 doubles championships last spring, said he believed the United States could defeat France, despite playing conditions peculiar to France and the strength of the defending team.

Vines will defend his world's singles title at Wimbledon about a month before the final round of the Davis Cup play which the United States is expected to enter.

STANFORD TO SEND FULL TEAM TO IC4A

PALO ALTO, May 1.—(UP)—Stanford university will send a representative track team to Boston for the I. C. 4-A championships, May 26-27, it was announced today.

The board of athletic control voted to send a rounded squad east instead of a skeleton delegation as intended prior to Stanford's recent triumph over Southern

A new official family, headed by Dr. Garland C. Ross, had charge of the Santa Ana Country club today, following the annual election of officers of the golfing organization.

Dr. Ross succeeds W. D. Young, as president. Dean Collver is the new vice-president, Harvey A. Gardner, secretary, and J. E. Liebig, treasurer. Incoming directors are J. S. Fluor, C. P. Boyer and G. B. Shattuck. Holdover directors are J. B. Tucker, Dr. A. H. Domann, H. L. Miller and W. K. Hillyard.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pearce, for seven years in charge of the Elks club at Anaheim, have been appointed managers of the country club, succeeding T. F. McGilvray, whose resignation as of May 1 was recently accepted. The clubhouse cafe will be closed for a week while alterations are being made, it was announced.

THURSDAY NEW BOXING NIGHT AT DELHI CLUB

Beginning this week and continuing indefinitely, Thursday will be "Fight Night" at the Orange County Athletic club.

The Delhi arena will be closed tomorrow, inaugurating its new policy later in the week with an attractive card which features in the main event Frank ("Iron Man") Burke, hard-hitting light heavyweight who has won five straight here by knockouts.

Burke will go against Don McLean of San Gabriel, a big fellow who fought a draw at Burbank last Tuesday with Len Morgan who recently outpointed Burke. Matchmaker Kid Mexico says McLean will beat Burke in a close fight.

Raoul Solis, young Delhi featherweight who has been given two "home town" decisions in succession to retain his state championship belt, will meet Hugh Lacy in a rematch in Thursday's semi-final. Lacy was one of the victims of Referee Kim Pratt's mistakes.

MISS MARBLE BEATS S. A. GIRL AT OJAI

Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana tennis queen, was home today from Ojai where, in the thirty-eighth renewal of the historic annual Ojai Valley tournament, she finished as runner-up in the women's singles.

Alice Marble, San Francisco, No. 7 in National rankings, defeated Miss Cruickshank in the finals, 1-6, 6-4, 6-2. Miss Cruickshank had a two-love lead in the second set but Miss Marble came from behind to take the set, and thus encouraged, stroked to victory in the deciding set.

CLOSEST RACE IN HISTORY OF GAME EXPECTED

With brilliant prospects for the most interesting pennant fight in the brief history of the amazing summer sport, eight clubs will plunge headlong into the race tomorrow night.

Unprejudiced observers believe at least six of the flock stand an even chance of winning the championship—now held by Anaheim. Pre-season dope points to an absolutely wide-open struggle, and there is a possibility that first place will not be determined until the last night of the so-called "first half," which this year won't be the first half at all but a three-round schedule of 21 games, as against 14 in the "second half."

The season will be the longest in history, closing Tuesday, August 28, the annual playoffs following.

Favorites Meet First Night

Four white hot favorites collide in the season inaugural. Huntington Beach and Olive, which have been made first and second favorites, respectively, meet at Huntington Beach; and Santa Ana and Anaheim, the two teams that have long dominated the league, collide on Anaheim's city park diamond. Other games: Fullerton at Westminster; Torrance at Whittier.

The teams are to play five-times-around, reversing the field of play every time. This calls for a complete schedule of 35 contests.

Realizing the economic situation, the league had adopted a uniform admission rate of 15 cents, a reduction of 40 per cent over last year's tariff.

Four New Managers

The confederacy is again manned by George Peterkin, of Costa Mesa, president, and Lee McClelland, of Olive, secretary-treasurer.

Four new managers make their bow tomorrow night. "Eeny" Wilcox, youthful-veteran catcher, is now in charge of the Santa Ana Stars. Steven ("String") McDonnell, towering pitcher, is piloting Whittier's Poets. Herb Salveson, onetime Santa Ana boss, is running the rejuvenated Fullerton organization. Joe Rodgers, hustling veteran of "regular" baseball wars, is operating at Huntington Beach, and has assembled the club they say is the one to beat.

WESTMINSTER CLUB SIGNS 14 PLAYERS

WESTMINSTER, May 1.—With a last practice game scheduled here tonight with Highland, prior to the opening of the league ball season tomorrow with Fullerton, a tentative line-up of the Westminster team was announced by Manager Francis Penhall.

Fourteen players have been signed. They are catchers Clarence Hapes and Joe Hossack; pitchers Earl Morrill and Elwyn Errington; infielders Miller Dungan; Ray Smith, Allen Kidder and Cecil Sauers; outfielders Leonard Natland, Marvin Johnston, Leavitt Daley, Ray Burns, Bill Gardner and Boyd Davis. Chester Campbell is coach.

LADYSMAN AND CHARLEY O ARE DERBY CHOICES

BY KENNETH D. FRY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, May 1.—(UP)—Derby week in old Kentucky opens with the east pinning its hopes on the winter book favorite, W. R. Coe's Ladysman, and the west riding along with Charley O, the Hourless colt; Head Play, Mrs. Willie Crump's chestnut colt, and Broker's Tip, owned by Col. E. R. Bradley, who is seeking his fourth Derby purse.

The $50,000 added classic of the bluegrass country, ancient and colorful spectacle which will be reenacted at the historic Downs oval Saturday, is likely to bring a record field parading past the stands on the way to the barrier.

Despite the standout quality of Ladysman and the fine mile-and-a-quarter workout he turned in Saturday, there lingers a streak of doubt in the minds of horsemen whether a Pompey colt can stand the wear and tear of the route of round in competition with the best three-year-olds of the nation.

If Ladysman goes on parade Saturday he will be the first winter book favorite to run in the Kentucky Derby in three years. Equipoise and Top Flight received heavy play through the winter and spring months but they never faced the barrier in the Kentucky fixture. "Sonny" Workman will pilot Ladysman, and it will be his third assignment to hide the winter favorite.

On the face of late performances the race appears to be a four-horse affair, with Ladysman and Mr. Khayyam carrying eastern hopes and Head Play and Charley O loaded down with the bankrolls of the west. But it would be the kind of a field in which anything can happen, especially if traditional Derby weather brings torrents of rain and a gooey track.

SAINTS PICKED FOR SECOND IN LEAGUE FINALS

Conceded only an outside chance for the championship, but rated a good bet for second place, Coach "Chuck" Webber's Santa Ana high school squad goes to Glendale tomorrow for the tenth annual Coast Preparatory league track and field meet, postponed from Saturday. The affair will begin at 2 o'clock.

All dopesheets give Glendale's Dynamiters a mortgage on the title, won by Long Beach last year, and most of them figure the Saints to be runner-up. A well balanced team, strong in every event, gives Glendale a chance to break the scoring record of 54 points established in 1925 by San Diego. The Santa Ana troupe figures to make from 25 to 35.

Only one conference record will be in danger, that for the mile. San Diego's Evan Dowers ran 4:39 in 1930, and his standard may be bettered tomorrow by any of three milers—Johnson of Glendale, Roulac of Pasadena and Seja of Long Beach. Seja finished second last year.

HOLD JAYSEE MEET TRIALS WEDNESDAY

Preliminaries for the second annual Orange Empire conference track meet at San Bernardino Friday night will be conducted in the inland city Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Santa Ana, defending champion, does not anticipate victory this season, must be satisfied with a third or fourth. Riverside, Chaffey, San Bernardino, and possibly Fullerton are conceded places ahead of Coach Bill Cook's crippled squad.

Captain Jim Daneri, Santa Ana's iron-man, promises to be one of the outstanding figures of both the preliminaries and finals. He will concentrate on the javelin, discus and shot put.

SEES VAULT OF 15 FEET

A. C. Gilbert, Yale track coach, predicts that a height of 15 feet will be reached in the pole vault soon.

SANTA ANITA EVENS HANCOCK OIL SERIES

Santa Anita (California Star Flour) squared its two-out-of-three series with Hancock Oil yesterday by defeating the Santa Ana ball club, 8-1, at Santa Anita park. Ten errors behind Pitcher Joe Erwin cost the Oilers all chance. The teams meet for the third and last time next Sunday. The score:

COUNCIL TO GET SECOND PETITION

TUSTIN, May 1.—A second petition asking for an election on disincorporation of Tustin will be presented at the city council meeting this evening, according to reports. It is understood that the first petition did not comply with article 1083 of the state political code which requires signers to place the date of signing after their names.

Out of 180 signatures on the petition presented to the council at the last meeting on April 17, it was found that 165 of the signatures were of qualified voters, it is reported.

Only 70 signatures, or one-half of the number of electors as shown by the vote cast at the last municipal election, are necessary on a disincorporation petition. There were 137 votes cast at the last municipal election.

Many interested voters and property owners are expected to be present at the council meeting Monday night.

COUNCIL TO GET SECOND PETITION

TUSTIN, May 1.—A second petition asking for an election on disincorporation of Tustin will be presented at the city council meeting this evening, according to reports. It is understood that the first petition did not comply with article 1083 of the state political code which requires signers to place the date of signing after their names.

Out of 180 signatures on the petition presented to the council at the last meeting on April 17, it was found that 165 of the signatures were of qualified voters, it is reported.

Only 70 signatures, or one-half of the number of electors as shown by the vote cast at the last municipal election, are necessary on a disincorporation petition. There were 137 votes cast at the last municipal election.

Many interested voters and property owners are expected to be present at the council meeting Monday night.

COURT BREAKS MARITAL TIES THREE COUPLES

Two marriages were annulled and one divorce decree was granted Friday by Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Mrs. Myrtle Stocks had her marriage to Larry Stocks annulled when she told the court that her husband had represented himself to be a man of wealth before their marriage. On their wedding day, July 31, 1932, he told her that on the next day he would collect a large sum of money but was temporarily without funds, so she loaned him $50 for the wedding and honeymoon.

After the wedding Mrs. Stock alleged she discovered that her husband was without money and did not intend to work. They separated October 1, 1932.

Charles F. Kohlenberger had his marriage to Pauline Kohlenberger annulled on his charge that after the wedding day, July 21, 1932, his wife declined to be a wife in anything but name. He said that except on the day of their marriage his wife declined to consummate the marriage.

Mrs. Maggie Carlile was granted a divorce from Elijah Carlile on her charge of desertion and failure to provide. The Carliles were married April 6, 1929, and separated July 6, 1931.

Picnics and Reunions

Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee

Three great state picnics will be held in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, all day Saturday, May 6, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas. Each will have a separate section of the park and will open county registers and headquarters. There will be a joint program after the basket dinner hour with community singing, brief talks. Each state will take part in the program in some way.

FRESH SEA FOODS NOW AT MARKET

The new market will be under the personal supervision of J. D. Jeanes, who has been in the wholesale fish business in and around Newport Beach for more than 10 years.

His connections with local fishermen will assure customers that the very freshest sea foods will be offered at all times and that the prices quoted to the retail trade will be decidedly lower than heretofore, as all middleman's profits will be eliminated. No fish will be brought in from outside sources that can be obtained from the local fishing fleet.

LEWIS SECURES RARE TROPICAL FISH, ANIMALS

Returning from a 12,000 mile cruise that lasted over a period of five months, Fred E. Lewis has arrived in Newport Harbor aboard his cruiser, the 'Stranger."

Most of the time was spent in cruising among the islands in tropical seas in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, the purpose of the voyage being to collect live tropical fish for the Steinhardt aquarium at San Francisco; birds, snakes and land tortoises for the Zoological society of San Diego, and to collect data and take pictures along the way. T. G. Ross, of Santa Barbara, went with the party as photographer.

When the ship landed at Lewis' private dock at Balboa it still had on board 350 rare and beautiful fish that had been taken from the waters along the western coast of Mexico and Central America, below the equator around the Galapagos islands, in the Gulf of Mexico along the southern coast of Florida, and in Carribean sea waters among the West Indies and the Bahamas.

Unusual Specimens

Several varieties were caught on this cruise that have never been taken before, Lewis said. Specimen caught ranged all the way from the tiny zebra striped fish, the size of a postage stamp, to a large unidentified blue - grey speckled fish weighing 10 to 12 pounds. One tank of a variety of yellow-bellied sea snake, asserted to be as poisonous as the cobra, was included in the collection. A small sea-horse, many varicolored star fish, and other bottom shell fish and crabs were included in the catch. Lewis is stocking his private aquarium with some of the smaller, fancy-colored kinds, and will take the rest of the collection to San Francisco soon. The water in the tanks in which the fish are kept has to be held at a temperature of approximately 75 degrees. They are fed twice a week, ordinary sea foods being used in their diet.

In addition to the fish, 100 land snakes, including rattlers, boas and many unidentified varieties were taken; 50 tropical birds, among which were penguins from the Galapagos islands; highly colored macaws; one rare breed of flamingo, and several flightless cormorants. The latter are believed to have lived undisturbed for so long a time that they have lost the use of their wings, and now they can only run and swim.

Huge Tortoises

Seventy-five small animals were brought back, some of them unidentified. Sixteen rare land tortoises were captured on the Galapagos islands, one a monster weighing 475 pounds, believed to be one of the largest ever to be taken from these islands. It took the entire ship's crew two days to cut a road through the dense underbrush and trees and bring it to the ship. Several crocodiles were taken as the "Stranger" wended her way back along the west coast of Mexico. One crocodile laid 44 eggs while on board ship.

Stops were made at Cocos island, made famous by Robert Louis Stevenson's book, "Treasure Island"; Maria Madre island, the Mexican penal colony where 800 prisoners are incarcerated; and the island of Coiba, which is a penal colony for Panama. The prisoners on these islands are almost 100 per cent self supporting, Lewis said.

Several specimens were picked up for the Kerckhoff Marine laboratory of the California Institute of Technology.

FEDERAL PRISONERS LEAVE FOR TRIALS

Three Federal prisoners held in the Orange county jail for the past several days have been taken out to be taken to three different sections of the United States to stand trial.

Dedric Sterns, charged with fraud, left here for Detroit to stand trial; Lou Kerr, goes to Pittsburgh to stand trial for violation of the Mann act and Perone Gardner, is on his way to Carson City, Nev., to be tried for perjury.

Margaret Morgan, 32, nurse, of Las Vegas, N. M., has been booked at the county jail as a federal prisoner, having been brought here from Los Angeles. She is charged with violation of the liquor laws.

COURT BREAKS MARITAL TIES THREE COUPLES

Two marriages were annulled and one divorce decree was granted Friday by Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Mrs. Myrtle Stocks had her marriage to Larry Stocks annulled when she told the court that her husband had represented himself to be a man of wealth before their marriage. On their wedding day, July 31, 1932, he told her that on the next day he would collect a large sum of money but was temporarily without funds, so she loaned him $50 for the wedding and honeymoon.

After the wedding Mrs. Stock alleged she discovered that her husband was without money and did not intend to work. They separated October 1, 1932.

Charles F. Kohlenberger had his marriage to Pauline Kohlenberger annulled on his charge that after the wedding day, July 21, 1932, his wife declined to be a wife in anything but name. He said that except on the day of their marriage his wife declined to consummate the marriage.

Mrs. Maggie Carlile was granted a divorce from Elijah Carlile on her charge of desertion and failure to provide. The Carliles were married April 6, 1929, and separated July 6, 1931.

FRESH SEA FOODS NOW AT MARKET

The new market will be under the personal supervision of J. D. Jeanes, who has been in the wholesale fish business in and around Newport Beach for more than 10 years.

His connections with local fishermen will assure customers that the very freshest sea foods will be offered at all times and that the prices quoted to the retail trade will be decidedly lower than heretofore, as all middleman's profits will be eliminated. No fish will be brought in from outside sources that can be obtained from the local fishing fleet.

LEWIS SECURES RARE TROPICAL FISH, ANIMALS

Returning from a 12,000 mile cruise that lasted over a period of five months, Fred E. Lewis has arrived in Newport Harbor aboard his cruiser, the 'Stranger."

Most of the time was spent in cruising among the islands in tropical seas in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, the purpose of the voyage being to collect live tropical fish for the Steinhardt aquarium at San Francisco; birds, snakes and land tortoises for the Zoological society of San Diego, and to collect data and take pictures along the way. T. G. Ross, of Santa Barbara, went with the party as photographer.

When the ship landed at Lewis' private dock at Balboa it still had on board 350 rare and beautiful fish that had been taken from the waters along the western coast of Mexico and Central America, below the equator around the Galapagos islands, in the Gulf of Mexico along the southern coast of Florida, and in Carribean sea waters among the West Indies and the Bahamas.

Unusual Specimens

Several varieties were caught on this cruise that have never been taken before, Lewis said. Specimen caught ranged all the way from the tiny zebra striped fish, the size of a postage stamp, to a large unidentified blue - grey speckled fish weighing 10 to 12 pounds. One tank of a variety of yellow-bellied sea snake, asserted to be as poisonous as the cobra, was included in the collection. A small sea-horse, many varicolored star fish, and other bottom shell fish and crabs were included in the catch. Lewis is stocking his private aquarium with some of the smaller, fancy-colored kinds, and will take the rest of the collection to San Francisco soon. The water in the tanks in which the fish are kept has to be held at a temperature of approximately 75 degrees. They are fed twice a week, ordinary sea foods being used in their diet.

In addition to the fish, 100 land snakes, including rattlers, boas and many unidentified varieties were taken; 50 tropical birds, among which were penguins from the Galapagos islands; highly colored macaws; one rare breed of flamingo, and several flightless cormorants. The latter are believed to have lived undisturbed for so long a time that they have lost the use of their wings, and now they can only run and swim.

Huge Tortoises

Seventy-five small animals were brought back, some of them unidentified. Sixteen rare land tortoises were captured on the Galapagos islands, one a monster weighing 475 pounds, believed to be one of the largest ever to be taken from these islands. It took the entire ship's crew two days to cut a road through the dense underbrush and trees and bring it to the ship. Several crocodiles were taken as the "Stranger" wended her way back along the west coast of Mexico. One crocodile laid 44 eggs while on board ship.

Stops were made at Cocos island, made famous by Robert Louis Stevenson's book, "Treasure Island"; Maria Madre island, the Mexican penal colony where 800 prisoners are incarcerated; and the island of Coiba, which is a penal colony for Panama. The prisoners on these islands are almost 100 per cent self supporting, Lewis said.

Several specimens were picked up for the Kerckhoff Marine laboratory of the California Institute of Technology.

FEDERAL PRISONERS LEAVE FOR TRIALS

Three Federal prisoners held in the Orange county jail for the past several days have been taken out to be taken to three different sections of the United States to stand trial.

Dedric Sterns, charged with fraud, left here for Detroit to stand trial; Lou Kerr, goes to Pittsburgh to stand trial for violation of the Mann act and Perone Gardner, is on his way to Carson City, Nev., to be tried for perjury.

Margaret Morgan, 32, nurse, of Las Vegas, N. M., has been booked at the county jail as a federal prisoner, having been brought here from Los Angeles. She is charged with violation of the liquor laws.

MUSIC ARTS CLUB PROGRAM TUESDAY NIGHT

With a program calculated to satisfy the most critical music lover, the famous Santa Ana Municipal band, directed by D. C. Cianfoni, will present the first of the concerts observing National Music Week in the auditorium of the Santa Ana high school at 8 o'clock tonight.

Besides the varied program of musical selections to be played by the band, three selections will be presented by the Bel Canto club, under the direction of E. M. Waycott. The group will sing "Carmena" by Wilson, "Eleanor" by Deppen and "Let All My Life Be Music," by Strauss. The accompanist is Helen Lutz.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock the Musical Arts club will present an elaborate program of varied entertainment. A novel feature of the program is that the club members will conduct a regular meeting on the stage, with the audience as guests. Ollimae Enlowe Matthews is president and Holly Lash Visel is program chairman.

The first number on the Tuesday program is the "Greeting Song," composed by Earl Fraser. This will be followed by a brief address concerning music to be made by the Rev. Harry E. Owings, minister of the First Baptist church.

The Musical Arts club Ladies' octette will be featured in a group of numbers. Julian Mathews will play a cornet solo, and Holly Lash Visel will present vocal selections. "Organ Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" by Bach-Tausig will be presented by Clarence Gustlin, famous local pianist.

Another novel part of the program will be a jazz-classical debate which will be staged.

A special number on the program will be a violin solo, "Song for Violin," writen by Louis Danz of Anaheim, which was dedicated to Ollimae Enlow Matthews. The composer will be at the piano.

The Santa Ana Elks Double quartet, well known throughout Southern California for their work, will also be heard on the program, which will conclude with the presentation of "Auld Lang Syne."

The Wednesday program will be under the direction of Sol Gonzales and will feature Spanish music. The Thursday program will consist of an operetta by Lathrop Junior High school students, and the oratorio, "Creation" sponsored by the Elks lodge, will be given on Friday night.

DRIVES PAST SCHOOL BUS, GETS $50 FINE

Constance Bennett, Los Angeles girl, arrested several days ago on a charge of passing a school bus while it was discharging passengers, pleaded guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court Saturday and was fined $50.

Miss Bennett did not appear herself but was represented by an automobile club of which she is a member. She paid $10 of the fine and is to pay the balance in monthly installments.

She was arrested by California Highway Patrol Officer Lloyd Groover, who charged that she refused to sign a ticket on the road at the time. He brought her into court immediately and when threatened with jail she signed.

WILLARD HIGH STUDENT WINS ART CONTEST

Miss Thelma Sharp, student at the Frances Willard Junior High school, today claimed first prize in the sixth annual poster contest for the Ebell Flower show as a result of judging of 35 entrants in the art competition. Judging was accomplished by Miss Frances Egge of Santa Ana High school art department and announcement of prize winners was made through Miss Hazel Nell Bemus of the city schools art and visual education department, and Ebell garden section officials.

Second and third awards went to Miss Elizabeth Bittle, also of the Willard school, and to Miss Helen Motley of Lathrop school. Three awards of honorable mention were allowed Miss Betty Schulacher of Lathrop school, Miss Mary Jean Stever, Willard school, and Miss Muriel Jones, Willard. Credit also was given instructors in art, these including Miss Helen Glancy and Miss Marian K. Libby of Willard, and Miss Mildred Tummond, of Lathrop.

Miss Sharp's winning poster, described as "perfect art work," pictures a single immense canterbury bell, in four shades of purple, against a tan background. Sky blue stripes and black lettering complete the striking ensemble. Excellent also is Miss Bittle's poster, featuring a calla lily of conventional design, in tones of blues and browns, with deep blue lettering. The calla lily also is employed in Miss Motley's design, which emphasizes yellow and orange coloring against a pale green background.

Work of exceptional quality was represented in the posters submitted this year by the 35 student competitors who include, in addition to prize winners, the following Willard school pupils: ninth grade, Isabel Flores, Morris Cohes, Ellen Raitt, Beth Emison, Barbara Paul, Virginia Garrett, Kay Everson, Eleanor Austin, Wanda Todd, Betty West; eighth grade, Carol Rogers, Jimmie Tucker; seventh grade, Carroll Burgess, Joan Bray, Dorothy Philbrook, Hunter Adams, Donaletha Minter, Frances Kallan.

Lathrop school: Fae Ward, Albert Wright, Betty Carson, Allan Ritter, Philip Douds, Roberta Shafer, Dorothy Stillwell, Shirley McPhee, Ruth Liggett, Erma Swartz.

Santa Ana junior high schools yearly devote the month of April to posters for various civic projects, a concentration to which Miss Bemus attributes the high grade of work. The students have divided their efforts this month among some half dozen local ventures.

Hunk Anderson, Notre Dame football mentor, advances the information that Mike Koken, shifty little Irish back of last year, may be assistant to Jimmy Crowley at Fordham, or occupy a similar post at Michigan State this football season.

COMPLETION OF CITRUS MARKET PLAN NEARING

Decision to go ahead with the Valencia orange marketing agreement has been reached as result of a meeting of members of the stabilization committee of the Associated Citrus Growers' and Inter-County Farm Bureau in Riverside.

According to Dr. D. D. Waynick of Anaheim, chairman of the stabilization committee it was decided to go ahead with the stabilization program. Details of the arrangement will be incorporated in a report expected to be released Wednesday. This report, Waynick said, will contain regulations under which the program will be operated.

Waynick said that members of the committee are confident that by the middle of the week the agreement will have the necessary 90 per cent support from packing houses of Southern California. Confident of securing the necessary control with which to make the program effective members of the committee have taken the initial step toward setting up the machinery to control shipments.

Orange county men attending the conference were as follows: Dr. Waynick, chairman, Perry Mathis and J. A. Baker, of Anaheim; Jack Crill of Garden Grove; A. J. Cruickshank and Arthur McFadden, of Santa Ana.

Waynick said that reports submitted to the committee showed the signatures to be very close to the 90 per cent mark and with sufficient support pledged to put the project beyond the goal by the middle of next week.

Meanwhile, the marketing organizations were requested to be prepared to appoint members to three committees which will handle the actual prorating of shipments. On each of these committees the ratio of membership will be the same—three members from the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, two from the Mutual Orange Distributors, and two from the independents.

Two separate agreements, one each for navel and Valencia shippers, have been drawn up by the stabilization committee. As the navel crop is nearly cleaned up the principal test of shipment regulations will be made in this county where the groves are predominantly Valencias.

VIOLATIONS OF DRY LAW WILL BE PROSECUTED

The only test cases involving the Orange county liquor ordinance that will get into court are cases where violators of the law have been arrested by the sheriff's office, according to District Attorney S. B. Kaufman today.

Kaufman, commenting on an offer of George Bush, Sunset Beach attorney, to provide a defendant, prosecuting witness and evidence, said, "As far as I am concerned the county dry ordinance has been tried and upheld in court here. Any prosecutions will not be tests but prosecutions."

Kaufman said that denial of the petition for a writ of habeas corpus to Frank Haegele, Sunset Beach cafe proprietor upheld the county ordinance.

Bush had proposed to test the two sections of the ordinance which declared "the transportation of any intoxicating liquor within the county," and "the possession of intoxicating liquor on any public highway" a crime.

Kaufman said that if any individual transports liquor upon the highways or has it in his possession on the highways he is violating the county ordinance and will be prosecuted when arrested.

MUSIC ARTS CLUB PROGRAM TUESDAY NIGHT

With a program calculated to satisfy the most critical music lover, the famous Santa Ana Municipal band, directed by D. C. Cianfoni, will present the first of the concerts observing National Music Week in the auditorium of the Santa Ana high school at 8 o'clock tonight.

Besides the varied program of musical selections to be played by the band, three selections will be presented by the Bel Canto club, under the direction of E. M. Waycott. The group will sing "Carmena" by Wilson, "Eleanor" by Deppen and "Let All My Life Be Music," by Strauss. The accompanist is Helen Lutz.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock the Musical Arts club will present an elaborate program of varied entertainment. A novel feature of the program is that the club members will conduct a regular meeting on the stage, with the audience as guests. Ollimae Enlowe Matthews is president and Holly Lash Visel is program chairman.

The first number on the Tuesday program is the "Greeting Song," composed by Earl Fraser. This will be followed by a brief address concerning music to be made by the Rev. Harry E. Owings, minister of the First Baptist church.

The Musical Arts club Ladies' octette will be featured in a group of numbers. Julian Mathews will play a cornet solo, and Holly Lash Visel will present vocal selections. "Organ Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" by Bach-Tausig will be presented by Clarence Gustlin, famous local pianist.

Another novel part of the program will be a jazz-classical debate which will be staged.

A special number on the program will be a violin solo, "Song for Violin," writen by Louis Danz of Anaheim, which was dedicated to Ollimae Enlow Matthews. The composer will be at the piano.

The Santa Ana Elks Double quartet, well known throughout Southern California for their work, will also be heard on the program, which will conclude with the presentation of "Auld Lang Syne."

The Wednesday program will be under the direction of Sol Gonzales and will feature Spanish music. The Thursday program will consist of an operetta by Lathrop Junior High school students, and the oratorio, "Creation" sponsored by the Elks lodge, will be given on Friday night.

DRIVES PAST SCHOOL BUS, GETS $50 FINE

Constance Bennett, Los Angeles girl, arrested several days ago on a charge of passing a school bus while it was discharging passengers, pleaded guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court Saturday and was fined $50.

Miss Bennett did not appear herself but was represented by an automobile club of which she is a member. She paid $10 of the fine and is to pay the balance in monthly installments.

She was arrested by California Highway Patrol Officer Lloyd Groover, who charged that she refused to sign a ticket on the road at the time. He brought her into court immediately and when threatened with jail she signed.

WILLARD HIGH STUDENT WINS ART CONTEST

Miss Thelma Sharp, student at the Frances Willard Junior High school, today claimed first prize in the sixth annual poster contest for the Ebell Flower show as a result of judging of 35 entrants in the art competition. Judging was accomplished by Miss Frances Egge of Santa Ana High school art department and announcement of prize winners was made through Miss Hazel Nell Bemus of the city schools art and visual education department, and Ebell garden section officials.

Second and third awards went to Miss Elizabeth Bittle, also of the Willard school, and to Miss Helen Motley of Lathrop school. Three awards of honorable mention were allowed Miss Betty Schulacher of Lathrop school, Miss Mary Jean Stever, Willard school, and Miss Muriel Jones, Willard. Credit also was given instructors in art, these including Miss Helen Glancy and Miss Marian K. Libby of Willard, and Miss Mildred Tummond, of Lathrop.

Miss Sharp's winning poster, described as "perfect art work," pictures a single immense canterbury bell, in four shades of purple, against a tan background. Sky blue stripes and black lettering complete the striking ensemble. Excellent also is Miss Bittle's poster, featuring a calla lily of conventional design, in tones of blues and browns, with deep blue lettering. The calla lily also is employed in Miss Motley's design, which emphasizes yellow and orange coloring against a pale green background.

Work of exceptional quality was represented in the posters submitted this year by the 35 student competitors who include, in addition to prize winners, the following Willard school pupils: ninth grade, Isabel Flores, Morris Cohes, Ellen Raitt, Beth Emison, Barbara Paul, Virginia Garrett, Kay Everson, Eleanor Austin, Wanda Todd, Betty West; eighth grade, Carol Rogers, Jimmie Tucker; seventh grade, Carroll Burgess, Joan Bray, Dorothy Philbrook, Hunter Adams, Donaletha Minter, Frances Kallan.

Lathrop school: Fae Ward, Albert Wright, Betty Carson, Allan Ritter, Philip Douds, Roberta Shafer, Dorothy Stillwell, Shirley McPhee, Ruth Liggett, Erma Swartz.

Santa Ana junior high schools yearly devote the month of April to posters for various civic projects, a concentration to which Miss Bemus attributes the high grade of work. The students have divided their efforts this month among some half dozen local ventures.

Hunk Anderson, Notre Dame football mentor, advances the information that Mike Koken, shifty little Irish back of last year, may be assistant to Jimmy Crowley at Fordham, or occupy a similar post at Michigan State this football season.

COMPLETION OF CITRUS MARKET PLAN NEARING

Decision to go ahead with the Valencia orange marketing agreement has been reached as result of a meeting of members of the stabilization committee of the Associated Citrus Growers' and Inter-County Farm Bureau in Riverside.

According to Dr. D. D. Waynick of Anaheim, chairman of the stabilization committee it was decided to go ahead with the stabilization program. Details of the arrangement will be incorporated in a report expected to be released Wednesday. This report, Waynick said, will contain regulations under which the program will be operated.

Waynick said that members of the committee are confident that by the middle of the week the agreement will have the necessary 90 per cent support from packing houses of Southern California. Confident of securing the necessary control with which to make the program effective members of the committee have taken the initial step toward setting up the machinery to control shipments.

Orange county men attending the conference were as follows: Dr. Waynick, chairman, Perry Mathis and J. A. Baker, of Anaheim; Jack Crill of Garden Grove; A. J. Cruickshank and Arthur McFadden, of Santa Ana.

Waynick said that reports submitted to the committee showed the signatures to be very close to the 90 per cent mark and with sufficient support pledged to put the project beyond the goal by the middle of next week.

Meanwhile, the marketing organizations were requested to be prepared to appoint members to three committees which will handle the actual prorating of shipments. On each of these committees the ratio of membership will be the same—three members from the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, two from the Mutual Orange Distributors, and two from the Independents.

Two separate agreements, one each for navel and Valencia shippers, have been drawn up by the stabilization committee. As the navel crop is nearly cleaned up the principal test of shipment regulations will be made in this county where the groves are predominantly Valencias.

Native Daughters

A memorable day at Orange County Health camp was spent Thursday by Santa Ana parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, who, well supplied with needles and thimbles, motored to the camp in the forenoon hours for a day of sewing. They accomplished a world of mending and repair work for children in the camp, varying their labors with a tour of inspection of school rooms, dormitories and camp equipment.

At noon all joined in a picnic dinner before resuming their needlework. The rain of the late afternoon, instead of dampening their enthusiasm, increased it because of the beauty of the hills in the showers.

In the party were Mesdames Myrtle Ellis, Elizabeth Macsile, Elva Selvidge, May West, Ina Cope, Naomi Schonroch, Alice Rogers, Ruth Anderson, Marguerite Cramer, Olive Seba, Muriel Bray, Matilda Lemon, Olive Witte, Gertrude Etzold, Mildred Gray, Eunice Fox, Florence Watson, Rose Ford, and two visitors, Edith Jarrell and Bertha Tillotson.

Miss Mary Jane Owens Weds Arizonan at Home Rites

Surrounded by immediate members of the two family circles, and by the close friends with whom the bride has grown from childhood, Miss Mary Jane Owens of this city, and Spencer Stewart of Mesa, Ariz., yesterday exchanged nuptial vows at a ceremony of distinctive beauty, held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Owens, 214 Owens drive.

Decorative Plans

Guests assembling for the 4 o'clock rites, were greeted by Mrs. Ira J. Owens, handsome in a gown of blue flowered crepe worn with corsage bouquet of pink roses. The home was fragrant with flowers, each room presenting a special color scheme. The entrance hall in Spanish iris and white sweet peas, was fitting introduction to the drawing room where cool bridal white prevailed. Here a great screen of green ferns starred with white hawthorn, had been arranged for the ceremony itself. Tall baskets of syringas at either side of the screen, were flanked by candelabra, each bearing its quota of white cathedral candles.

In the music room, whose floral theme was white with touches of blue Spanish iris, the Santa Ana String trio, Georgia Belle Walton, Ruth Armstrong and Edward H. Burns, played continuously, selecting such bridal music as "At Dawning" (Cadman); Grieg's "Ich Liebe Dich"; and "Liebestraum" by Liszt, with DeKoven's "O Promise Me" as a violin solo by Miss Walton, and "I Love You Truly" (Bond) as a cello solo by Mr. Burns.

Entry of Bride

Lohengrin's Wedding March signalized the entry of the bridal party. The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of First Baptist church, and Mr. Stewart took their station at the altar to await the bride, who, on the arm of her father, descended the stairs in her stately young loveliness. Tall and dark-eyed, Miss Owens was regal in her heavy white crepe gown, whose long and graceful lines were emphasized by the sleeves, close-fitting and ended with long points. With this, she wore a white crepe turban with tiny flaring veil, and carried a great sheaf of bride roses.

Briday traditions were observed with the pearls worn by her sister, Mrs. Maurice Enderle (Harriet Owens) upon the occasion of her marriage; the amethyse engagement ring of her grandmother, Mrs. Wallace; an heirloom bracelet with blue gems, belonging to her college roommate, Miss Margaret Weeks of Santa Barbara, and the lace handkerchief carried at their weddings by three of her closest friends, Mrs. Stanley Anderson, (Lucille Bales,) Mrs. Frank Harrington, (Juanita James,) and Mrs. Warren Wilson, (Helen Battey).

Bevy of Aides

The Episcopal marriage service read by the Rev. Mr. Owings, was followed by felicitations and the serving of refreshments in a dining room blazing with red roses and vivid sweet peas, against which the table in bridal white, was very effective. The new Mrs. Stewart cut the first slice of the bride's cake, whose serving, with other dainties, was accomplished by the Misses Clara Kate Owens, Ruth Owens, Margaret Weeks, Florence Brownridge, Dorothy Diehl and Martha Wallingford, with Mrs. Maurice Enderle and Mrs. Horace J. Howard, presiding. Mrs. Enderle wore black chiffon and Mrs. Howard was in a triple sheer crepe ensemble of tangerine and white. The other two sisters were charmingly gowned also, Miss Clara Kate Owens in orange crepe with lace bodice, and Miss Ruth Owens in poudre blue crepe.

Before her departure with her husband for their honeymoon trip via San Diego to Mesa, Mrs. Stewart tossed her bridal roses from the top of the stairs, and they were caught by Miss Dorothy Beals. For traveling the bride wore a two-piece ensemble of pin striped navy blue triple sheer crepe with white accessories.

They will make their home in Mesa, Ariz., where Mr. Stewart is in the insurance and real estate business with his father, W. R. Stewart. He attended Santa Ana Junior college before completing at University of Arizona where he was affiliated with Beta Chi fraternity. His bride attended University of Washington after graduating from Santa Ana High school and Junior college, and is a member of Alpha Phi sorority.

Bidden to the wedding in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Owens, their daughters and son of the home, the Misses Clara Kate and Ruth Owens and Claude Owens, were Mrs. Seeber and Jack Stewart of this city, sister and brother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Enderle and sons, Wallace and Allen; Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Howard and children, Frances and Jerry jr., and little Miss Kathleen Cox, a niece.

Outdoor Setting Given Afternoon Ceremony Of Charm

The springtime beauty of the patio of the C. F. Campbell home, 2417 Valencia street, provided an ideal background for the marriage yesterday afternoon of Miss Ruth Campbell to Edmund J. Kotlar.

A natural canopy effect at once side of the home contributed to the effectiveness of a bridal scene complete with tall baskets of flowers, potted ferns, palms and shrubbery of all kinds.

Many of the lovely blooms used in decorating were in yellow and blue, in keeping with the tints of Miss Campbell's costume. Given in marriage by her father, C. F. Campbell, she was lovely in a turquoise blue lace gown with satin bodice and full modish sleeves. Her close fitting hat was of matching lace, and her flowers were yellow roses and lilies of the valley arranged in a shower bouquet.

The Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, officiated at the ceremony, read at 3 o'clock. Miss Mary Jean Stever was at the piano playing Lohengrin's Wedding march for the entrance of the bridal group.

J. M. Campbell of this city, a brother to the bride, attended Mr. Kotlar as best man.

The 50 guests in attendance at the ceremony took part in a reception. The bride's mother, Mrs. C. F. Campbell, was charming in a dress of Eleanor blue crepe, with which she wore a corsage of gardenias.

Decorative details included pink tulips, stocks and a variety of flowers in yellow and blue. Refreshments were served buffet style from a large table whose centerpiece was of yellow sweet peas, delphinium, ranunculas and baby breath. Tall blue tapers lighting the scene, rose from mounds of sweet peas. Mrs. P. C. Alspaugh of Canoga Park served from the table, refreshments including a wedding cake.

The new Mrs. Kotlar wore a green suit with grey accessories for traveling, she and Mr. Kotlar leaving early in the evening for a trip to Columbus, Neb., where his parents make their home. The bride and bridegroom plan to make a leisurely trip east, returning here to make their home about July 1.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast

1 Sliced orange without sugar
½ Cup puffed cereal with
¼ cup whole milk, no sugar
1 thin slice bran bread toast
½ tsp. butter for toast
1 cup coffee with ¼ cup hot skim milk.
Calory total—350

Substitute strawberries, now in market, for the sliced orange, if desired. But use not more than ½ cup of berries and 1 scant tsp. of sugar. No cream permitted, of course.

When all food palls on that "Spring Fever" appetite of yours try eating a meal of just one article instead of the usual hodge-podge. Personally,I'm all for spinach and I have a pet way of serving it that may appeal to you for this particular need.

After cooking the spinach in what water clings to the leaves when lifted from the rinse water, chop it fine and rub through a colander or run through the food chopper . . . anything . . . just so you get a puree. Put a small cuofful of the puree in a frying pan over a low flame. Add a little butter, salt and pepper. Stir until very hot, then add two tablespoonfuls of whipping cream, a scant teaspoonful of sugar and a tiny bit of NUTMEG. Stir briskly until cream boils, then heap the spinach on a slice of hot toast and garnish with a halved hard boiled egg, cut side up.

The calory value of this spinach dish is just 470. Drink clear tea or milk with it, and call it a "square meal", for that's exactly what it is.

Frothed Cafe Au Lait

Strong hot coffee
Scalded skim milk
1 stiffly whipped egg white
1 Tbsps sugar for egg
Hot coffee cups.

This method of serving coffee is ideal for reducing meals. Indeed, you'll be doing your friends a service if you serve this kind of coffee when you entertain. They get all the pleasure of rich coffee without any of its fatal fat-making results.

For each cup of coffee use 1-2 cup of skim milk, brought almost to a boil. Have the cups hot, the coffee at the boil, the egg white beaten stiff and sweetened with 3 tablespoonfuls of sugar.

Fill each cup slightly less than half full with hot milk, drop a spoonful of the whipped white on the hot milk, pour the coffee into the egg white and serve it, beautifully frothed and fragrant.

A cupful of Frothed Cafe au Lait has a calory value of 75, most of this total belonging to the sugar.

To left-over breakfast coffee add one-third the amount of hot skim milk, cool, then chill. At serving time put some crushed ice in the bottom of a tall glass along with a small spoonful of whipped cream. Fill the glass with the chilled cafe au lait and serve with powdered sugar.

Tuesday: Hot sponge cake with fresh berry sauce.

All-Day Bridge Club Has Meeting With Mrs. West

The pleasant home of Mrs. William A. West on West Seventeenth street, was rendezvous last week for members of an informal little club of bridge players who hold monthly all-day sessions. Their arrival at the West home in the forenoon hours, was followed by a few rounds of bridge which yielded in turn to a luncheon menu served at mid-day.

Table appointments included the loveliest of roses and sweet peas completing an attractive floral display which marked the entire home. Bridge games of the afternoon were interrupted by a social interval, an unusual feature of which was the hearing of letters which Mrs. John Pearsall of Long Beach, had received from her husband, Dr. John Pearsall, now in China on a governmental commission. One of the letters was written especially to be read at this particular club meeting.

Mrs. Pearsall, an accomplished musician, also added several songs and piano selections to the entertainment.

Mrs. West presented attractive prizes to Mrs. Henry Walters and Mrs. Raymond Crum, holders of first and second high scores. To complete her hospitality, she served a delicious chicken dinner before the guests dispersed to seek their several homes.

In the party were Mrs. Raymond Crum, Mrs. William Mize, Mrs. Valmer Clark and Mrs. Henry Walters of this city; Mrs. John Lacy, Mrs. William Bernice, and Mrs. John Pearsall of Long Beach, and the hostess, Mrs. West. The same group will be entertained in May by Mrs. Crum in her home, 819 North Van Ness avenue.

Job's Daughters

Succeeding the regular chapter meeting of Santa Ana bethel Job's Daughters in Masonic temple last week, was a pleasant affair to which the Daughters had bidden a group of their friends to meet with them in the lounge of the temple. Mrs. B. H. Baker, councilor, was introduced as one of the honor guests.

Tables were placed for court whist, and tally cards distributed for the contest were attractive in their pastel colorings to harmonize with the flowers which played prominent part in the decorative scheme. Miss Thelma Jennings made the evening's high score and was appropriately rewarded while consolation gift went to Miss Lucille Schieber.

For refreshments, the tables were charming with deep red rosebuds wreathed with maidenhair fern. Miss Mildred Pearson, general chairman on arrangements, was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Leslie M. Pearson, and by a group of bethel members, the Misses Dorothy White, Maryjean Du Bois, Charlotte McCausland and the honored queen, Margaret Sawyer. Miss Sawyer's artistic work was seen in the pretty score cards and in favors of bright-hued parrots.

Native Daughters

A memorable day at Orange County Health camp was spent Thursday by Santa Ana parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, who, well supplied with needles and thimbles, motored to the camp in the forenoon hours for a day of sewing. They accomplished a world of mending and repair work for children in the camp, varying their labors with a tour of inspection of school rooms, dormitories and camp equipment.

At noon all joined in a picnic dinner before resuming their needlework. The rain of the late afternoon, instead of dampening their enthusiasm, increased it because of the beauty of the hills in the showers.

In the party were Mesdames Myrtle Ellis, Elizabeth Marsile, Elva Selvidge, May West, Ina Cope, Naomi Schonroch, Alice Rogers, Ruth Anderson, Marguerite Cramer, Olive Seba, Muriel Bray, Matilda Lemon, Olive Witte, Gertrude Etzold, Mildred Gray, Eunice Fox, Florence Watson, Rose Ford, and two visitors, Edith Jarrell and Bertha Tillotson.

Miss Mary Jane Owens Weds Arizonan at Home Rites

Surrounded by immediate members of the two family circles, and by the close friends with whom the bride has grown from childhood, Miss Mary Jane Owens of this city, and Spencer Stewart of Mesa, Ariz., yesterday exchanged nuptial vows at a ceremony of distinctive beauty, held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Owens, 214 Owens drive.

Decorative Plans

Guests assembling for the 4 o'clock rites, were greeted by Mrs. Ira J. Owens, handsome in a gown of blue flowered crepe worn with corsage bouquet of pink roses. The home was fragrant with flowers, each room presenting a special color scheme. The entrance hall in Spanish iris and white sweet peas, was fitting introduction to the drawing room where cool bridal white prevailed. Here a great screen of green ferns starred with white hawthorn, had been arranged for the ceremony itself. Tall baskets of syringas at either side of the screen, were flanked by candelabra, each bearing its quota of white cathedral candles.

In the music room, whose floral theme was white with touches of blue Spanish iris, the Santa Ana String trio, Georgia Belle Walton, Ruth Armstrong and Edward H. Burns, played continuously, selecting such bridal music as "At Dawning" (Cadman); Grieg's "Ich Liebe Dich"; and "Liebestraum" by Liszt, with DeKoven's "O Promise Me" as a violin solo by Miss Walton, and "I Love You Truly" (Bond) as a cello solo by Mr. Burns.

Entry of Bride

Lohengrin's Wedding March signalized the entry of the bridal party. The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of First Baptist church, and Mr. Stewart took their station at the altar to await the bride, who, on the arm of her father, descended the stairs in her stately young loveliness. Tall and dark-eyed, Miss Owens was regal in her heavy white crepe gown, whose long and graceful lines were emphasized by the sleeves, close-fitting and ended with long points. With this, she wore a white crepe turban with tiny flaring veil, and carried a great sheaf of bride roses.

Briday traditions were observed with the pearls worn by her sister, Mrs. Maurice Enderle (Harriet Owens) upon the occasion of her marriage; the amethyse engagement ring of her grandmother, Mrs. Wallace; an heirloom bracelet with blue gems, belonging to her college roommate, Miss Margaret Weeks of Santa Barbara, and the lace handkerchief carried at their weddings by three of her closest friends, Mrs. Stanley Anderson, (Lucille Bales,) Mrs. Frank Harrington, (Juanita James,) and Mrs. Warren Wilson, (Helen Battey).

Bevy of Aides

The Episcopal marriage service read by the Rev. Mr. Owings, was followed by felicitations and the serving of refreshments in a dining room blazing with red roses and vivid sweet peas, against which the table in bridal white, was very effective. The new Mrs. Stewart cut the first slice of the bride's cake, whose serving, with other dainties, was accomplished by the Misses Clara Kate Owens, Ruth Owens, Margaret Weeks, Florence Brownridge, Dorothy Diehl and Martha Wallingford, with Mrs. Maurice Enderle and Mrs. Horace J. Howard, presiding. Mrs. Enderle wore black chiffon and Mrs. Howard was in a triple sheer crepe ensemble of tangerine and white. The other two sisters were charmingly gowned also, Miss Clara Kate Owens in orange crepe with lace bodice, and Miss Ruth Owens in poudre blue crepe.

Before her departure with her husband for their honeymoon trip via San Diego to Mesa, Mrs. Stewart tossed her bridal roses from the top of the stairs, and they were caught by Miss Dorothy Beals. For traveling the bride wore a two-piece ensemble of pin striped navy blue triple sheer crepe with white accessories.

They will make their home in Mesa, Ariz., where Mr. Stewart is in the insurance and real estate business with his father, W. R. Stewart. He attended Santa Ana Junior college before completing at University of Arizona where he was affiliated with Beta Chi fraternity. His bride attended University of Washington after graduating from Santa Ana High school and Junior college, and is a member of Alpha Phi sorority.

Bidden to the wedding in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Owens, their daughters and son of the home, the Misses Clara Kate and Ruth Owens and Claude Owens, were Mrs. Seeber and Jack Stewart of this city, sister and brother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Enderle and sons, Wallace and Allen; Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Howard and children, Frances and Jerry jr., and little Miss Kathleen Cox, a niece.

Outdoor Setting Given Afternoon Ceremony Of Charm

The springtime beauty of the patio of the C. F. Campbell home, 2417 Valencia street, provided an ideal background for the marriage yesterday afternoon of Miss Ruth Campbell to Edmund J. Kotlar.

A natural canopy effect at once side of the home contributed to the effectiveness of a bridal scene complete with tall baskets of flowers, potted ferns, palms and shrubbery of all kinds.

Many of the lovely blooms used in decorating were in yellow and blue, in keeping with the tints of Miss Campbell's costume. Given in marriage by her father, C. F. Campbell, she was lovely in a turquoise blue lace gown with satin bodice and full modish sleeves. Her close fitting hat was of matching lace, and her flowers were yellow roses and lilies of the valley arranged in a shower bouquet.

The Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, officiated at the ceremony, read at 3 o'clock. Miss Mary Jean Stever was at the piano playing Lohengrin's Wedding march for the entrance of the bridal group.

J. M. Campbell of this city, a brother to the bride, attended Mr. Kotlar as best man.

The 50 guests in attendance at the ceremony took part in a reception. The bride's mother, Mrs. C. F. Campbell, was charming in a dress of Eleanor blue crepe, with which she wore a corsage of gardenias.

Decorative details included pink tulips, stocks and a variety of flowers in yellow and blue. Refreshments were served buffet style from a large table whose centerpiece was of yellow sweet peas, delphinium, ranunculas and baby breath. Tall blue tapers lighting the scene, rose from mounds of sweet peas. Mrs. P. C. Aispaugh of Canoga Park served from the table, refreshments including a wedding cake.

The new Mrs. Kotlar wore a green suit with grey accessories for traveling, she and Mr. Kotlar leaving early in the evening for a trip to Columbus, Neb., where his parents make their home. The bride and bridegroom plan to make a leisurely trip east, returning here to make their home about July 1.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast

1 Sliced orange without sugar
½ Cup puffed cereal with
¼ cup whole milk, no sugar
1 thin slice bran bread toast
½ tsp. butter for toast
1 cup coffee with ¼ cup hot skim milk.
Calory total—350

Substitute strawberries, now in market, for the sliced orange, if desired. But use not more than ½ cup of berries and 1 scant tsp. of sugar. No cream permitted, of course.

When all food palls on that "Spring Fever" appetite of yours try eating a meal of just one article instead of the usual hodge-podge. Personally, I'm all for spinach and I have a pet way of serving it that may appeal to you for this particular need.

After cooking the spinach in what water clings to the leaves when lifted from the rinse water, chop it fine and rub through a colander or run through the food chopper . . . anything . . . just so you get a puree. Put a small cupful of the puree in a frying pan over a low flame. Add a little butter, salt and pepper. Stir until very hot, then add two tablespoonfuls of whipping cream, a scant teaspoonful of sugar and a tiny bit of NUTMEG. Stir briskly until cream boils, then heap the spinach on a slice of hot toast and garnish with a halved hard boiled egg, cut side up.

The calory value of this spinach dish is just 470. Drink clear tea or milk with it, and call it a "square meal", for that's exactly what it is.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Frothed Cafe Au Lait

Strong hot coffee
Scalded skim milk
1 stiffly whipped egg white
1 Tbsps sugar for egg
Hot coffee cups.

This method of serving coffee is ideal for reducing meals. Indeed, you'll be doing your friends a service if you serve this kind of coffee when you entertain. They get all the pleasure of rich coffee without any of its fatal fat-making results.

For each cup of coffee use 1-2 cup of skim milk, brought almost to a boil. Have the cups hot, the coffee at the boil, the egg white beaten stiff and sweetened with 3 tablespoonfuls of sugar.

Fill each cup slightly less than half full with hot milk, drop a spoonful of the whipped white on the hot milk, pour the coffee into the egg white and serve it, beautifully frothed and fragrant.

A cupful of Frothed Cafe au Lait has a calory value of 75, most of this total belonging to the sugar.

To left-over breakfast coffee add one-third the amount of hot skim milk, cool, then chill. At serving time put some crushed ice in the bottom of a tall glass along with a small spoonful of whipped cream. Fill the glass with the chilled cafe au lait and serve with powdered sugar.

All-Day Bridge Club Has Meeting With Mrs. West

The pleasant home of Mrs. William A. West on West Seventeenth street, was rendezvous last week for members of an informal little club of bridge players who hold monthly all-day sessions. Their arrival at the West home in the forenoon hours, was followed by a few rounds of bridge which yielded in turn to a luncheon menu served at mid-day.

Table appointments included the loveliest of roses and sweet peas completing an attractive floral display which marked the entire home. Bridge games of the afternoon were interrupted by a social interval, an unusual feature of which was the hearing of letters which Mrs. John Pearsall of Long Beach, had received from her husband, Dr. John Pearsall, now in China on a governmental commission. One of the letters was written especially to be read at this particular club meeting.

Mrs. Pearsall, an accomplished musician, also added several songs and piano selections to the entertainment.

Mrs. West presented attractive prizes to Mrs. Henry Walters and Mrs. Raymond Crum, holders of first and second high scores. To complete her hospitality, she served a delicious chicken dinner before the guests dispersed to seek their several homes.

In the party were Mrs. Raymond Crum, Mrs. William Mize, Mrs. Valmer Clark and Mrs. Henry Walters of this city; Mrs. John Lacy, Mrs. William Bernice, and Mrs. John Pearsall of Long Beach, and the hostess, Mrs. West. The same group will be entertained in May by Mrs. Crum in her home, 819 North Van Ness avenue.

Job's Daughters

Succeeding the regular chapter meeting of Santa Ana bethel Job's Daughters in Masonic temple last week, was a pleasant affair to which the Daughters had bidden a group of their friends to meet with them in the lounge of the temple. Mrs. B. H. Baker, councilor, was introduced as one of the honor guests.

Tables were placed for court whist, and tally cards distributed for the contest were attractive in their pastel colorings to harmonize with the flowers which played prominent part in the decorative scheme. Miss Thelma Jennings made the evening's high score and was appropriately rewarded while consolation gift went to Miss Lucille Schieber.

For refreshments, the tables were charming with deep red rosebuds wreathed with maidenhair fern. Miss Mildred Pearson, general chairman on arrangements, was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Leslie M. Pearson, and by a group of bethel members, the Misses Dorothy White, Maryjean Du Bois, Charlotte McCausland and the honored queen, Margaret Sawyer. Miss Sawyer's artistic work was seen in the pretty score cards and in favors of bright-hued parrots.

Methodist Pastor In Attack On Amendment Enemies

CITES 'JOKERS' IN FULLERTON BEER MEASURE

FULLERTON, May 1.—There are "jokers" in the ordinance to be presented soon to the city council in an initiative petition that has been circulated, the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman pointed out at the First Methodist church yesterday morning, designating those weak spots, and delivering a stirring address on the present status of the eighteenth amendment in the United States of America.

Attacks Ordinance

The pastor did not spare the ordinance, which is part of an initiative petition that asks the council to either adopt it or to call an election and permit voters to ballot on their desires as to whether Fullerton shall maintain the ordinances passed in 1905 to make Fullerton "dry" or allow the legalized alcoholic beverages to be sold.

Preceding his address the Rev. Mr. Hoffman declared he had written all newspapers in the district, inquiring whether in case of towns in which they are published go wet the editors would take liquor advertising. To date he said, he had received but one reply, from J. F. Burke of the Santa Ana Register, who had declared that so long as he is editor and publisher of The Register, it will not take liquor advertising, and so we "know there is one dry paper in the district," the pastor added.

Cites Weak Spot

Among the glaring weak spots in the ordinance presented, he cited one on the first page, reading "In the event the congress of the United States and the legislature of the state of California pass laws making legal the sale to the general public in the state of California of beer, lager beer, ale porter, wine or other drinks containing more than 3½ per cent of alcohol by weight, then the definition of legal beverage as hereinbefore given (3½ per cent) shall be construed to include such beverage or beverages of the additional alcoholic content so legalized, and the definition of intoxicating liquor hereinbefore given shall be construed to exclude such beverage or beverages of the additional alcoholic content so legalized," which, the speaker said, leaves the city open to bringing back into sales, provided the ordinance is passed, all sorts of liquors that may be legalized by government.

Another 'Joker'

Another "joker" pointed out is one clause that provides that "it shall be unlawful for any person to solicit, take or receive any order for intoxicating liquors, or to give information how such liquor may be obtained or where such liquors are." This will likely result in its being unlawful for any person to submit testimony in court as to his knowledge of places where liquors are sold, the speaker said, and smilingly added, "I can keep my own," as he read section 8, article B of the ordinance, which provides that "Nothing in this ordinance shall be construed as rendering unlawful:

B—The keeping or storage of intoxicating liquors on the premises where lawfully manufactured, or in any place where such liquor may be legally sold or in cellars, vaults or ware houses owned or leased by persons holding valid permits to manufacture, keep or sell such liquors for non-beverage purposes, or the keeping of wine for sacramental purposes in any church, or in the residence of the pastor or priest of any church, or the distributing and use of wine at any sacramental service."

The pastor urged that people read and study such petitions before signing, and make every effort to understand the significance of the provisions.

Reaction Coming

In his sermon the Rev. Mr. Hoffman declared that "Some day the people of the United States will sign the death warrant to alcoholic drink because of systematic, deliberate and prolonged newspaper propaganda, over a period of 12 years, the public mind is in hysteria, but already the reaction of this decision made last November 8 is coming, and we begin to read what beer and beer petitions do.

"Legalizing beer was unconstitutional, and the unseemly haste with which liquor legislation is being pushed is being done in fear that the courts will be called on to determine the issue.

Unconstitutional

"President Roosevelt and congress cannot change the constitution of the United States, therefore the beer bill is unconstitutional, and we have the pitiful spectacle presented to the world of a president and a congress who deliberately violate the constitution, the supreme law of the land, and the miserable excuse is, revenue. The budget must be balanced!

"Who is going to balance the budgets of the thousands of homes, whose children will go hungry, because money has been squandered for beer? Thirty pieces of silver purchased the death of Christ—and a balanced budget will be the purchase price of thousands of souls — and tens of thousands of hungry children will cry for bread—but the budget must be balanced. Christ said, 'in as much as ye do it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye do it unto Me'

Burden On Weak

"It will not balance the budget. It hasn't balanced England's budget; it has not balanced Germany's budget. Revenue from beer is contrary to God's law, and 'we who are strong ought to bear infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves.' Licensing beer puts the burden on the weak and the poor. Who with horse sense would think of wasting two billions of dollars of the citizens' hard earned money in order to get back $150,000,000 revenue. Yet that is exactly what our wet politicians are asking the people of the United States to do. I am patriotic, but cannot swallow such rotten business without protesting to high heaven."

CHURCHES TO BACK FIRMS NOT IN LIQUOR BUSINESS

FULLERTON, May 1.—In protest to the proposed return of sales of liquors with alcoholic content in the City of Fullerton, as being requested by certain citizens in a petition to be presented soon to the city councilmen, the Ministerial association of the city met Saturday afternoon and formulated a policy in anticipation of return.

This policy was presented to the congregations yesterday by the four members of the association, and was received enthusiastically, with the membership of the churches rising in endorsement of the action of the ministers.

Those who have pledged, with their congregations, to uphold the action are the Rev. Francis E. Hawes, Baptist church; the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, Methodist church; the Rev. George Tinsley, Christian church, and the Rev. Graham C. Hunter, Presbyterian church.

The action passed was a resolution reading, "Inasmuch as merchants who do not desire to corrupt and debauch their fellow citizens with drink will find themselves up against tremendous pressure brought upon them by the liquor interests,

"Therefore, we resolve that this association of ministers pledge loyal support to all those merchants and business people who refuse to sell intoxicating liquors, should such liquor return, and we further pledge ourselves to encourage our people to support those business men and merchants who are courageous enough and conscientious enough to refuse to engage in any manner in the liquor business."

ABANDONED OIL WELL IN H. B. FIELD ON PRODUCTION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 1. Ralph "Blondie" Elder and associates are pumping oil from the La Bolsa Tile company well near the tile plant northeast of the city limits and in the extreme northeast section of the oil field. The well was drilled by Wylie Griffith and associates, among whom was Mayor Elson G. Conrad. It was decided to be a dry hole and operations were suspended about two years ago.

Following the earthquake the well began gassing heavily and an investigation showed the fluid level had risen within a few hundred feet of the top. The well is about 4200 feet deep. Elder considered the well might be made a producer and began work on it. For three weeks the operators have been engaged in cleaning out the well, bailing and washing it.

The well is now producing about 20 to 30 barrels of 21 gravity oil and about twice as much water. It is improving daily and clearing up and showing more oil and less water every day, the operators state. At any rate the operators have a profitable well as it is now producing and the prospects are good for considerable improvement.

Elder was out of a job and hoped to make wages if nothing more from the well. He obtained a lease from Griffith and began work with the results as stated. The bringing in of this well as even a small producer is important to that section of the field as it extends the known producing area of the field to the northeast for about a quarter of a mile.

Methodist Pastor In Attack On Amendment Enemies

CITES 'JOKERS' IN FULLERTON BEER MEASURE

FULLERTON, May 1.—There are "jokers" in the ordinance to be presented soon to the city council in an initiative petition that has been circulated, the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman pointed out at the First Methodist church yesterday morning, designating those weak spots, and delivering a stirring address on the present status of the eighteenth amendment in the United States of America.

Attacks Ordinance

The pastor did not spare the ordinance, which is part of an initiative petition that asks the council to either adopt it or to call an election and permit voters to ballot on their desires as to whether Fullerton shall maintain the ordinances passed in 1905 to make Fullerton "dry" or allow the legalized alcoholic beverages to be sold.

Preceding his address the Rev. Mr. Hoffman declared he had written all newspapers in the district, inquiring whether in case of towns in which they are published go wet the editors would take liquor advertising. To date he said, he had received but one reply, from J. F. Burke of the Santa Ana Register, who had declared that so long as he is editor and publisher of The Register, it will not take liquor advertising, and so we "know there is one dry paper in the district," the pastor added.

Cites Weak Spot

Among the glaring weak spots in the ordinance presented, he cited one on the first page, reading "In the event the congress of the United States and the legislature of the state of California pass laws making legal the sale to the general public in the state of California of beer, lager beer, ale porter, wine or other drinks containing more than 3½ per cent of alcohol by weight, then the definition of legal beverage as hereinbefore given (3½ per cent) shall be construed to include such beverage or beverages of the additional alcoholic content so legalized, and the definition of intoxicating liquor hereinbefore given shall be construed to exclude such beverage or beverages of the additional alcoholic content so legalized," which, the speaker said, leaves the city open to bringing back into sales, provided the ordinance is passed, all sorts of liquors that may be legalized by government.

Another 'Joker'

Another "joker" pointed out is one clause that provides that "it shall be unlawful for any person to solicit, take or receive any order for intoxicating liquors, or to give information how such liquor may be obtained or where such liquors are." This will likely result in its being unlawful for any person to submit testimony in court as to his knowledge of places where liquors are sold, the speaker said, and smilingly added, "I can keep my own," as he read section 8, article B of the ordinance, which provides that "Nothing in this ordinance shall be construed as rendering unlawful:

B—The keeping or storage of intoxicating liquors on the premises where lawfully manufactured, or in any place where such liquor may be legally sold or in cellars, vaults or ware houses owned or leased by persons holding valid permits to manufacture, keep or sell such liquors for non-beverage purposes, or the keeping of wine for sacramental purposes in any church, or in the residence of the pastor or priest of any church, or the distributing and use of wine at any sacramental service."

The pastor urged that people read and study such petitions before signing, and make every effort to understand the significance of the provisions.

Reaction Coming

In his sermon the Rev. Mr. Hoffman declared that "Some day the people of the United States will sign the death warrant to alcoholic drink because of systematic, deliberate and prolonged newspaper propaganda, over a period of 12 years, the public mind is in hysteria, but already the reaction of this decision made last November 8 is coming, and we begin to read what beer and beer petitions do.

"Legalizing beer was unconstitutional, and the unseemly haste with which liquor legislation is being pushed is being done in fear that the courts will be called on to determine the issue.

Unconstitutional

"President Roosevelt and congress cannot change the constitution of the United States, therefore the beer bill is unconstitutional, and we have the pitiful spectacle presented to the world of a president and a congress who deliberately violate the constitution, the supreme law of the land, and the miserable excuse is, revenue. The budget must be balanced!

"Who is going to balance the budgets of the thousands of homes, whose children will go hungry, because money has been squandered for beer? Thirty pieces of silver purchased the death of Christ—and a balanced budget will be the purchase price of thousands of souls — and tens of thousands of hungry children will cry for bread—but the budget must be balanced. Christ said, 'in as much as ye do it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye do it unto Me'

Burden On Weak

"It will not balance the budget. It hasn't balanced England's budget; it has not balanced Germany's budget. Revenue from beer is contrary to God's law, and 'we who are strong ought to bear infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves.' Licensing beer puts the burden on the weak and the poor. Who with horse sense would think of wasting two billions of dollars of the citizens' hard earned money in order to get back $150,000,000 revenue. Yet that is exactly what our wet politicians are asking the people of the United States to do. I am patriotic, but cannot swallow such rotten business without protesting to high heaven."

CHURCHES TO BACK FIRMS NOT IN LIQUOR BUSINESS

FULLERTON, May 1.—In protest to the proposed return of sales of liquors with alcoholic content in the City of Fullerton, as being requested by certain citizens in a petition to be presented soon to the city councilmen, the Ministerial association of the city met Saturday afternoon and formulated a policy in anticipation of return.

This policy was presented to the congregations yesterday by the four members of the association, and was received enthusiastically, with the membership of the churches rising in endorsement of the action of the ministers.

Those who have pledged, with their congregations, to uphold the action are the Rev. Francis E. Hawes, Baptist church; the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, Methodist church; the Rev. George Tinsley, Christian church, and the Rev. Graham C. Hunter, Presbyterian church.

The action passed was a resolution reading, "Inasmuch as merchants who do not desire to corrupt and debauch their fellow citizens with drink will find themselves up against tremendous pressure brought upon them by the liquor interests,

"Therefore, we resolve that this association of ministers pledge loyal support to all those merchants and business people who refuse to sell intoxicating liquors, should such liquor return, and we further pledge ourselves to encourage our people to support those business men and merchants who are courageous enough and conscientious enough to refuse to engage in any manner in the liquor business."

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"The circus stunts in Monkey Land", kind Scouty said, "have been just grand." And then he thanked the Midget Man for all that he had done.

Said he, "We're tickled we came here. It's been a pleasure, never fear." The Midget Man replied. "I'm glad that you lads have had fun.

"And now, although it makes me grieve, I guess you lads would like to leave and seek some new adventure." You are right," wee Duncy cried.

"But what I'd really like to know is just how we are going to go. I do not care for walking, and there is no way to ride."

"Oh, yes there is," the old man said. "A plan has popped into my head. I'll run right over to my house and get a great big horn.

"A big surprise, lads, is in store. Right through the air you'll shortly soar. 'Twill be a brand-new way of traveling, sure as you are born."

The Tinies followed the old man as to his little hut he ran. They helped him drag the horn out. It was big as it could be.

"Now," said the man. "I'll start to blow, and into air some notes will go. They'll float around, like music does, as you will shortly see."

The next thing that the Tinies knew, the very thing he said came true. Some great big notes came from the horn and floated near the bunch.

"Grab hold of one," the old man cried, "and it will take you for a ride. Then, when your ride is over, you'll be glad I had this hunch."

Wee Coppy said, "Gee, I don't know!" But Duncy shouted, "Here I go!" He grabbed one of the notes and then was lifted from the ground.

He promptly yelled, "Hey, follow me! Some new sights I am going to see." The others then grabbed notes, all wond'ring just where they were bound.

(The Tinies land in a strange place in the next story.)

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"The circus stunts in Monkey Land", kind Scouty said, "have been just grand." And then he thanked the Midget Man for all that he had done.

Said he, "We're tickled we came here. It's been a pleasure, never fear." The Midget Man replied. "I'm glad that you lads have had fun.

"And now, although it makes me grieve, I guess you lads would like to leave and seek some new adventure." You are right," wee Duncy cried.

"But what I'd really like to know is just how we are going to go. I do not care for walking, and there is no way to ride."

"Oh, yes there is," the old man said. "A plan has popped into my head. I'll run right over to my house and get a great big horn.

"A big surprise, lads, is in store. Right through the air you'll shortly soar. 'Twill be a brand-new way of trav'ling, sure as you are born."

The Tinies followed the old man as to his little hut he ran. They helped him drag the horn out. It was big as it could be.

"Now," said the man. "I'll start to blow, and into air some notes will go. They'll float around, like music does, as you will shortly see."

The next thing that the Tinies knew, the very thing he said came true. Some great big notes came from the horn and floated near the bunch.

"Grab hold of one," the old man cried, "and it will take you for a ride. Then, when your ride is over, you'll be glad I had this hunch."

Wee Coppy said, "Gee, I don't know!" But Duncy shouted, "Here I go!" He grabbed one of the notes and then was lifted from the ground.

He promptly yelled, "Hey, follow me! Some new sights I am going to see." The others then grabbed notes, all wond'ring just where they were bound.

Vikings in Minnesota 600 Years Ago?

An artist's conception of the fight between the Minnesota Indians and the Vikings. . . . The Indians would have used stone axes, while the Vikings would have been armed as shown in the sketch.

Fake, or genuine historical document? . . . The Kensington rune stone, which Mr. Holand now calls a genuine record.

Hjalmar R. Holand, who has studied the Kensington stone for 20 years and who believes it is an authentic record of a long-forgotten tragedy.

By EMILY C. DAVIS

Thrilling tale of Norse explorers, ambushed and slain by Indians in the middle west before Columbus' day, is told by scientist, who says "runic stone" found by a farmer is a real record of their voyage

SCHOOL children may soon find that they have a brand new chapter of American history to learn. It will be a chapter of 14th century history, sandwiched in between the story of Leif Ericsson sailing to Vinland in 1000 A. D. and Columbus' celebrated voyage across the ocean in 1492.

Into that 14th century, now a blank sheet in America's past, is being written a tale of exploration in America so unbelievable that scientists have scarcely dared to think it could ever be proved true.

It is a story of a band of Goths and Norsemen who sailed to America and pushed their way deep into the wilderness, as far as Minnesota. There, 10 of the party were attacked by Indians. The others, returning from fishing, found the camp raided and their comrades lying "red with blood and dead."

Fearing for their own lives, the survivors moved on, and when they found a shelter they stopped and set up a rune stone to commemorate the disaster. And then these survivors themselves disappeared from the historic record.

The rune stone telling about this 14th century murder mystery was unearthed at Kensington, Minnesota, 35 years ago. Then began a long siege of argument. Was the Kensington rune stone a hoax made by some modern Scandinavian settler? Or, if the stone was authentic, what did it really mean to American history?

ONE man in particular, a student of Minnesota history named Hjalmar R. Holand, has had faith in the Kensington stone. For 20 years he has bent every effort to get to the bottom of the mystery the stone represented. One by one, he reports, the obscure points have become clear. And he has at last published the result of his research, presenting a bookful of evidence, so that Americanists can weigh the case.

As for himself, Mr. Holand writes, "Only one conclusion seems possible: That the Kensington rune stone is a genuine record left by Norse explorers in Minnesota about 1362."

And he adds, still more impressively:

"This runic inscription is perhaps the most important that has ever come to the attention of man. It is the only legible runic inscription found in America.

"Finally, it has a priceless significance in that it is the oldest native document of American history written by white men."

The stone which Mr. Holand gives so important a place in American history is a slab of dark colored rock 31 inches long, with an inscription in runic alphabet characters on one flat side and along one edge.

THE stone came to light in 1898 when a farmer happened to clear a rough piece of timber land. The farmer, Olof Ohman, was grubbing stumps when he attacked a particularly troublesome tree. Swing as hard as he could, his axe made little headway. And the reason, he discovered, was that a flat stone was fixed under two of the biggest roots, so that the roots had had to grow around the stone.

Mr. Ohman got the exasperating stone out and forgot it. But his little son dusted off the slab and pointed out curious marks cut into it. The neighbors came to see, and the rumors spread. The stone gained such fame that it was displayed in the Kensington bank window. Thousands came to look at it.

Then a professor of Scandinavian languages was consulted. He read off part of the writing, and, thinking in terms of 11th century Viking expeditions, he pointed out that something was wrong. Such writing was not the correct form used at the time of the Viking voyages. European scholars were consulted, too. They promptly called the stone a clumsy fraud, perpetrated by some immigrant.

So, the Kensington stone came back to its discoverer, and in disgust at the whole business Mr. Ohman threw it down for a doorstep in front of his granary. There it lay, face down, for nine years.

Then Hjalmar Holand came that way seeking data for a history of Norwegian immigration, and he heard so many stories about the Kensington rune stone that he asked Mr. Ohman to give him the granary doorstep.

A group of weapons unearthed in Minnesota. . . . The implement at the right is a "beard axe," and it and the other weapons are just like similar implements in Scandinavian museums, dating back to the Middle Ages.

WHEN Holand had lugged the prize home and studied it, he discovered something that put an entirely new light on the situation. He found on the edge of the stone the date 1362. No wonder the runic alphabet characters were not in proper 11th century style, thought Mr. Holand to himself. But—would they prove authentic 14th century letters? He decided that the stone was worth the trouble of a complete investigation.

Mr. Holand's translation, which is the one regularly accepted, is as follows:

"(We are) 8 Goths (Swedes) and 22 Norwegians on (an) exploration-journey from Vinland over the West (i. e., through the western regions). We had camp by 2 skerries (i. e., by a lake wherein are two place-rocks) one days-journey from this stone. We were (out) and fished one day. After we came home (we) found 10 (of our) men red with blood and dead. Ave Maria. Save (us) from evil."

On the edge of the stone, Mr. Holand read these words:

"(We) have 10 of our party by the sea to look after our ships (or ship) 14 days-journey from this island. Year 1362."

EAGERLY, Mr. Holand searched Scandinavian literature for a Norse adventure to fit this rune story. He found one.

"A Norse expedition was actually sent to American waters by the King of Norway and Sweden in 1355," he writes. "This expedition appears to have returned in 1364."

And Mr. Holand adds that if the inscription is genuine it must refer to this expedition.

To many critics, one of the stumbling blocks in accepting the Kensington rune stone as authentic has been the mixed personnel of the group described in the inscription. Goths and Norsemen in one party would be an absurdity, critics declared. Only a stupid person planning a hoax would fall into such a blunder.

But an "absurd" crew of Goths and Norwegians sailed together on that unique expedition of 1355, Mr. Holand found. The political situation in Scandinavia brought this about.

A king named Magnus ruled Norway and Sweden jointly at that time. He learned that the Christian colony of Norsemen in western Greenland had abandoned their faith. In horror and distress, the king planned a missionary expedition to set out to re-convert the colony. Selecting Paul Knutson as leader, the king ordered him to take men from the royal retinue and from retinues of other men and to set out.

NOW, King Magnus was noted for favoring his home province of West Gothland in Sweden, and his own retinue would naturally have furnished Goths. Knutson, a Norwegian, would just as naturally have picked Norsemen for the rest of his crew.

The language on the Kensington stone, a mixture of Swedish, Norwegian, English, and a Latin phrase, is about what would be expected of such a group, Mr. Holand argues. Soldiers and sailors, perhaps a priest or two, some of them Swedes, some Norwegians, would come to talk an idiom of their own.

But to return to the expedition's career. It seems queer that a religious crusade to Greenland should be massacred in Minnesota.

Not so hard to believe, says Mr. Holand.

The Greenland colonists who abandoned their faith also abandoned Greenland. Where they went has never been known. Ahead of them lay that famous land of Vinland where timber and grapes and other alluring resources grew in profusion.

Not finding the colony in Greenland, Knutson trailed them—somewhere—for about nine years. Mr. Holand theorizes that the trail led Knutson to Vinland, somewhere on the northeast coast of America. Then, Holand continues, the expedition went north around the coast into Hudson Bay, and around the bay as far as the mouth of the Nelson River.

THERE the expedition left its ships "by the sea" and ventured into the wilderness in canoes and on foot. And 1000 miles from the ships came the massacre.

Perhaps redskins had been tracking the strangers for days, waiting the chance when the camp was divided, some men fishing, some resting at the camp. The attack was ferocious, and the Indians went off with the trophy scalps.

The champion of the Kensington tone has not been content with piling up evidence that the stone is an authentic record of history. He has also tested the negative possibility, that the stone was faked. He obtained sworn statements from the farmer who found the stone, and others who recalled the circumstances. The statements were honest-sounding.

As if to bear out the truth of the fantastic tale of medieval adventure in America, no less than four old Scandinavian axes have been unearthed in recent years in western Minnesota. Like everything else associated with the Kensington stone story, these axes have at first been branded "impossible."

Mr. Holand toured museums in six European countries several years ago, and came home convinced that the Minnesota axes are authentic weapons lost by Knutson's crew. All are of types used during the same medieval period and all are Scandinavian.

He also found a lake in Minnesota containing two "place rocks" and situated about where the runic message would indicate.

DRYS TO HOLD MASS MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

A meeting of citizens interested in preventing sale of beer in Santa Ana has been called for tomorrow evening by the Santa Ana Dry Association. The meeting will be held in the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, Broadway and Church street, at 7:30 o'clock. It is open to all who are interested.

The program as announced by the Rev. C. D. Hicks, president of the Dry association, will include a statement as to the legal aspects of the liquor traffic as affected by recent action of the legislature, and an explanation of the plans for the state convention on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, by J. Parley Smith, Santa Ana attorney.

A report will be presented concerning the proposal to institute proceedings to prevent the holding a local election on the sale of beer in Santa Ana, which was presented last week to the city council by H. C. Head.

The plan of educational work to be carried on throughout the city will be fully explained by the Rev. Mr. Hicks, who will announce assignment of territory to workers.

An opinion contest which is to be launched at once will be explained by Mrs. J. R. Moore, and there will be one or two short talks on topics pertaining to the main issue.

All members of the Santa Ana Dry association and all others interested will be welcomed at the meeting, according to the Rev. Mr. Hicks.

Driver Arrested On Complaint Of Pedestrian Hit

Charged with reckless driving, following an automobile accident at Sixth street and Broadway a week ago, G. L. Kyle, 35, local insurance man, was arrested yesterday by Santa Ana police on a warrant from Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Kyle has not been arraigned.

The complaining witness in the case is Dr. R. F. Russell, 84, retired preacher here, who was run down by a car driven by Kyle. Russell was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital where he remained several days recovering from cuts and bruises received.

MANY VISITORS AT WILLARD SCHOOLS WEEK

Hundreds of parents viewed the exhibits at Willard junior high school last week when a large number visited the classrooms and were interested spectators while the regular class work was in progress. Visiting day was observed every day in the week, when each home room section invited as special guests the parents of the pupils in that group. Miss Ruth Langley of the science department, claimed the greatest number of visitors, her guests for one day numbering 28, while for the week the total was 72. Members of the student body government, commissioners and safety committee members, acted as guides during the week.

The exhibit cases in the Willard halls were replete with garments made by the sewing classes; pottery, waste baskets, soap carvings, bookbinding, and leather work from the craft classes; art work in design, free illustration and posters made in the art classes; canned fruit and vegetables from the food classes; projects made by the classes in California history; and interesting exhibits from classes in general metal and woodshop.

The wild flower exhibit in the library, compiled by the pupils in Miss Ruth Langley's general science classes, assisted by Miss Vanche Plumb, drew much attention. All of the classrooms had on exhibit note books, maps, posters, projects, etc. The regular class work was carried on; so that parents could get a true picture of the school. Many of the parents were guests of their children at noon luncheon in the cafeteria. Each parent registered in the main office and received a complimentary copy of the May Day number of the "Echo" student publication of Willard.

A special feature of the week was the showing of the film on Willard student life and activities at the P.-T. A. meeting Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium, when instructors explained the various activities as shown.

La Habra Girls To Present Plays

LA HABRA, May 1.—Girls of the Thimble Thinkers 4-H club of La Habra are writing one-act plays with one or two of the best to be selected for presentation some time soon. Other business taken up at their meeting Wednesday afternoon held at the R. E. Launer home included ways and means of earning money to send a delegate to the Davis convention this summer.

On May 5 the club will hold a candy sale in conjunction with the fashion show being sponsored by the Young Business Women's club at the Woman's clubhouse.

Plans for another potluck supper were discussed and it was decided that a social meeting would be held at least once each month.

CHESS CLINIC TO BE HELD AT Y. M. TOMORROW

With the purpose of promoting more and better chess, the Y. M. C. A. Chess club of Santa Ana has arranged with C. H. Whipple, jr., of Laguna Beach, for a series of lesson-lectures on chess.

Whipple will conduct the first "chess clinic" at the rooms of the local club at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. He is regarded as one of the outstanding chess players of the state and his consent to give this series of lessons affords chess lovers an excellent opportunity to learn something about the "inside" methods of the masters of the "king of games", club officials say. The lectures will include both fundamental and advanced instruction and actual demonstrations of how the masters win their games.

The club has extended to all chess players, whether beginners or more advanced players, a cordial invitation to attend this series of demonstrations. There is no charge of any kind. Following the demonstrations and talk by Whipple there will be general chess play between individuals, both members of the club and visitors.

PLYMOUTH STARTS SELLING DRIVE ON ITS TWO NEW CARS

The Plymouth Corporation has done the unusual by announcing two new motor cars within a week's period.

Announcement of the new Plymouths followed the recent statement of Walter P. Chrysler that he felt that present conditions were opportune for the introduction of new products, and that "the manufacturer . . . who offers unusual values and aggressively places his products before the people, will be in a position to realize the greatest sales."

The new Plymouths are now on display here at Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler dealers. The new cars are the De Luxe Plymouth Six of 112-inch wheelbase, and the Standard Plymouth Six, 108-inch wheelbase.

The new Standard Plymouth Six Sedan is stated to be the lowest priced six-cylinder four-door sedan on the American motor car market.

Baseball fans will have an opportunity, tonight, to hear the sport discussed over KREG by a star of the first magnitude. Charley Gehringer of the Cleveland Indians will be the speaker on a program to be broadcast with compliments of "Sporting News."

A real artisan of the diamond who does his work without the "hip-hip-hooray" Gehringer will discuss the baseball situation generally and the famous "Arm Case" in particular. This phase of baseball has to do with Wesley Farrell, the first pitcher in all baseball history to win 20 or more games in each of his first four seasons in the "Big Leagues."

Earlier in the evening, at 7:30 p.m., Donald McDonald, tenor, will give another of his programs of semi-classics. Included in his program for tonight will be "Kathleen Mavourneen," Crouch; "Love is My Heart," Silesu; "Dear Old Pal of Mine," Rice, and "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," Herbert. McDonald will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. C. Korff of Tustin.

Ray D. O'Fan, who hob-nobs with all the radio celebrities and calls them by their first names, will hold another informal discussion concerning these stars tonight at 6:45.

Following the baseball news broadcast, a program featuring Annette Hanshaw, popular vocalist, exclusively, will be broadcast at 8:15 tonight.

MANY VISITORS AT WILLARD SCHOOLS WEEK

Hundreds of parents viewed the exhibits at Willard junior high school last week when a large number visited the classrooms and were interested spectators while the regular class work was in progress. Visiting day was observed every day in the week, when each home room section invited as special guests the parents of the pupils in that group. Miss Ruth Langley of the science department, claimed the greatest number of visitors, her guests for one day numbering 28, while for the week the total was 72. Members of the student body government, commissioners and safety committee members, acted as guides during the week.

The exhibit cases in the Willard halls were replete with garments made by the sewing classes; pottery, waste baskets, soap carvings, bookbinding, and leather work from the craft classes; art work in design, free illustration and posters made in the art classes; canned fruit and vegetables from the food classes; projects made by the classes in California history; and interesting exhibits from classes in general metal and woodsnop.

The wild flower exhibit in the library, compiled by the pupils in Miss Ruth Langley's general science classes, assisted by Miss Vanche Plumb, drew much attention. All of the classrooms had on exhibit note books, maps, posters, projects, etc. The regular class work was carried on; so that parents could get a true picture of the school. Many of the parents were guests of their children at noon luncheon in the cafeteria. Each parent registered in the main office and received a complimentary copy of the May Day number of the "Echo" student publication of Willard.

A special feature of the week was the showing of the film on Willard student life and activities at the P.-T. A. meeting Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium, when instructors explained the various activities as shown.

La Habra Girls To Present Plays

LA HABRA, May 1.—Girls of the Thimble Thinkers 4-H club of La Habra are writing one-act plays with one or two of the best to be selected for presentation some time soon. Other business taken up at their meeting Wednesday afternoon held at the R. E. Launer home included ways and means of earning money to send a delegate to the Davis convention this summer.

On May 5 the club will hold a candy sale in conjunction with the fashion show being sponsored by the Young Business Women's club at the Woman's clubhouse.

Plans for another potluck supper were discussed and it was decided that a social meeting would be held at least once each month.

CHESS CLINIC TO BE HELD AT Y. M. TOMORROW

With the purpose of promoting more and better chess, the Y. M. C. A. Chess club of Santa Ana has arranged with C. H. Whipple, jr., of Laguna Beach, for a series of lesson-lectures on chess.

Whipple will conduct the first "chess clinic" at the rooms of the local club at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. He is regarded as one of the outstanding chess players of the state and his consent to give this series of lessons affords chess lovers an excellent opportunity to learn something about the "inside" methods of the masters of the "king of games", club officials say. The lectures will include both fundamental and advanced instruction and actual demonstrations of how the masters win their games.

The club has extended to all chess players, whether beginners or more advanced players, a cordial invitation to attend this series of demonstrations. There is no charge of any kind. Following the demonstrations and talk by Whipple there will be general chess play between individuals, both members of the club and visitors.

PLYMOUTH STARTS SELLING DRIVE ON ITS TWO NEW CARS

The Plymouth Corporation has done the unusual by announcing two new motor cars within a week's period.

Announcement of the new Plymouths followed the recent statement of Walter P. Chrysler that he felt that present conditions were opportune for the introduction of new products, and that "the manufacturer . . . who offers unusual values and aggressively places his products before the people, will be in a position to realize the greatest sales."

The new Plymouths are now on display here at Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler dealers. The new cars are the De Luxe Plymouth Six of 112-inch wheelbase, and the Standard Plymouth Six, 108-inch wheelbase.

The new Standard Plymouth Six Sedan is stated to be the lowest priced six-cylinder four-door sedan on the American motor car market.

GOVERNMENT HAS HEAVY OBLIGATION

At the close of business today the last opportunity for the "hoarders" of gold to save themselves from prosecution by the Federal government is closed, according to announcements. According to the government figures, there is approximately $700,000,000 of gold still being "hoarded" by the people of this country.

It is rather a singular situation. The people have been taught to place their faith in gold, and now they are being forced to part with the object of their faith. "We should worry." We haven't seen any gold for a very long period of time. It is supposed to stand back in the vault somewhere and act as a guarantor. It is never supposed to be called on to make good, but it is the knowledge by the people that they could get it if they wanted it, which is supposed to make the currency of value.

But really you can go one step further back, and still maintain the value of currency apparently, and that is that if in the government vaults there is a large quantity of gold, so that at any moment the government can make its payments in gold, and carry on internationally in gold, this in itself sustains the value of the currency. "Going off the gold standard" doesn't so seriously affect the value of the dollar, except as the people of other nations come to the conclusion that you can't get gold, and you haven't produce to trade for it. The United States is not in this condition.

But there is a more important and interesting fact, connected with this whole affair, that is of vital importance to the people and to the administration. The Federal government declared a holiday on all national banks. After supposedly due examination and investigation, they issued permits to thousands of these banks to operate. Others they did not permit to open. It is believed by the people, and there is the implication, that when the government permitted these banks to open after examination, that it O. K'd them as being safe.

At the same time, the goverment asked that all gold be deposited in these banks, so that the banks, in turn, could send it on, or that the people might send it direct. There was an implication on "hoarding" currency, if not a direct order that it should not be done. In consequence of this, the people took their money out of the safety deposit boxes, out from under their mattresses, out from their stockings, and deposited it in these O. K'd banks all over the nation. And now comes the government and makes further threat upon the people that they must pull their allegedly "blue chip" money out from wherever they may have it, and hand it in to the banks.

We are for it, because we are for the President's program, knowing that if he can't lead us out, we aren't going to be led out. But we do want to emphasize this, that having gone through this process, and led the people to have a restored confidence in the open banks, or practically to place their money in the bank, regardless of their confidence, that there is an obligation resting upon the Federal government to keep these banks open, or to guarantee the deposits that have been made in these banks, that is as heavy upon it as any obligation that ever rested upon a government.

We are rather of the impression that the President and his advisers recognize this fact. They cannot permit the banks to close under these circumstances. That being true, there must be a guarantee of deposits, or some kind of an insurance backed by the Federal government, which will be sufficient for the future. This can be the only answer to the situation. Undoubtedly it will be done.

Probably it would have been better for more time to have been taken, for thorough investigations to be made, so that the guaranteed amounts would have a very material basis in soundness. There is the unerring finger of direction now pointing to a single banking system, with a guarantee of deposits.

MARTIAL LAW IN IOWA

Martial law has been declared in Plymouth county, Iowa. This has been brought about by the action of the farmers breaking out practically in open rebellion against the foreclosure of property. A judge was taken from his bench, seriously abused, and threatened with hanging.

There could not be a more overt and flagrant act of outrage against law and order than this act by the farmers. It would appear that civil order has broken down in this and possibly other counties of the state. The state militia have been thus forced to take charge.

We are always for Constitutional methods and orderly procedure. And yet of course, there is, as Lincoln pointed out, the right of revolt inherent in men. There must be some things very fundamentally wrong when groups of the type of men such as compose our Iowa farmers, take the government into their own hands, and oppose orderly processes. It reaches to the question of the rights of private property being superior under the law, to the rights of humanity.

Under ordinary conditions, this would not be brought out in such bold relief. For in normal times, if a particular farmer has failed to meet his obligations, so that he is forced to relinquish his possession of his farm and his personal property, his neighbors or other relatives are in a condition to meet his necessities, and tide him over to a better day, or he is able to rent a home, and hire himself out to get the necessities of life for his family.

But when neighbors and relatives are in the same position he is, and there is no work to do, and the evictions become general, then the human elements involved transcend the value and importance of property rights and resistance is the result. The truth is that probably all would admit, even possibly the mortgagee, that there should be some provision in law to meet these very conditions.

Equity, we are told, operates where the law, by reason of its exactness and particularity, is unable to cover the case. But there is no provision in equity to meet cases of this kind, where the whole social and economic order is thrown entirely out of plumb. There should be, and eventually there will be provision in the Constitution and law, to meet emergencies of this character.

For it is perfectly obvious that the eviction of hundreds and thousands of families from the farms which they have owned and worked, is a moral wrong, and for it there should be some legal redress. It is unfortunate for the individuals involved that it must be through their action that this state of affairs should become so obvious.

Regardless of what is done to those who were guilty, there is that inherent sense of right in the case that will justify them, when they see no other course open to them. Intelligent society must provide another course under such conditions as we are facing.

POLITICS IN SOUTH AFRICA

Common distress lays many sharp differences between men. It is astounding when we think of Ramsay MacDonald, for example, heading a Conservative cabinet. Who could have dreamed of it five years ago? A common national distress led opposing parties to sink their differences for the common good.

In South Africa today there is a more remarkable illustration of the same matter. There the racial differences have been bitter and acute. The memories of the suppression of the Boer republics in 1899 have never been obliterated in the minds of the Dutch element in the South African state. The political fight ever since has been between the Dutch element and the English element, with the Dutch element usually in control.

All this fight is now in abeyance of the common distress of the country. A coalition ministry has been formed, which finds Hertzog of the Nationalist party and Jan Smuts of the South African party, fierce rivals hitherto, working together as a team, while Hofmeyer, South African party, South African correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, an ardent progressive, becomes minister of interior in the cabinet. Strange, too, while there are seven members of the cabinet from the Transvaal, the one-time conquered province, there are but two members from the Cape controlled largely by the English.

These are the days when partisanship has taken a back seat. A united front has become necessary not only in South Africa, but all over the world, because of the emergencies that have arisen in the industrial and commercial world.

Celebrate Birthday of Morse

Pomona Progress-Bulletin

Schools and organizations of various kinds throughout the land celebrated today the 142nd birthday of Samuel F. B. Morse, inventor of the telegraph.

Morse was 42 years of age just a century ago last October, when he received the inspiration which led to the invention of the first practical telegraph instrument. It was not until almost two years after that his invention was finally completed and, therefore, the 100th anniversary of the telegraph will not be observed until 1935.

It is interesting to remember that Morse was an artist of no mean reputation. He studied painting and sculpture and, after his graduation from Yale in 1810, traveled extensively both in this country and in Europe as a portrait painter.

It was a conversation en route home from Paris to New York that he was discussing recent discoveries in electro-magnetism and suggested the idea of magnetic telegraph.

His first plan, outlined in this conversation, was complete as to its main features—a current passing through a wire between two points, signals to be made at one terminus by alternately making and breaking the circuit at the other terminus. It remained only to improvise apparatus to embody his idea, This he did a short time later.

But, like other inventors, Morse had difficulty in persuading people of the practicability of his idea, and it was not until eight years later that the United States granted him a patent, and not until 10 years after his conception of the idea that Congress appropriated a sufficient amount of money to establish a trial line between Washington and Baltimore. The first public test of the telegraph, to be crowned with success, was on May 4, 1844.

Morse received honors for his great discovery from most of the countries of the world during the latter part of his life, and, unlike most inventors, he was able to enjoy modern conveniences and luxuries throughout his remaining years.

Rails' Splendid Record

San Francisco Chronicle

Year by year the railroads cut down their fatality record. This has now almost reached the vanishing point. An all time record of safety was hung up by the rails in 1932 when only one passenger was killed in a train accident. Four passengers died in train accidents in 1931 and seven in 1930. The one passenger killed in 1932 compared with 480,000,000 passengers carried. Curiously the one fatality noted was a railroad employe off duty, who was traveling in a motor passenger car when it collided with a train.

Not so much progress has been made in safety where the rails come in contact with other forms of transportation. Deaths at grade crossings continue to be lamentably high. In spite of the "Stop, Look, Listen" signs many motorists are willing to try conclusions with the Juggernaut. It may be too much to expect that every person at a motor wheel will always be careful as the man at the throttle. But the record of the rails shows that safety is possible of achievement.

SPOTTING THE SPOTS

Astronomers find a marked relation between sun spots and conditions on the earth.

I've never tilled a garden spot
But, 'ere my summer's work was done,
Some ugly, mischief-making spot
Obscured the radiance of the sun.
The cabbages refused to head,
The sweet potatoes would not sprout,
The rutabagas, limp and dead,
Were lying listlessly about.

When I have tried to write a play,
Believing I was going strong,
And might have wealth and fame some day
Another sun spot came along.
And, when my masterpiece I read
To great producers, far and near,
They heard a page or two and said:
"This ain't no play! Git out of here!

I've bucked the market now and then,
Of easy profits well assured,
But, obviously, only when
The solar disk was well obscured.
With perspiration on my brow
Day after day I watched them fall—
The stocks that I am using now
To patch the paper on my wall.

Yet still I have one ray of hope
That in the future I may thrive;
I'm going to get a telescope
And watch those stocks when they arrive.
Or maybe I shall use my head,
Immune to soul-corroding fear,
And simply hop into my bed
To sleep until they disappear.

Me and pop was starting to take a wawk before supper and ma said, O by the way, Willyum, while I think of it, I wish you'd stop in the grocer store on your way back and get me a box of little biskitts, I expect one or 2 ladies for tea tomorrow.

What kind of biskitts? pop said, and ma said, O, any little biskitts of some kind or other.

That awt to be easy, pop said.

And he forgot all about it till I reminded him on the way home, and we went in Buzzby's grocer store, pap saying, Got any biskitts today, any little biskitts of some kind or other?

Yes indeed, it seems like there's some new kind of little biskitts put on the market every day, pritty near, Mr. Buzzby said. Five o'clock Fruities are a rite good seller, he said.

I wouldn't doubt it, but mention something elts, pop said, and Mr. Buzzby said, Well there's Teatime Twisties.

There would be, naturally, yee gods, pop said. Give me another chance, he said, and Mr. Buzzby said. Would you care for Billikin Bitsies.

Not as long as I keep my manly vigor, what are biskitts coming to, anyway? pop said, and Mr. Buzzby said, Of course there's always Bran Bransies and Oat Oatsies.

Excuse me from both, pop said, and Mr. Buzzby said, And then there's Dinner Droppies and Supper Slimmies and now there's a new one, Breakfest Breakies.

Have you got any Dollie Dippies? pop said. I bleeve they're a sort of little coffee plungers, he said, and Mr. Buzzby said. I cant say I ever heard of them, though it's a good name.

If you get any in give me a ring, pop said. And we started out, saying, Let your mother get her own biskitts, this is no occupation for a strong man.

And we went home, ma saying, You haven't got the birkitts, naturelly, and pop saying, Naturelly.

Thoughts On Modern Life

IF WE KILL AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH

I found it difficult to believe my ears when it was reported that Mr. Douglas, Director of the Budget, had seriously recommended to President Roosevelt that all federal aid to agricultural research should be summarily withdrawn from the agricultural experiment stations in land grant colleges and universities.

Still more incredible was the suggestion that Mr. Douglas was making this recommendation on the grounds that since we have an agricultural surplus the thing to do is to stop such things as agricultural research which have produced this surplus.

It is plain, I think, that the present unsalable agricultural surplus is not due to agricultural research.

This surplus has been created by short-sighted national policies respecting tariffs, land use, and the like.

If these manifestly slow-witted policies persist, the agricultural surplus will persist, even if we burn to the ground every agricultural laboratory in the nation.

It is to me incredible that at this late day any one could seriously suggest that it is in the interest of the national good to deliberately plan to make the individual farmer less efficient than he might be made.

It is the part of statesmanship to bend every effort to rationalize our tariff policies and our trade relations so that the channels of world trade will again be open for our agricultural surplus and then to bend every effort to make every American farmer as efficient as possible in the enterprise of raising the quality of his product and reducing the cost of his production.

If now, in a fit of budgetary hysteria, a Douglas can dragoon a Roosevelt into the virtual wrecking of the agricultural experiment stations of the country and the virtual disbanding of the county agent and extension specialist systems, two results of grave import for the future are assured.

(1) The American farmer will be left to the mercy of the accidents of nature, with limited or no help in meeting the menaces of blight and disease and insect pests to his crops.

(2) The American farmers will be left to the mercy of the avarice of certain interests that today do not look with favor upon the extension of the cooperative movements among farmers, for the county agents and the extension specialists are among the advance guard of the cooperative movement.

HIS SISTER

"I won't go if I have to take her-"

"Why Rudolph Sooner, how can you talk like that about your sister? You ought to be proud to take her."

"Well, I'm not, so there. I won't have her going everywhere I go. Sticking her nose in. I don't spoil her fun."

"She isn't spoiling your fun. She has an invitation just as you have. She has to go with you and you may as well make up your mind to that."

"I have made it up. If she goes with me I'm not going."

"Then you can stay at home."

"I'd just as soon. I don't care about the party anyway."

"What will your Aunt Eleanor say. She thinks she's giving you a good time and this is the way you thank her."

"She isn't giving he a good time when she says I have to take Kitty along. Kitty's no good time. I'm not going, that's all."

"Yes, you are. You march yourself upstairs and get dressed. I am not going to allow you to treat your sister like that. Nor your Aunt either. Selfish, disagreeable, mean, silly, stupid, what can be the matter with you anyway?"

Boys approaching their early teens do not like girls. Their sisters are girls and the worst of their kind. They listen and they tell and they know too much and anyway what good are they? That's the way the boys think and as they think, they behave and it is not very pleasant for their sisters. The lucky thing about it is that the sisters of his age have the same feeling about the boys. Sister probably does not want to go to the party with brother, and if he does she takes it out of him all the way there and back. She is certain to tell mother how many helpings of ice cream, how many pieces of cake, how many errors of etiquette brother indulged in during the happy occasion. "Mother, he licked his fingers. I saw him." Murder is in brother's heart that instant.

I am all for family affection. I wish brothers and sisters could be friends from babyhood on but that wish isn't coming true today. It is rarely in the nature of brothers and sisters to love each other as children. They tolerate each other. Occasionally they love each other, but as a usual thing the best we can hope for is an armed neutrality. Forcing them to love each other is always a flat failure. Letting them pretty much alone to manage their own affairs, interfering only in times of danger, seems to be the best way. By and by, when adolescence is about over, when each of them has developed interests in those of the opposite sex, and when life has taught them something of the relationships of people, they stop the war.

Anyway it is nothing to grieve about. We would like them to be friends because home would be a happier place to live in, and they would, we think, be happier. As to that I am not so sure. I have known brothers and sisters to enjoy quarreling and to miss it sadly during separation. But life arranges all that and the day comes when brother is a friend indeed and sister is someone to tell one's troubles to, knowing comfort will be given in full measure. They grow up.

GOVERNMENT HAS HEAVY OBLIGATION

At the close of business today the last opportunity for the "hoarders" of gold to save themselves from prosecution by the Federal government is closed, according to announcements. According to the government figures, there is approximately $700,000,000 of gold still being "hoarded" by the people of this country.

It is rather a singular situation. The people have been taught to place their faith in gold, and now they are being forced to part with the object of their faith. "We should worry." We haven't seen any gold for a very long period of time. It is supposed to stand back in the vault somewhere and act as a guarantor. Rails' Splendid Record

Year by year the railroads cut down their fatality record. This has now almost reached the vanishing point. An all time record of safety was hung up by the rails in 1932 when only one passenger was killed in a train accident. Four passengers died in train accidents in 1931 and seven in 1930. The one passenger killed in 1932 compared with 480,000,000 passengers carried. Curiously the one fatality noted was a railroad employe off duty, who was traveling in a motor passenger car when it collided with a train.

Not so much progress has been made in safety where the rails come in contact with other forms of transportation. Deaths at grade crossings continue to be lamentably high. In spite of the "Stop, Look, Listen" signs many motorists are willing to try conclusions with the Juggernaut. It may be too much to expect that every person at a motor wheel will always be careful as the man at the throttle. But the record of the rails shows that safety is possible of achievement.

SPOTTING THE SPOTS

Astronomers find a marked relation between sun spots and conditions on the earth.

I've never tilled a garden spot
But, 'ere my summer's work was done,
Some ugly, mischief-making spot
Obscured the radiance of the sun.
The cabbages refused to head,
The sweet potatoes would not sprout,
The rutabagas, limp and dead,
Were lying listlessly about.

When I have tried to write a play,
Believing I was going strong,
And might have wealth and fame some day
Another sun spot came along.
And, when my masterpiece I read
To great producers, far and near,
They heard a page or two and said:
"This ain't no play! Git out of here!

I've bucked the market now and then,
Of easy profits well assured,
But, obviously, only when
The solar disk was well obscured.
With perspiration on my brow
Day after day I watched them fall—
The stocks that I am using now
To patch the paper on my wall.

Yet still I have one ray of hope
That in the future I may thrive;
I'm going to get a telescope
And watch those stocks when they arrive.
Or maybe I shall use my head,
Immune to soul-corroding fear,
And simply hop into my bed
To sleep until they disappear.

Me and pop was starting to take a wawk before supper and ma said, O by the way, Willyum, while I think of it, I wish you'd stop in the grocer store on your way back and get me a box of little biskitts, I expect one or 2 ladies for tea tomorrow.

And he forgot all about it till I reminded him on the way home, and we went in Buzzby's grocer store, pap saying, Got any biskitts today, any little biskitts of some kind or other?

Yes indeed, it seems like there's some new kind of little biskitts put on the market every day, pritty near, Mr. Buzzby said. Five o'clock Fruities are a rite good seller, he said.

I wouldn't doubt it, but mention something elts, pop said, and Mr. Buzzby said, Well there's Teatime Twisties.

There would be, naturally, yee gods, pop said. Give me another chance, he said, and Mr. Buzzby said. Would you care for Billikin Bitsies.

Not as long as I keep my manly vigor, what are biskitts coming to, anyway? pop said, and Mr. Buzzby said, Of course there's always Bran Bransies and Oat Oatsies.

Excuse me from both, pop said, and Mr. Buzzby said, And then there's Dinner Droppies and Supper Slimmies and now there's a new one, Breakfest Breakies.

Have you got any Dollie Dippies? pop said. I bleeve they're a sort of little coffee plungers, he said, and Mr. Buzzby said. I cant say I ever heard of them, though it's a good name.

If you get any in give me a ring, pop said. And we started out, saying, Let your mother get her own biskitts, this is no occupation for a strong man.

And we went home, ma saying, You haven't got the birkitts, naturelly, and pop saying, Naturelly.

Me not saying.

The Orange County Sunday school convention had come to a close after two successful days with sessions in the United Presbyterian church. Large crowds were attracted by interesting speakers and sessons. Delegates were entertained in variou Santa Ana homes, and all meals except breakfast, were served in the church dining room.

George W. Peltier, Sacramento banker, and Melville Dozier, general manager of the State Reclamation board, Sacramento, were in Santa Ana while on a tour of Southern California in the interests of the proposed $3,000 appropriation for flood control work on the Sacrament river, and to give impetus to what sentiment they might find in favor of state control of flood conditions.

Thoughts On Modern Life

IF WE KILL AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH

I found it difficult to believe my ears when it was reported that Mr. Douglas, Director of the Budget, had seriously recommended to President Roosevelt that all federal aid to agricultural research should be summarily withdrawn from the agricultural experiment stations in land grant colleges and universities.

Still more incredible was the suggestion that Mr. Douglas was making this recommendation on the grounds that since we have an agricultural surplus the thing to do is to stop such things as agricultural research which have produced this surplus.

I cannot believe that such manifest inaccuracy of analysis emanated from any responsible official.

It is plain, I think, that the present unsalable agricultural surplus is not due to agricultural research.

This surplus has been created by short-sighted national policies respecting tariffs, land use, and the like.

If these manifestly slow-witted policies persist, the agricultural surplus will persist, even if we burn to the ground every agricultural laboratory in the nation.

It is to me incredible that at this late day any one could seriously suggest that it is in the interest of the national good to deliberately plan to make the individual farmer less efficient than he might be made.

It is the part of statesmanship to bend every effort to rationalize our tariff policies and our trade relations so that the channels of world trade will again be open for our agricultural surplus and then to bend every effort to make every American farmer as efficient as possible in the enterprise of raising the quality of his product and reducing the cost of his production.

If now, in a fit of budgetary hysteria, a Douglas can dragoon a Roosevelt into the virtual wrecking of the agricultural experiment stations of the country and the virtual disbanding of the county agent and extension specialist systems, two results of grave import for the future are assured.

(1) The American farmer will be left to the mercy of the accidents of nature, with limited or no help in meeting the menaces of blight and disease and insect pests to his crops.

(2) The American farmers will be left to the mercy of the avarice of certain interests that today do not look with favor upon the extension of the cooperative movements among farmers, for the county agents and the extension specialists are among the advance guard of the cooperative movement.

HIS SISTER

"I won't go if I have to take her-"

"Why Rudolph Sooner, how can you talk like that about your sister? You ought to be proud to take her."

"Well, I'm not, so there. I won't have her going everywhere I go. Sticking her nose in. I don't spoil her fun."

"She isn't spoiling your fun. She has an invitation just as you have. She has to go with you and you may as well make up your mind to that."

"I have made it up. If she goes with me I'm not going."

"Then you can stay at home."

"I'd just as soon. I don't care about the party anyway."

"What will your Aunt Eleanor say. She thinks she's giving you a good time and this is the way you thank her."

"She isn't giving he a good time when she says I have to take Kitty along. Kitty's no good time. I'm not going, that's all."

"Yes, you are. You march yourself upstairs and get dressed. I am not going to allow you to treat your sister like that. Nor your Aunt either. Selfish, disagreeable, mean, silly, stupid, what can be the matter with you anyway?"

Boys approaching their early teens do not like girls. Their sisters are girls and the worst of their kind. They listen and they tell and they know too much and anyway what good are they? That's the way the boys think and as they think, they behave and it is not very pleasant for their sisters. The lucky thing about it is that the sisters of his age have the same feeling about the boys. Sister probably does not want to go to the party with brother, and if he does she takes it out of him all the way there and back. She is certain to tell mother how many helpings of ice cream, how many pieces of cake, how many errors of etiquette brother indulged in during the happy occasion. "Mother, he licked his fingers. I saw him." Murder is in brother's heart that instant.

I am all for family affection. I wish brothers and sisters could be friends from babyhood on but that wish isn't coming true today. It is rarely in the nature of brothers and sisters to love each other as children. They tolerate each other. Occasionally they love each other, but as a usual thing the best we can hope for is an armed neutrality. Forcing them to love each other is always a flat failure. Letting them pretty much alone to manage their own affairs, interfering only in times of danger, seems to be the best way. By and by, when adolescence is about over, when each of them has developed interests in those of the opposite sex, and when life has taught them something of the relationships of people, they stop the war.

Anyway it is nothing to grieve about. We would like them to be friends because home would be a happier place to live in, and they would, we think, be happier. As to that I am not so sure. I have known brothers and sisters to enjoy quarreling and to miss it sadly during separation. But life arranges all that and the day comes when brother is a friend indeed and sister is someone to tell one's troubles to, knowing comfort will be given in full measure. They grow up.

Bowles-Chapman Rites Performed Modestly On Saturday

A wedding ceremony of extreme simplicity united Miss Enid Bowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bowles of 615 French street, and Robert Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Chapman of Tustin, at the Episcopal Church of the Messiah Saturday afternoon. Rites were read at 4:30 o'clock by the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector.

Sole attending guests were parents of the couple and the bridegroom's twin sisters, the Misses Billie Jean and Betty Jean Chapman. The bride wore for the ceremony a gown of gray silk, with which were contrasted navy blue accessories. Neither she nor the bridegroom was attended.

Festivities following the wedding were restricted to a family dinner, given in the Bowles home in Ebell apartments. The new Mr. and Mrs. Chapman already are established in these same apartments and plan no honeymoon trip until summer.

The bride graduated from Santa Ana High school to enter Scripps college, where she remained two terms before taking a year's work at the University of California at Berkeley. Mr. Chapman has been identified for several years with the Southern California Edison company, whose staff he joined after graduating from Tustin Union High school and Santa Ana junior college.

Mothers and Daughters Comprise Guest List For Bowman Affair

Distinctive from other pre-nuptial showers tendered Miss Lorna Allen, betrothed of Bruce Harding, in that the guest list included both mothers and daughters of a circle well known to the honoree, was the lovely affair given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Anna L. Bowman and her daughter, Miss Frances Bowman, in their home at 230 East First street, Tustin.

Miscellaneous gifts, brought at the suggestion of the hostesses, were showered upon Miss Allen without delay immediately upon the arrival of guests. Package contents proved unusually attractive and a pleasant half hour was devoted to an informal exhibition of gifts.

While bridge was introduced, guests were allowed to play or not, at whim. Prizes had been reserved for each group, card prizes going in the form of table awards to Mrs. J. N. Harding, Mrs. Alfred Leach and Mrs. Charles Artz and to Mrs. H. Roy Smith and Miss Marion Cruickshank among non-players.

Decorations comprised handsome Lady Ellington roses, arranged in the living room, and Cecil Brunner roses, maidenhair ferns and flowers of pastel tints, in the dining room.

Bidden to the hospitality, in addition to the guest of honor, Miss Allen, were Mesdames H. A. Allen, A. H. Allen, L. E. Allen, J. N. Harding, S. W. Stanley, Effie Slusser, Fred Preble, H. R. Smith Dan Adams, J. C. Lamb, Hugh Plumb, Good Adams, W. I. Ferrey, A. J. Cruickshank, H. C. Kirk, Charles Artz, Byron Johnson and W. F. Thompson; the Misses Irene Preble, Caroline Ferrey, Barbara Allen, Marion Cruickshank, Louise Artz and Lewellyn Allen, all of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Alfred Leach of Orange.

Lutheran Group Holds Celebration of Anniversary

Fitting observance of the silver wedding anniversary of the Rev. and Mrs. William Schmoock on Sunday came as a surprise to the celebrants themselves, and began with the morning services at Trinity Lutheran church where the Rev. Mr. Schmoock is pastor. Lutheran pastors from neighboring cities were among those attending.

The honored guests were led to seats of honor before the altar, and the elders announced that the Rev. William Ruff of Orange would conduct the services.

Following the church service, a 1 o'clock luncheon was served by women of the congregation. The Rev. E. H. Kreidt of Olive was master of ceremonies. Max Struck, chairman of the local congregation, gave a short talk, presenting the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Schmoock with a radio on behalf of the church members.

The Rev. H. G. Schmelzer of Anaheim spoke for the Lutheran pastors of Orange county, presenting a gift to the honored guests. Other speakers were Mrs. Herman Facks, president of the Ladies' Aid of Trinity church, the Rev. A. G. Webbeking and the Rev. William Ruff of Orange. A letter was read from the Rev. Herman Heinicke.

The local pastor and his wife were married at Alexandria, Minn., May 1, 1908. They have made their home in Santa Ana for 14 years.

Luncheon guests present, other than the guests of honor and members of Trinity church, were the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. William Ruff and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Webbeking of Orange; the Rev Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kreidt of Olive and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Schmelzer of Anaheim.

Annual Tournament Seminar Brings Resolution

The round table conference, yearly regarded as an important aspect of the Southern California Tournament of One-Act Plays, proved a particularly fertile source of guidance and enthusiasm Saturday afternoon when presented as a closing feature of the seventh annual play competition. Discussion developed a resolution, introduced by Frank Lansdown, tournament manager, recommending that winning plays in a tournament adjacent in point of time to the Southern California One-Act Play tournament be not permitted entry in the latter competition. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Despite overcast skies, a large audience of visiting players gathered in Ebell lounge to be greeted by William H. Spurgeon jr., president of the Santa Ana Community Players' association; Frank Lansdown, tournament director; Mrs. W. N. Cummings and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, conference chairman.

Opening the seminar with an entertaining presentation of a list of "don'ts," Miss Janet Scott of Riverside, a tournament judge, proceeded to warn the amateur Thespians against theatrical pitfalls toward which small play groups tend. Foremost among these were admonitions against a choice of mediocre plays with cheap royalties; against a series of plays of single type, and against the production of plays for which the organization was not yet prepared.

Players were invited to take advantage of the service offered by the Los Angeles County Drama association in a talk by Miss Elizabeth Claus, association secretary.

In an admirably practical talk by Fred Harris, of Claremont, little theater aspirants were shown the evils attending overexpansion. Mounting expenses, a too-rapid production of plays and a tendency toward over-organization destroying the spirit of the little theater movement were among consequences cited by Mr. Harris.

The value of trading plays with fellow organizations was pointed out by Bert Eaton of the San Bernardino group, while Wayne Moore of Laguna Beach explained his organization's method of producing plays with a minimum of expense. Other speakers were Thelma Laird Schultheis of Monrovia, Josephine C. Alexander of Fullerton, Mrs. Cummings, Mr. Lansdown and Mr. Spurgeon, who extended official welcome.

Presiding with wit and grace, Mrs. Stephenson's skill as an officiating hostess was a contributing factor in a round table of exceptional value.

Guests were invited to the section rooms at the discussion's close and there had opportunity for a more informal exchange of greetings and of plans. Two tables, attractive with appointments of yellow, were presided over by Mrs. William E. Otis and Mrs. Charles Riggs.

A tea menu was served under the supervision of Mrs. William H. Spurgeon by Mesdames Fred Rowland, Elsie Spruance, Terry Stephenson and W. N. Cummings. Assistance also was lent by Miss Katherine Spicer.

Other social features were the refreshment intervals following each night's contest. Directing the servers Saturday night was Mrs. Eugene Robinson, whose committee included Mesdames William Waddell, Sam Hurwitz, Roscoe Conklin, W. N. Cummings, M. B. Wellington and John Norton; the Misses Mary Safley, Clara Kate Owens, Beulah May, Maurie Hamill, Priscilla Allen, Lella Watson and Mr. Leonard Baker. In charge Friday night were the Misses Mary Bowyer, chairman; Edith Cornell, Louise Tubbs, Marian Bruner, Ruth Bishop, Mrs. R. Carson Smith and John K. Colwell.

Medical Men and Wives Return From State Convention

Returning late last week from Del Monte where the California Medical association and Women's auxiliary completed annual convention sessions, Orange county physicians and their wives were enthusiastic about the four days' session.

Mrs. F. E. Coulter of Santa Ana, completing a successful year as president of the state auxiliary; Mrs. C. S. O'Toole of Anaheim, president of the Orange County Women's auxiliary; Mrs. Harry G. Huffman, delegate from the county association; Mrs. William Mitchell, whose late husband, Dr. William Mitchell, was Orange county's first health officer; Mrs. Harry E. Zaiser, one of the originators of the Orange county association; and many others from this community were in attendance.

Southern California was represented in the annual election when Mrs. Philip Schuyler Doane of Pasadena was named as president, and Mrs. R. A. Cushman as recording secretary. For while Mrs. Cushman is now of Talmage where Dr. Cushman is head of the Mendocino State hospital, the Orange county auxiliary still claims her as a member.

Mrs. Coulter was given prominence in various ways and was honor guest at different social functions, and in her addresses, exercised the same flashing wit that has made her a favorite speaker here in her home community.

The auxiliary to the state association was asked to sponsor the cancer commission of which Dr. Charles Dukes, chief of staff of Highland hospital, San Francisco, is chairman. Papers and reports on arresting cancer, and cancer diagnosis and treatment together with activities of the commission formed one of the most important programs to which the general public was admitted.

Crystal Shower Comes As Compliment to Bride-elect

One of the loveliest of the many bridal parties which the past several weeks have included for Miss Ruth Tantlinger, bride-elect of John V. Newman, was a crystal shower given Saturday afternoon with Miss Velma Casper as hostess in her apartment at 869 D street in Tustin.

The marriage of Miss Tantlinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tantlinger, and Mr. Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Newman, is to be an early event of this month.

Cecil Brunner and yellow roses had been chosen for decorating the home. Tallies were distributed for bridge, played with the result that Miss Sada Mae Macauley scored first, receiving an attractive piece of pottery. Miss Miriam Samuelson, second high, was presented with a box of note paper.

Told that she was to receive consolation award, Miss Tantlinger was presented with two large boxes which proved to contain sherbets, goblets and cocktails in iridescent amber glass, the gifts of the group assembled.

With the assistance of Miss Helen Kinnear, the hostess spread card tables with pretty linens, centering each with Cecil Brunner rosebuds. Appetizing refreshments were served in two courses.

Invited guests of Miss Casper included the honoree, Miss Tantlinger, her mother, Mrs. W. W. Tantlinger, Mr. Newman's mother, Mrs. C. V. Newman, and Mrs. F. M. Flint of Eagle Rock; Mrs. Frank Clements, Claremont; Mrs. Rudolph Richards, Pomona; Mrs. J. H. Ebersole, Mrs. Paul Howe and Mrs. Harry Whitney, all of this community; Miss Marie Wales, Pasadena; Miss Virginia Colvin, Glendora; Miss Helen Post, Santa Monica; Miss Sarepta Goldsmith, Los Angeles; Miss Sada Mae Macauley, Fontana; the Misses Ruth DuBois, Helen Kinnear, Evelyn Rogers, Enid Bolles, Helen Glancy, Mary Bruner, Marian Brunner, Miriam Samuelson, of Santa Ana; Frances Wilcox and Louise Artz, Tustin; Mary Isch and Julia Bingham, Laguna Beach.

Add 3 quarts of water and enough salt and pepper to season. Bring to a boil, cover and simmer until the vegetables are done. Before serving add a small piece of butter (about 1-8 pound).

TODAY'S RECIPE

Hot Sponge Cake with Fresh Berry Sauce

1 cup fine sugar
51-2 tablespoons hot water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-2 teaspoon salt
11-4 cups cake flour sifted with 21-2 teaspoons baking powder.

Separate yolks and whites, beating the yolks to a thick lemon color gradually working in the cup of fine sugar, then the hot water, vanilla and salt.

Measure out 11-4 cups of cake flour after it has been sifted, add baking powder and sift twice. Work this carefully into the yolk part, whipping the batter until it is very smooth and bubbly.

Beat the egg whites until stiff enough to stand up in little peaks (not to the dry stage). Fold them carefully into the batter with a cutting motion.

Line a large drip pan with buttered brown paper, carefully fitted to the pan. Smooth the batter into the pan and bake in a 300 degree oven for 40 minutes. As soon as the top browns protect with a sheet of paper laid on the rack above the pan.

Slide the cake out of pan onto a board, loosen the paper around the edges, cut in squares and serve with a generous amount of crushed, sweetened berries, and a dab of whipped cream, although that is distinctly an effort to "paint the lily."

The cake has a total of 1715 calories, the sauce will run exactly to how much or how little sugar you add to the berries. Remember, a cup of berries has a calory value of 100, while a cup of sugar has 850 calories to its credit.

Lure of Scandinavian Lands Exerted for Mrs. Rutherford

When the East Asiatic liner "Europa" sailed this afternoon from Los Angeles harbor, she had among the passengers aboard, Mrs. Susan Rutherford of this city and Balboa, anticipating an early summer tour of what has been termed "The Riviera of the north countries."

The itinerary to be followed by the Santa Ana traveler will take her directly to Copenhagen and thence on the famous Gota canal trip. Continuing to the North Cape she will see that beautiful section before returning to Copenhagen and a nearby summer resort in high favor with the Danish royal family. Soloist to Be Featured This Week at Annual Ebell Club Show

With Mrs. Walter E. Watkins at the helm, Ebell Garden Session women, of whom she is leader, are rallying in a successful effort to perfect plans for the annual Ebell Flower show which will open a two-day exhibit Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Ebell clubhouse.

Still further entertainment has been added to the attractive program already prepared for patrons of the floral display. Horace Ritner of Tustin has arranged a group of vocal selections which he will present Thursday night, between the two one-act plays announced, and again on Friday night. Mr. Ritner will be accompanied by Miss Genevieve Eustis, also of Tustin, while other artists of that city will comprise a musical trio.

The warm reception accorded the play, "On Second Thought," when it was presented in the Southern California Tournament of One-Act Plays in Ebell auditorium, assures Flower Show patrons an especially happy evening. With this play will be presented a second, "The Turn of the Road," whose cast will include, in addition to those already named, John Matson of Tustin. Estelle Card Beeman is directing the Tustin Community Players in these two productions.

Nau Residence Scene of Double Observance

Special plans were laid in the Samuel Nau home at 206 South Birch street for proper observance of Mr. Nau's 83rd birthday anniversary which occurred Satuday and was signalized with a dinner Sunday noon.

Dinner guests were restricted to members of the immediate family and included, besides Mr. and Mrs. Nau, their son and daughter, Marion Nau and Miss Mary Henrietta Nau. The former shared honors with his father at the celebration, the family taking this occasion to observe his 21st anniversary, which occurs in May. Owing to Mrs. Nau's intended absence in the north on the date of the second birthday, the family took advantage of the senior Mr. Nau's anniversary to celebrate young Nau's attainment of his majority. A birthday cake climaxed an elaborate dinner menu.

Marion Nau returned from the University of California at Los Angeles where he is a student, for the celebration, his sister taking a week end holiday from Pomona college.

PIONEER DAY EVENT DRAWS LARGE CROWD

ORANGE, May 2.—Plans already are underway for the observance of the second annual Pioneer day following the gratifying success of the first celebration of the cort held here yesterday, when it is estimated 12,000 persons from all points of the county visited the city and took part in the celebration.

Following a colorful parade in the morning the crowd lingered to view the games and entertainment planned for the afternoon and at the noon hour long tables were filled by happy groups enjoying old time basket dinners. Horseback riding around the plaza and trips in the old El Modena school bus were features of the day.

Hold Fashion Show

In the afternoon a program was given in the Plaza square and a fashion show was put on by the Orange Woman's club, with Mrs. Earl Crawford wearing her mother's wedding gown, announcing the names of the models and the period they represented. Two of the oldest gowns were two from the Revolutionary period and they were worn by Mrs. Frances Kerr, whose property they are, and by Mrs. Frank Palmer. Both women wore hats of the period and Mrs. Kerr wore a white feather patterned shawl.

The P. E. O. presented a clever stunt under the direction of Mrs. A. R. Smith and the Third Economics section of the Orange Woman's club repeated a part of a program given at the clubhouse last week under the direction of Mrs. J. U. Viau.

Dance, Play Enjoyed

Games and sports and a pit eating contest closed the afternoon program. In the evening a play was given at the Orange Union High school under direction of F. L. Carrier. Old fashioned dances such as the quadrilles, the heel and toe polka and old time waltzes were given under the direction of Miss Helen Culp and Miss Grace Robertson. Rhoda Esterbrook, Jorris Shepherd, Eleanor Bowyer, Robert Arrowsmith and Frances Wilbur took part in the play, which was written by Carrier.

Music was furnished by the Orange Union High school orchestra and Glee clubs under the direction of Percy Green. The auditorium was filled and standing room was at a premium.

The street dance in the evening was so largely attended that dancing to the strains of the orchestra of Brick English was done under difficulties. At 9:30 p. m. dancers went to the American Legion clubhouse, where the dance was continued.

HER DOUBLE CHIN IS VANISHING

Shape Growing Normal

"Why am I taking Kruschen Salts? Because I was getting so broad across the hips I was ashamed of myself. I've been taking Kruschen about 2 months and they certainly are bringing my shape down to a normal condition and what is nice about them (to my way of thinking) is they haven't taken flesh from my cheeks but to my surprise my double chin is vanishing for which anyone should be glad." Mrs. P. E. Gardner, Worcester, Mass. (Jan. 3, 1933.)

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at McCoy Drug Co., 2 stores, or any drug store in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and a double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar.—Adv.

Something to Say

A friend of CHESTERFIELD writes us of a salesman who had "something to say":

"I dropped into a little tobacco shop, and when I asked for a pack of Chesterfields the man smiled and told me I was the seventh customer without a break to ask for Chesterfields. 'Smoker after smoker,' he said, 'tells me that Chesterfields click with them . . . that they're milder and taste better. I sell five times as many Chesterfields as I did a while back.'"

Yes, there's something to say about Chesterfields and it takes just six words to say it—"They're mild and yet they satisfy."

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

As all the Tinies sailed away, wee Scouty loudly shouted, "Say! This is the strangest ride we've had. I hear a humming sound.

"The notes we're hanging to are strong. See how they carry us along. We are so high, I'm sure the noise I hear's not from the ground."

"Of course it's not," said Coppy. "Gee! The whole thing's plain as day to me. The humming sound is from these notes. All notes make music, lad.

"I only hope they do not stop, 'cause if that happens, we may drop. The notes may fade out with the music. That will be too bad!"

"All we can do is hang on tight, and hope that all will be all right," said Windy. "I just wish that we'd drift down. I'm filled with fear.

"Right now, when way up in the sky, we cannot jump. It's much too high. With feet upon the ground, I'd feel much safer than up here."

"The music's slowly fading out. The notes soon will be gone, no doubt, but we'll be near the ground in time to safely jump, somehow."

The notes then landed, safe and sound. The Tinies dropped down to the ground. "I hear some voices," Coppy cried. 'Someone's o'er yonder hill." "Let's find out what it's all about," the bunch then heard brave Scouty shout. "Who knows? We may find something that will be a brand new thrill."

NEWPORT BEACH, May 2.—Opposition to Newport Beach being included in the proposed Orange county water district was expressed at the city council meeting last night. Mayor Hermann Hilmer declared that it looked like Newport Beach had been tricked, saying that beach officials had been promised this city would not be included. Mayor Hilmer further declared the city was in no position to carry further taxes, which he said would result if the state legislature approves the water district bill. The city attorney was instructed to send a protest to the Santa Ana Basin Water Rights Protective association, sponsor of the bill, and to Sacramento.

After Eddie Moore and other beach business men had protested against the present city ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks within the city limits, the city attorney was instructed to draw up a new ordinance conforming to Los Angeles' "safe and sane" ordinance, which permits the sale of certain harmless fireworks within the city.

40 Ask Beer Permits

The council was presented with 11 new applications for the handling of beer, this bringing the total of applications up to 40.

A petition signed by 112 people asked that the council investigate the present fishing boat situation. Discrimination is being shown against certain boats, among which is the craft "Sunshine," it was charged. The petition was ordered placed on file.

The El Portal cafe, applying for a permit to move its place of business onto Main street, was granted the permission subject to the health department's approval. E. G. Greeley applied for the handling of the city dump grounds for 1933, and the city attorney was ordered to draw up a new contract. W. E. Powell was granted permission to operate a smoked fish market, subject to the ruling of the health department.

Set Camp Rates

A new rate schedule of $1 per day or $5 per week for bay front sites, and 75 cents per day or $3.50 per week for inside sites, was made to be used as the charges in the city camp grounds this summer. A two week limit was designated.

A checkup on the quake damage to city property revealed a figure of $6,679, according to a report sent in by those in charge of repairs.

The city building inspector reported that 28 building permits had been issued during the month of April, the total costs involved being $17,665.

The police department reported 246 calls having been made in April, with recovery of $1000 worth of property.

The next meeting of the council was set for May 8.

NEW BEER FEES SET BY COUNCIL

PLACENTIA, May 2.—The prices placed on beer licenses were discussed at the city council session Monday night and agreement was made to amend the ordinance covering the issuance of license, making the terms for "A" license, selling from eating houses, $20, instead of $75 a year. Class "B" is to be reduced to $10 and class "C" to $20 a year.

In discussing taxation problems, it was agreed that the wheel tax on trucks is to be raised to $15 annually instead of $12 annually.

Because of the moratorium on taxes, city taxes are not delinquent until June 20, and publication of delinquent tax lists will be in August.

Councilman C. C. Curtis has moved out of the city limits to the Porter place, and will resign from his position as councilman unless he returns soon.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. W. A. Matson, pastor of the Wintersburg Methodist church and music was by a group from the Methodist choir, Mrs. Aubray Thomas, Mrs. John Stinson and the Misses Veeda Eaton and Bailey Thelma. LYON RE-ELECTED HEAD OF PLACENTIA SCHOOL BOARD

PLACENTIA, May 2. — LeRoy Lyon was re-elected president of the Placentia Union Grammar school board at an organization meeting Monday night. Earl Mathis was elected clerk, taking the place of William Bielefeldt, who has retired from the board. Lawrence Lemke was initiated to his first session as a member.

Ways and means of making the expenses of the school fit into the anticipated cut budget were discussed. A special committee is to meet the married teachers who have other adequate means of support and ask those who are permanent under the teacher tenure law to take a leave of absence.

New insurance policies are to be issued covering the properties at the new assessment rate, and to full insurable value, it was agreed.

The board agreed to meet Friday night to discuss the teachers situation, and to plan for definite savings in budget making through many channels.

NEW PETITION GIVEN BOARD; SALARIES CUT

TUSTIN, May 2.—At the city council session Monday night, it was moved by Charles Logan, seconded by Harry Pieper, and unanimously carried that all salaries be cut 25 per cent, beginning May 1. This will not affect the salary of the city treasurer, Walter Pollard, who receives $1 per year. The councilmen do not receive any salaries.

Judge D. L. McCharles, has been receiving $45 per month and the city clerk, Phillip Brooks, has been receiving the same amount. The salary of the city attorney, Morris A. Cain, also $45 per month, will receive a similar slash, but the $6 per month allowance granted Cain for telephone expense, stenographic work and office supplies will remain the same.

The trash collector, George Hanley, who has been paid $100 per month, will receive $75 per month. The $30 per month allowed Hanley for up-keep of his truck, will remain the same.

City Chief of Police John Stanton, whose pay has been $200 per month, will have a salary of $150 per month. Stanton explained that the car he drives is kept up entirely by himself. He pays for all gasoline, oil, repair work on car, etc. The automobile had to be a municipally owned white car with red light and siren. Stanton sold his car to the city for $1 and he has an agreement with the city that if he ever quits the city will sell the car back to him for $1. Stanton is also street superintendent and sanitary inspector, for which services he receives no pay.

A second petition asking for an election on disincorporation of Tustin, which bore 79 signatures with dates of signing following the names, was presented to the city council by the city clerk, Phillip Brooks. The council referred the petition to the clerk and the city attorney, Morris A. Cain, for checking of signatures and other investigation. When they have completed their investigation as to the legality of the petition, a special meeting of the council will be held to decide on further action. There was considerable discussion as to whether to have the disincorporation election on the same date as the state election or on some other day.

The clerk stated that the first petition presented to the council did not comply with Article 1083 of the state political code which requires signers to place the date of signing after their names. Brooks also informed the council that the petition asking for a special election to vote on the matter of whether the voters living West of Myrtle street shall remain in the city limits or not, was signed by only 13 voters and that there were no dates after their names. It was unanimously voted that both these two petitions be filed with the clerk.

Mayor William Huntley appointed Harry Pieper and Charles Logan to see the Knights of Pythias Building Association about getting a reduction in rent for the city hall. It was voted that all regular monthly bills be paid.

The application of George A. Smith for a dealer's off sale liquor license was granted. The oral application of W. A. Stafford for an on sale liquor license at his lunch room, was ordered filed for further investigation.

Schade, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Rospaw, parliamentarian; Mrs. Gladys Kiolstad, historian and Mrs. W. S. Ingham, auditor.

POINTS OUT NEED NEW SOCIAL ORDER

BREA, May 2.—Matthew 25:40 was the scripture upon which the Rev. Donald F. Gaylord based his sermon on Sunday morning in the Congregational church.

If we believe in Christ, he declared, we will not be satisfied until we have established a social order in which conditions such as the present unemployment situation will not be possible. True Christians will not accept defeat in their efforts to restore the morale of those who have been subjected to the indignities and losses which have come out of this terrible condition, he declared.

It is easy, he said, to lapse into a negative state of Christianity, to allow religion to become a sort of opiate and to resent the challenge for personal service. If religion is not to become an opiate we must recognize our definite responsibility for work in Christ's kingdom, either through personal contact or some other medium in bringing about a Christian world, the pastor said.

SCHOOL BILLS OUTLINED FOR BREA CITIZENS

BREA, May 2.—M. A. Gauer, superintendent of elementary schools in Anaheim, was the featured speaker on the Public Schools' week program presented at the high school. Gauer answered several questions put by C. O. Harvey, principal of the Brea-Olinda Union High school.

Gauer said that two bills now pending, if passed, will cut state support of schools by more than 60 per cent and that if this is done, it will be the first time in the history of the United States that a depression has brought about a reduction in state school funds. The only material saving which can be achieved, he declared, is in cutting the salaries of teachers, or in eliminating entire departments. Teachers, he said, do not generally favor the tenure law but do want protection from political influence in relation to their positions.

State support of schools is derived from corporation taxes, and it is the corporations that are lobbying for the reduction of state school funds while many of them retain $75,000 a year officials, he said. The home economic course is valuable to community life because of the high standard of living which it sets for the home, he declared, this standard being reflected in the business life of the community.

Preceding the address by Superintendent Gauer, the high school orchestra favored with several numbers. Miss Dorothy Vorheis, principal of the Laurel school, presented the fourth grade pupils of Horace Chansler's room in "The Lumber Camp." A. J. Barnes, superintendent of the Olinda grammar school, presented about 60 children in a variety of chorus numbers. Kathryn Newton sang "The Spinning Song."

Pupils of the Brea grammar school presented a 16th century English May fete, Principal Vincent Jaster announcing the number which was directed by Miss Kathryn Yates.

Lester Todd, worshipful master of Citrol lodge, F. and A. M., was presented by C. O. Harvey as having been responsible through the lodge for the Public School week observance in Brea.

DELIVERY TRUCK FIRE EXTINGUISHED

LA HABRA, May 2.—Pitchforks and shovels were used by the La Habra fire department early Monday in removing the burning cargo from a large parcel delivery truck.

The truck, driven by Bill Niesley, was headed for San Diego and a broken exhaust pipe caused the fire, which did aproximately $500 damage to the load.

The fire was discovered by the driver about 3 a. m. when he was on State highway just east of Cypress avenue in La Habra. A messenger from the Goldberg Film company, passing at the time, brought in the call to the fire department. Fire department men worked for three hours extinguishing the fire.

Man Arested On License Count In Suit for Damages

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 2.—E. L. Forney, arrested by Chief of Police L. F. Keller and Bob Williams, license collector for the city, has filed suit in the justice court here for $295 damages. Forney alleges that he had been falsely arrested, suffered great mental and bodily harm and was brought to police court in custody of the officers, and found no warrant had been issued for his arrest.

Forney was arrested for operating as a building contractor without first obtaining a license, it was stated by City Attorney Ray Overacker, who will defend the police chief and license inspector in the suit. Forney will act as his own attorney. He resides in the 200 block on Geneva street in this city, having been a resident of Huntington Beach for the past year or more.

He told many traditional stories of the planting of trees around the mission walls, of the treasures to be found in the chapels today and the work done by the fathers.

Members and guests had been prepared for his story by the brief account of the early settling of the western coast by Mrs. Fred Cline of Placentia, a native daughter, who was the luncheon speaker.

At the business meeting a report on the county convention of the Federated Women's clubs was given by Mrs. Holly Markle and on account of the state convention by Mrs. Walter Ross.

SCHOOL BOARDS HOLD MEETINGS MONDAY NIGHT

ANAHEIM, May 2.—Reorganization meetings of both the elementary schools and the high school board of trustees was held yesterday afternoon. A. C. Riutcel and A. H. Pibel, newly elected trustees, were seated on the high school board and Leonard Evans re-elected trustee on the elementary school board, again took the oath of office.

R. W. Ramm was re-elected president of the high school board and Louis Hoskins elected clerk. The same officers will serve on the grammar school board, Frank N. Gibbs, president; Miss E. Kate Rea, clerk, and Leonard Evans, trustee.

Mr. Gauer, superintendent of the grammar schools, announced this morning that a tentative outline of the budget was discussed and will be presented in more detail on the May 9 meeting. Ten probationary teachers presented voluntary waivers of tenure and the board voted to accept them. This will mea nthat the teachers can be rehired and at the will of the board can be dismissed at any time. There will not be many changes in the personnel of the grammar school teachers as the force has already been cut as far as possible.

At the high school board meeting a committee of two from the Orange County Farm Bureau presented a treatise asking the school to cut its budget between 25 and 30 per cent next year. J. A. Clayes, principal, declared today that all teachers to be dismissed must be notified by May 15 or they will voulntarily retain their positions next year. While the regular board meeting is slated for May 11 it was adjourned to the call of the president.

Travel Section Paper Carries Members Far Afield

Although tourists are able to reach the section of Western Africa bordering the Gulf of Guinea only via trade ships, Ebell Third Travel section members on Friday were given a very comprehensive idea of the nature of its inhabitants in an excellent paper prepared by Mrs. C. A. Westgate.

Lying ten degrees north of the equator, the territory was described as being poorly adapted to white residents owing to the intense heat. The American section in Liberia, whose capital, Monrovia, was named after President James Monroe, is occupied by American Negro slaves, according to Mrs. Westgate, who declared the territory given over largely to rubber plantations. The French possession, Cameron, she described as a fertile plateau, capable of producing sufficient food to feed the world. Jungle in that section is so dense that natives have been compelled to burn mahogany trees to clear space for cultivation, Mrs. Westgate pointed out.

Miss Leonora Tompkins presented a pupil, Miss Margaret Crane, in piano solos. "Romance" (Sibelius) and "Caprice" (Florence Carr). Mrs. C. P. Boyer, president, read a letter from Mrs. S. W. Nau, describing her travels in the vicinity of the Red Sea.

Executive Boards Are Earthquake Party Guests

Clever invitations issued to the affair were indicative of the interesting evening which the hostess had planned. Furniture in the room was completely topsy turvy and rules were in accordance with the unusual nature of the evening.

Prizes were won by Mesdames C. W. Eggleston, W. E. Friend, H. R. Thornberg and H. R. Hendrie. Miss Frances Corson and Mrs. C. W. Olson won prizes in a word buildi contest, and Mrs. Eggleston and Mrs. Hendrie received awards for wearing the most suitable costumes.

Those present were the hostess, Mrs. Drown and Mesdames R. W. Dietrich, H. R. Thornberg, J. A. Wright, L. J. Nesbitt, H. R. Hendrie, George Calhoun, Carl Edgar, W. E. Friend, Harry Becker, C. W. Eggleston, David Carmichael, A. E. Purington, E. F. Marks, C. W. Olson, W. K. McCarty, Russell Adkinson and the Misses Lucille Harrison and Frances Corson.

SUPREME COURT MAKES SHORT SHRIFT OF PERSECUTION CASE

Yesterday the dispatches carried the news that the Supreme court of California found no evidence that Attorney W. Maxwell Burke had solicited legal business, as charged by an attorney here in Santa Ana.

The Supreme court had before it a complete transcript of the case, with all of the evidence submitted in a trial that took days. There was evidence that the accused attorney had interested himself and done a great deal of work for the Mexican people. This, the evidence showed, had resulted in the confidence of the Mexican consul and his deputy here in the city, and in consequence of this, they sent Mexican people in distress to this attorney.

The evidence showed that in many cases there was a free service rendered this poor and unfortunate group, and in no cases was any exorbitant amount charged. The accusation was brought against this attorney by an attorney who speaks Spanish, who had had considerable legal work of the Mexican people which, in some cases, it looked as though he were losing.

While neither the Supreme court, nor the judge sitting in the case, nor the Bar Association, found any evidence that the accused one had done such solicitation, the actual facts which appeared during the trial, presented the accuser in an entirely different light. Witnesses on the stand spoke of solicitation, and exhibited printed cards,—cards of solicitation for business by the accuser. So clear was it that the judge hearing the case, declared from the bench that it was a flagrant violation of the ethics of the legal profession. But nothing was done about it then, or has been done since in respect to that.

The theory of the prosecution was that the attorney had been active on behalf of the Mexican people, and that the deputy consul had actually sent Mexican people to him. Then, they argued, there could be only one motive, and that was the motive of money. So it was argued the Mexican deputy consul, and the attorney were violating the rule of ethics. It is a singular commentary on the members of the legal profession, and particularly upon those interested in this case, that they had no conception that any human being could be motivated on behalf of the "under dog" and be a lawyer, except for the "Almighty Dollar."

The Supreme court, uninfluenced by any personal or political considerations, composed of outstanding men of ability and character in their profession, made short shrift of a case that depended entirely for its success upon the hypothesis that no other motive than the motive of financial gain could affect the actions of men. The prosecutor in the case, carrying out the wishes of this local attorney, who had made the charges, and who himself was guilty of the very thing which he falsely charged against his fellow attorney, investigated the matter, not as an unbiased and unprejudiced investigator should, but went with a certain interpreter, whose machinations against the interest of the Mexican people, the accused was a factor in uncovering and stopping.

So this little prosecutor, with his narrow views and his conception that venality alone was the moving influence in men, proceeded in company with these two elements to "investigate." It was a case where personal spleen and hate undoubtedly had their weight; where politics and hostility were trying to injure and destroy; and it was a serious reflection upon the membership of the Bar that under all the circumstances any lawyer could have been found in Anaheim, who would be the instrument in such reputation-assassination. But we are thankful for a Supreme court, for men with the ability to look through, and see the political and personal purposes at work in such a case, and to declare with clearness and authority that there was no evidence to sustain the accusation.

Oh, yes, it took a year and a half to do it, and hours of concern, but it is a price people have to pay for maintaining an aggressive decent position in society. Just as The Register, in endeavoring to protect this same Mexican race, had to pay a large sum of money for defense in a libel case, for telling the truth about the conditions.

Then it was punished in addition for years, through legal advertising being taken away from its columns, and being placed particularly in the very paper which has been largely responsible for developing this hate, carrying on animosity, appealing to prejudice, arousing class opposition, and supporting at all times there in Anaheim, the conditions which make such a travesty on justice possible. And this same paper has been endeavoring to get a weekly sheet out here in Santa Ana, appealing to the worst in the city, and trying to direct the policy of Santa Ana in the interest of the political group of which it is the mouthpiece in Anaheim.

WHY WEST AUSTRALIA WANTS TO SECEDE

A report from Australia states that West Australia through its parliament, has voted to secede from the Australian state. To be sure, it is little more than a gesture, not unlike that made by the lower house of the North Dakota legislature when its members voted to secede from the Union. What it really means is simply that it finds its interests so far apart from the Eastern states of the Australian state that it desires to express its protest against the domination of the industrial and trading East.

West Australia is largely agricultural. It is the center of the sheep raising industry which figures so largely in the woolen exports. The protest is against the tariff policy of the East, which there as here, makes it necessary for the farmer to sell in a cheap market and buy in a dear market. We have there an analogy to conditions in this country between the North and the South during the Civil war. It was the tariff policy foisted upon the country by the industrialists of the North which led the Southern Confederacy to write into its constitution a prohibition against import and export duties.

The diverse interest of different sections of a great country make it difficult to make adjustments. But those adjustments are made much more difficult when artificial barriers to trade are raised. It would be better if all industries should stand on their own feet. They might need some protection in infancy. But after a long period, if they have not been able to maintain themselves without subsidies, they had better be permitted to die; unless, of course, it might be necessary that some industries should be maintained that are necessary when our stability is threatened by closed seas or warring nations.

These are days when the world has become neighborly. There is no remote East or West. We have all been thrown close together by the facility of modern transportation and communication.

ANOTHER PARADE OF CHILDREN

Child Health day was observed in Allentown, Pa., by a parade of children protesting against the conditions under which they labor. It is terrible to contemplate, yet the facts are that children are working in the towns of Allentown and Northampton, Pennsylvania, for from ten to fifteen hours a day, for wages ranging from a few cents a week to three or four dollars.

Miss Ruth Scandrett of the national child labor committee said of conditions in Allentown: It is almost unbelievable that American children in this modern day are found working under conditions that we thought were stamped out along with the dark ages.

The pitiful wages that the children earn serve usually only to keep up the family's life insurance, and their food is bought from the $3 to $5 a week they receive from county relief.

An eye-witness described the children who paraded yesterday as tired, with pale faces and workworn hands. They carried placards on their backs. Inside the factories, other children remained at their tasks, too fearful of losing their jobs to parade with the others.

The period when children were exploited has been a horrible chapter in industrial history. The record of it has served as one sure milepost of progress. When the world didn't seem to be progressing much, one could at least look back to the day, when people tolerated the laboring of little children in mines and factories, and compare it to our own day, when the welfare of the child was the paramount concern of society.

It seemed that the battle for the child was so far won that it was a matter of progression to better and better things for the child. One still feels that such conditions as those described in Allentown and Northampton need only become known to be cleared up. It is tragic that such conditions will not become known soon enough to save the health of many children who are the victims of economic depression.

More Local Touring by American Citizens

San Bernardino Sun

Touring has declined considerably because of the depression, yet the Canadian department of national revenue reports that 14,000,000 tourists from the United States visited Canada in 1932. They spent there an estimated $201,905,000. Another $10,000,000 was spent by visitors from other parts of the world. Canadian tourists in foreign countries spent only about $57,403,000, which left a nice favorable balance for Canada.

The number of tourist automobiles from the United States entering Canada last year was well over 4,000,000 a decline of 16 per cent from 1931 and 24 per cent from 1930. Canada may find its tourist industry further reduced this year, although there are still many vacationers who can afford the moderate cost of a holiday among her lakes and woods.

On the other hand, some of the tourists lost to Canada because of the depression will represent a gain to this country. There is going to be quite a little local touring for a while. Citizens are going to spend week-ends or Sundays visiting spots of historical or scenic interest in their own states or those adjacent. Some of the vacation spending which, in better times, would be done on a larger scale in foreign lands, is going to be done at home. Those of us who cater to tourists should be prepared.

Men Win Vote

Oakland Tribune

Though they trace their ultimate privilege of self-government back to the days of Charlemagne, the people of Andorra have just won universal male suffrage. Until the recent bloodless revolution, a man there had to await his father's death before he was given the vote. This patriarchial rule went on undisturbed from medieval days while all about it Europe seethed with changes. And now Andorra also changes.

The government of the tiny state in the Pyrenees is described in a Geographic Society bulletin as a medieval feudal state under the personal protection of two overlords, the President of France and the Spanish Bishop of Urgel. To settle an old dispute, the French Count of Foix and the Bishop of Urgel were, in 1278, given equal authority over, "Les Vallees et Suzerainte d' Andorre," which remains the country's official title today. Through Henry of Navarre and the Kings of France the rights of Foix have descended to the President of the Republic, who still receives annual dues from Andorra amounting to less than a hundred dollars. The Bishop of Urgel also receives dues, including 12 cheeses, 12 chickens, and 6 hams.

The "votes for all men" campaign which has been conducted there for some time has at last brought results.

More Truth Than Poetry

Always fond of byway driving—
Which is soothing to the soul—
With no time set for arriving
And no fixed and settled goal,
It is my delight to wander,
Let the road be what it may,
Here and there and over yonder
Till the twilight dims the way;
But one loses all the glamor
At the nerve-destroying sound
Of the yammer, yammer, yammer
Of the road-map hound.

"Hey! Look here! You're off the highway,
Turn around, for Heaven's sake;
You can't trust that muddy byway;
Here's the road you ought to take.
Now you're in for it aplenty;
Don't be such a brainless sap.
Look at this; you want Route Twenty;
Can't you see it on the map?
Go to the left, and keep her steady,
Till the second bridge is crossed;
No. You've gone too far already.
Yes, by Gosh! You're lost."

It is comforting to travel
Through sequestered forest nooks,
Where smooth roads of rattling gravel
Cross a dozen winding brooks,
Down among the boulders flowing
Toward some quiet distant bay;
I may not know where I'm going,
But I know I'm on my way.
But the day is spoiled, no matter
Where my wandering course is bound,
By the chatter, chatter, chatter
Of the road-map hound.

MAY 2, 1919

Delegates were beginning to arrive for the annual conference of Southern California Baptist Young People's associations, which opened its three days' session in this city. Nearly 500 guests were expected. Dr. Silas Evans, president of Occidental college, was to be one of the principal speakers.

Major E. J. Marks wrote from Washington, D. C., that he hoped to receive his discharge within ten days and would leave immediately for home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Tarver had arrived from Little Rock, Ark., for a visit with relatives, including the family of their brother, Attorney B. E. Tarver. Louis L. T. Tarver was a member of the firm of Tarver, Steele and Company, cotton buyers.

Miss Blanche Collings was entertaining interesting guests in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Strawson, of Washington, D. C. Mr. Strawson was in charge of the Military Relief department, establishing and inspecting National Red Cross social service work in the various camps and hospitals of the United States. Mrs. Strawson was to remain in the Collings home while her husband made trips of inspection to Camp Kearny and to points in Arizona and Colorado.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

WHAT CAUSED OUR FARM SURPLUS?

Yesterday I tried to say how utterly unwise I think the recommendation of Budget Director Douglas is in the matter of withdrawing all federal aid for agricultural research from the experiment stations in land grant colleges and universities.

I called particular attention to the utterly fallacious suggestion that agricultural research has been an important factor in producing the present agricultural surplus which is harassing American farmers.

I said that this surplus is due directly to blind and blundering national policies respecting tariffs, trade relations with the rest of the world, land use, and the like.

Today let me list some facts that lend added color to the truth of my contention.

Prior to 1922, we were collecting an average ad valorem rate upon dutiable goods imported of 23 per cent.

Under the 1922 Tariff Act, we raised it to 38 per cent.

Seven years later we raised it to 53 per cent.

In ten years we raised the tariff rate, as reflected in the duty collected, from 23 to 53 per cent.

Let us see what happened to agricultural exports over these ten years.

Under the 23 per cent rate our agricultural exports stood at about $2,262,000,000.

Under the 38 per cent rate they stood at about $1,872,000,000.

Under the 53 per cent rate, in 1932 and 1933 they dropped to an average of $895,000,000.

Under the 23 per cent rate we sold 34 per cent of our wheat abroad at $1.33 per bushel.

Under the 38 per cent rate we sold 22 per cent of our wheat abroad at $1.37 per bushel.

Under the 53 per cent rate we sold only 15 per cent of our wheat abroad at 76 cents per bushel.

I do not say that other factors are not in the picture, but at least Mr. Douglas might think twice before he lays the sins of tariff makers on the backs of agricultural scientists.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

WHAT IS WRONG?

When a child does what his parents and teachers do not like they immediately ask, "What is wrong with him? Why doesn't he do what he ought to do?" Rarely do they stop to think that perhaps there is nothing wrong with the child. He has been asked to do something that is foreign to his nature and because he does not accomplish it gladly his behavior is pronounced wrong.

Suppose a child indicates that he would prefer to stay at home and read a book instead of joining a group who are playing tennis or baseball, or going to the movies. Is that child wrong? Maybe he is but the chances are that he is right for him. That is the only reliable standard for such conditions. When all has been said and done why are not the child's tastes and preferences to be considered as well as his elders?

There is nothing wrong about a child's preferring his own company and that of a book to other activities. Usually children like to play with other children. Few of them deliberately choose to enjoy themselves apart but those few ought to have that right without interference. The majority may be choosing the better way, but then too, so may the minority. I think that the fear of solitude for a healthy child who is doing well in school and holding his own in family interests is unjustified.

"I am afraid that he is going to be very unpopular. He has only one boy friend and often the two of them go to his room and stay there reading and talking by the hour. This happened when there is a ball game on, or when there is a school dance. What's wrong with boys like that?"

Nothing, most likely. Their tastes happen to be different from those of their companions but that does not mean that they are wrong. It is not going to hurt a child to be different provided he adjusts himself to the essentials of living. That means so long as he is healthy, happy and useful he can be allowed to go his way in peace although his way be that of the Cat Who Walked By Himself.

It is true that children who are failing in any field of effort are likely to retreat but those children will not be happy. They will not be at ease in their own company. Keeping friends with oneself is a most desirable state of mind and the child who can achieve it is fortunate. He has acquired independence of spirit and life has no finer quality to offer than just that.

The feverish activity that characterizes many of our young people has affected the viewpoint of their parents. Noise and rushing about, speed, breathlessness, telephone calls and dates without number and beyond reason are taken as signs of popularity. They are offered as indications of personal worth. The soner they are recognized for the sham they are, the better for the health of our community.

It is possible for boys and girls to prefer a quiet hour with a friend, a time for solitude and meditation, an hour with a favorite book, to the dates of their associates. But there is nothing wrong with them nevertheless. Their differences in this particular may be recorded to their credit.
